Flames Turn Girl Into Human Torch

By JOHN CHAMBERS

Flames turned a 13-year-old Loch Lomond girl into a human torch yesterday as she cooked Sunday breakfast for her parents.

Blonde Ann McDonald Lamler, enveloped in a mass of fire, ran screaming through her house at 35 Locksly Lane.

Her father, marine engineer Philip Lemler, 60, leaped from his bed and rolled the girl on the rug.

"She was just a bundle of flames," Lemler said. "I had to rip the clothes off her body."

Both the girl and her father were in San Rafael General Hospital today. Doctors said 30 per cent of the girl's body was covered with first, second and third degree burns. Her condition was listed as serious.

Lemler, with both hands swathed in bandages covering second and third degree burns, told this story last night:

"Ann must have gotten up about 8:15 a.m.—we don't usually go to church until 10 o'clock—and came into our bedroom telling us to stay in bed. She said 'I'll fix breakfast for you.'"

The girl pulled a flannel bed jacket over her pajamas and went into the kitchen. She whipped up a batch of scrambled eggs, set them on the table

KIDNAPER PUTS VICTIM ON YULE CARD LIST

Last Aug. 18, ex-convict William (Dugie) Williams entered the Bank of America in Point Reyes Station, pointed a sawed-off shotgun at teller Betty Adams, forced her to put $14,300 in a bag, then kidnaped bank manager Atlantic L. Cencio, later dumping him from the getaway car in Samuel P. Taylor State Park.

It's Official: Kennedy Is U.S. President

WASHINGTON (UPI)—John F. Kennedy today was elected president of the United States—officially. His election became official when he received a majority of the electoral votes cast by 537 presidential electors who met in 50 state capitals today.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Electoral College today was making official the election of Sen. John F. Kennedy to the presidency.

Illinois' 27 electoral votes were cast for Kennedy about noon. So ended, apparently, any lingering hopes by some Republicans that the big state might be switched to the Richard M. Nixon column.

The first reports showed all electors voting according to the popular vote in their state. Tennessee's Republican electors cast the state's 11 ballots for Nixon, ignoring a telegraphed plea from an Oklahoman to vote instead for Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) for president and Sen. Barry M. Goldwater (R-Ariz.) for vice president.

Chairman Roy A. Powell of the South Carolina electoral group said he had received some "crackpot correspondence" urging the state's eight electoral votes be withheld from Kennedy. But he told his colleagues "I hope you haven't been influenced." The South Carolina vote was cast for Kennedy.

After electors from seven of the 50 states had concluded their business, Kennedy had 43 electoral votes, Nixon 31.

By tonight, after the last of the 50 separate meetings of state electors in their respective capitals, there should be no doubt about the Democratic candidate's title.

Flames Sweep Giant Carrier, Trapping Shipyard Workers

At Least 32 Dead; Hundreds Injured

NEW YORK (UPI)—A huge fire exploded through the Navy's newest and largest aircraft carrier, the Constellation, at a Brooklyn Navy pier today, killing more than a score of shipyard workers, trapping many others below blistering decks and forcing some to leap for their lives in the icy East River.

At least 32 persons were killed and as many more were reported missing. Hundreds were injured.

Firemen, fighting dense smoke and a snowstorm that forced use of huge searchlights at midafternoon, boarded fireboats and cut holes in the side of the 275-million-dollar vessel in an effort to reach trapped men desperately tapping on the bulkheads for help as the fire raged overhead.

10-ALARM BLAZE

The 10-alarm blaze was the worst New York pierside disaster since the French luxury liner Nomandie overturned in 1942.

The Constellation, believed the largest movable mechanical object ever built, was in the last stages of construction. Some 3,000 workers were readying it for sea duty when the fire erupted at 10:30 a.m.

The Navy said a fork-lift punctured a tank of jet fuel on the hangar deck, spewing the fuel on the deck. The stream of fuel came in contact with hot metal, causing an explosion. The fuel was being used to flush out hydraulic lines aboard the ship.

PLUME OF SMOKE

The fire roared through the hangar deck measuring a fifth of a mile long, ripping through wooden scaffolding and exploding tanks of acetylene used for welding. A towering plume of smoke rose in the grey, snow-filled skies overhead.

Three hours after the fire started, it suddenly flared out with new force. Alarm after alarm brought every available piece of fire-fighting equipment to the scene, including fireboats and borrowed equipment from neighboring communities.

As tons of water were poured aboard the huge ship it began to list four degrees to the starboard side, nearest to the pier, creating a new peril for those trapped and firemen alike. Fire Commissioner Edward J. Cavanagh said he would order firemen off the ship if it listed one more degree.

SEACOCKS OPENED

The Navy then ordered the seacocks on the port side opened. Enough sea water rushed into the ballast tanks to settle the Constellaton on an even keel and prevent a repetition of the Normandie fire, when firemen battling the blaze poured so much water into the liner that the vessel capsized.

Cavanagh called every available doctor to the dockside scene, which was jammed with at least 40 fire trucks, 25 to 30 ambulances, and other emergency equipment.

Fire trucks extended aerial ladders up to the flight deck of the the flattop 60 feet above the water. On the other side of the ship, fireboats added their streams of water to those of the trucks pouring water from shore.

HOSPITAL MIXUP

Hub Couple Wins Race With Stork

The Alexander A. Rallis of 230 Brookside Drive, San Anselmo, had a healthy seven-pound, seven-ounce boy today after a stork race that involved two law enforcement agencies and two hospitals.

There was some dispute as to why the baby was not born at Marin General Hospital, where the parents were escorted in a hurry yesterday by Officer Alan Perry of San Anselmo police. The infant arrived several hours later at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco.

The race started at 10:45 a.m. when Ralli, an Alcoholic Beverage Control Department agent, telephoned San Anselmo police from his home to say his wife, Zoya, was expecting momentarily, and ask a police escort to the hospital.

Officer Perry obliged. His police car and Ralli's car screamed up to Marin General Hospital in Greenbrae. But moments later, Ralli and wife reappeared to report the hospital had refused to accept Mrs. Ralli because it had no room.

Officer Perry then escorted the Rallis to the Sir Francis Drake Boulevard-Highway 101 intersection and radioed the California Highway Patrol that they would be heading in a hurry for San Francisco—to beat the stork.

They arrived safely at Kaiser Foundation Hospital; and the stork, in less of a hurry than the Rallis, arrived also—at 3:49 p.m. Mother and son were doing well today, reported a Kaiser spokesman.

S. Ames Pence, Marin General Hospital administrator, said there was no record of the Rallis' appearance at the hospital, beds were available yesterday, and he did not understand why Mrs. Ralli was turned away—if she was.

U.S. Space Capsule Fired Successfully

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The United States successfully rocketed an unmanned model of its man-in-space capsule 130 miles high today and recovered it intact from the Atlantic 235 miles away.

The shot was an important prelude to launching an American astronaut on a similar flight planned within a few months.

The astronauts training to be first Americans in space all were on hand to see today's shot.

The successful launching capped three disappointing ones that set the program back.

The National Aernoutics and Space Administration announced 50 minutes after launching that a helicopter from the aircraft carrier Valley Forge took the one-ton capsule from the ocean at 11:46 a.m., 31 minutes after it was launched atop an 83-foot Redstone missile.

The bell-shaped capsule was sighted about 90 miles northeast of Grand Bahama Island shortly after it completed its 16-minute, 4,000 mile-an-hour flight. A fleet of ships, planes and helicopters sped immediately to the scene.

The capsule will be returned to Cape Canaveral for intensive study to determine how well it stood the trip.

A chimpanzee is scheduled to ride a Redstone-boosted capsule over an identical course within two months. If the chimpanzee's ride is perfect, an astronaut will take the same trip, probably in April or May. Manned orbital flights using a similar capsule will follow.

Official Says Crashed Jet Off Course

NEW YORK (AP)—A Civil Aeronautics Board official said today that the United Air Lines jet involved in Friday's airliner collision "should not have been over Staten Island."

Philip Goldstein, chief of the safety investigation division of the CAB, refused to say definitely that the jet from Chicago was "off course" at the time it collided with a Trans World Airlines plane, but added: "You can construe it as that."

The UAL plane in a "true radar vector from the Preston (N. J.) holding pattern," Goldstein said, "should not have been over Staten Island."

LAST ITEM ON AGENDA

Tam Board To Hear Book Issue Tonight

Supporters and opponents of Rev. Michael Barkowska's campaign to remove two books from Redwood High School's approved reading list are expected to crowd the Tamalpais Union High School District board meeting at 8 p.m. today in the administration building on the Redwood campus in Larkspur.

The issue of whether John Steinbeck's "Of Mice and Men" and J. D. Salinger's "The Catcher in the Rye" belong on the high school shelves probably will be the last item on the board agenda.

It will come before the board under "correspondence," which business. Rev. Barkowska's letter demanding that the two books be removed because they bring reproach upon the name of God" and a petition expressing opposition to use of the two books will be read. Seven ministers, in addition to Rev. Barkowska, have signed the petition, which bears 46 names in all.

The meeting will be held in the board auditorium as usual, but more chairs are being placed in the room and will be set up in the hall if a large crowd turns up to hear the controversial topic discussed.

The board has received requests for time to speak on the issue from Milen Dempster, chairman of the Marin chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union, and Rev. Gordon Foster of the Mill Valley Community Church, both in protest to Rev. Barowska's stand.

The Tamalpais board's book selection "policy and procedures" provides that all criticisms must be presented in writing and include the author, title, publisher, page number of each item to which objection is made, reasons for the objections and signature.

When this has been done, the material in question is reviewed by a board of five persons, some of whom are teachers and other residents of the district.

The board, after hearing Rev. Barkowska and others speak on the subject, may turn the matter over to this review board. The district superintendent selects the review board, subject to approval of the trustees. The review board reports to the superintendent after completing its work.

Rev. Barkowska, pastor of Larkspur's Calvary Baptist Church, has said he is "opposed to any books using God's

FORECAST SAYS NO RAIN DUE NEXT FIVE DAYS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The five-day weather forecast indicates clear skies for most of California through Saturday.

It mentioned a possibility of rain in the extreme north late in the week, with snow in the high mountains, but said rain was unlikely in the rest of the state.

Temperatures should be near or above normal.

Top Congress Demos Huddle With Kennedy

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy met with the Democratic high command from Congress today for strategy talks on the new administration's legislative program.

With his 10-member Cabinet now selected, Kennedy arranged to spend more time on the new frontiers blueprint for laws and the budget plans he will send to 87th Congress shortly after his inauguration Jan. 20.

For discussion of the program Kennedy called to his ocean-front home Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the vice president-elect; House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas; and Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, slated to succeed Johnson as Senate majority leader in the Democratic-ruled Congress.

Planners Hear First Arguments On Big County Rezoning Proposal

A dozen Marin County property owners, mostly from the Nicasio area, backed the proposal to rezone all county areas now under interim zoning at its first hearing today before the Marin County Planning Commission.

But a strong two-page letter of opposition was put in by attorney A. E. Bagshaw on behalf of the Smith Brothers, owners of several ranches in north and central Marin. Whereas the "pro" letters mainly expressed approval of one-acre lot sizes, Bagshaw had several specific criticisms.

Dr. William Upton pointed out that there would be no action today. The matter was set as the first 9 a.m. item of the Jan. 23 agenda.

Bagshaw's letter said most of the rural areas proposed for A-1 "rural residential district" rezoning won't be subdivided for many years, "some probably never," but "these areas would have to comply with this minimum one-acre lot size forever hereafter."

In his experience, Bagshaw went on, once such a minimum has been established, even under the guise of a holding zone, "a precedent has been established and it will be an uphill fight to obtain any modification of that minimum lot size."

Bagshaw cited some property scheduled at Gallinas for light industrial zoning and said the demand for this has been so small that it is doubtful the land will ever be so developed.

"It is my clients' preference," said Bagshaw, "that their lands remain in their present interim zoning until such time as trends clearly indicate their highest and best use . . . at which time precise zoning can be obtained."

It was pointed out that Smith Brothers now have a private airport on their Santa Venetia ranch and they especially object to a provision against use of A-1 property for airports, clubs and other recreational uses without a use permit since "practically every ranch in Marin County is used by hunting clubs of which the owners are members."

Endorsers of the proposed zoning included George F. Rogers, Nicasio dairy ranch owner of more than 1,000 acres.

Delay was asked by Carl Brown of Associated Home Builders of Marin, supported by Hugh Marchant of the Marin County Real Estate Board, asking time for study and discussion with the planning staff.

Witnesses Of N.Y. Disaster Quizzed

NEW YORK (AP)—Two teams of federal investigators started intensive questioning today of at least 10 persons who claim they actually saw Friday's airliner collision—worst in aviation history.

Other investigators checked the possibility that the United Air Lines DC-8 jet involved had overshot the point at which it was to begin flying a rectangular "holding pattern" prior to its intended landing at Idlewild Airport.

As the Civil Aeronautics Board pressed its inquiry, the exact total of dead still could not be determined.

PLANE VICTIMS

All 128 persons on the jet and on the plane that collided with it, a Trans World Airlines Super Constellation, were killed. Five other persons were known to have perished on the ground in Brooklyn, where the jet plane crashed and at least two more were missing and probably dead.

The total of 135 had fluctuated because police were unable to learn the whereabouts of all those believed to be tenants of the buildings smashed and burned by the jet plane. In at least one case, a man thought missing in the crash turned out to have recently moved from the address without his neighbor's knowledge.

FLIGHT RECORDER

While the inquiry moved ahead in New York, a flight recorder recovered from the jet in Brooklyn was on its way to its manufacturer in California. There it will be given a detailed analysis under CAB supervision.

CAB agents were skeptical when residents of Staten Island and Brooklyn first reported that they had seen the planes collide Friday morning.

Weather experts had testified that the ceiling at the time was no more than 600 feet, and ground visibility was about a mile. Both airplanes were supposed to have been flying at 5,000 feet.

RIFT IN CLOUDS?

But there was the possibility of a rift in the clouds in the area of the collision.

CAB inspectors are looking into the possibility that the jet, inbound from Chicago, never entered the racetrack-shaped holding pattern it had been instructed to follow.

The jet and the Constellation were both flying on instruments, and both were supposed to circle in their respective holding patterns until it was their turn to land—the jet at Idlewild, the TWA plane at La Guardia. The patterns were spaced miles apart.

Failure of the jet to turn into its holding pattern, however, would have brought it on a straight line into the Staten Island area where investigators believe the collision occurred. The Constellation's pattern was partly over Staten Island.

Officials Fear Higher Toll In Munich Crash

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Police today feared an increase in the death toll of the air disaster that plunged this Bavarian capital into mourning over the weekend.

Forty-nine persons were known to have been killed after a U. S. Air Force transport plunged into a downtown street Saturday, exploded in flames and turned a crowded street car into a blazing mass of twisted wreckage.

IDENTIFICATION HARD

Forty-eight charred bodies were recovered from the wreckage and another victim died in a hospital. The condition of the bodies made identification difficult. Police appealed to all Munich families to report if any relatives had failed to return home.

It was learned yesterday that a U. S. Army private, previously not listed among the dead, was hitchhiking a ride to London aboard the plane and was killed in the crash. He was Pfc. Elvin I. Sherman, 20, of Linden, N. J.

All 20 Americans aboard the plane were killed.

COLLEGE STUDENTS

Twelve were students at the University of Maryland's Union College here, children of U. S. military personnel. They were bound for a holiday reunion with their parents in Britain.

The tragic task of identifying the German dead was left to friends and relatives.

President Eisenhower sent a message of condolence to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. Adenauer replied with an expression of condolence to the families of the American dead.

Munich's Lord Mayor Hans Jochen Vogel ordered the city into mourning until Christmas. Theaters were asked to cancel performances. No public dancing will be permitted.

Motorboat Owners To Need Numbers

Motorboat owners must have regulation identification numbers on their boats, Adm. Alfred C. Richmond of Washington, D.C., Coast Guard Commandant, warned today.

Identification numbers must be at least three inches high and made in block characters. They must be in a color that contrasts with the background color, the admiral said.

The number must be placed on each side of the forward half of the boat as near the stem as practicable so that it can be seen readily.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

ROK Defectors Caught

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI)—Thirty-six would-be Korean defectors, who failed in a dash for Communist China were returned today to the southwestern port of Mokpo where they began their abortive flight.

They were turned over to ROK navy authorities late last night by Japanese patrol boats in a transfer at sea. Also returned were crew members of a ROK fishing vessel they had hijacked at gunpoint.

Authorities said the would-be defectors, led by a junior high school teacher, would be investigated and punished.

Old Engines Back

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP)—British Railways suddenly withdrew their slick six-weeks old electric trains from Glasgow's suburban line yesterday and announced the old steam engines which have been running for generations would be put back in service.

The railways said 44.8 million dollars worth of electric equipment is going back to the manufacturers "to remedy certain defects."

Train Blows Up

BENTON, Ark. (AP)—Work crews today began clearing the debris from a train derailment which erupted into flames after an explosion Saturday at nearby Traskwood.

The town's 200 residents, grateful the blast had caused only one serious injury, turned to repairing shattered homes. Sixteen other persons suffered minor injuries. Cause of the explosion is still unknown.

Compacts Costing

ALBANY (UPI)—The increasing popularity of compact cars among New York motorists is decreasing the state revenue by three million dollars a year, the State Tax Commission estimates.

The commission said the losses came from smaller returns from motor fuel taxes and a drop in revenue from registration fees.

East Shivering

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Temperatures dropped sharply across the snow-covered sections of the east and northern Midwest today. It was near zero in some mountain areas in New England and Pennsylvania.

New Berlin Threat

BERLIN (AP)—East Germany's Communist regime today issued a new ultimatum threatening Allied and German travel to isolated West Berlin.

An editorial in Neues Deutschland, the official Communist Party newspaper, declared that unless a new trade pact is signed this month between West and East Germany, all agreements on traffic to Berlin will become invalid on Jan. 1.

Ex-Pilot Caught

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Police early today arrested a former Air Force pilot who took part in the World War II atomic bomb raids on Japan and held him for return to a Veterans Administration hospital.

The former pilot is Claude R. Eatherly, 41, of Van Alstyne, Tex. He disappeared Nov. 22 from the V. A. hosiptal at Waco, Tex. where he was a mental patient. Eatherly piloted one of the B-29 bombers which flew reconnaissance for the planes dropping A-bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki in Japan.

Engine Plays Yo-Yo

PLACERVILLE (AP)—The Camino, Placerville and Lake Tahoe's Railroad's three-car train was hauling woodchips down a grade when the brakes let loose. Eugineer Jack Williams and switchman Curtis Pierce shoved it in reverse and jumped off when it hit 50 miles an hour.

The cars broke loose and derailed. The engine kept going. It stopped finally and started back into its own wrecked cars. But Williams and Pierce clambered back aboard to stop ti. Both were shaken up.

Boy Electrocuted

SARATOGA (AP)—Gary Long Jr., 14, of San Jose was electrocuted yesterday while flying a model plane. The control line of a gasoline-driven airplane he was piloting came into contact with a 12,000-volt power line.

34 Die In Fires

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

A United Press International count showed at least 34 persons burned to death or fatally injured in fires since Saturday night. At least eight of the victims were children.

Florida and Texas each recorded six fire deaths. Four persons died in Kentucky, three in Missouri, two each in Illinois, Nebraska, Minnesota, Michigan, Maine and Georgia, and one each in California, New Hampshire and Oklahoma.

High Toll Feared

CHICAGO (AP)—As many as 510 deaths may result from traffic accident during the 78-hour Christmas weekend unless motorists and pedestrians exercise extra caution, the National Safety Council estimated today.

The death toll could be reduced substantially, the council said, if special care is taken to observe rules of safe driving and safe walking. "Speeding and alcohol remain the chief accomplices in traffic deaths," said Howard Pyle, council president.

Tax Exemption Plan

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Assemblyman Frank Luckel (R-San Diego) plans to introduce in the 1961 legislature a bill to exempt state cigarette tax from state and federal income taxes.

Luckel yesterday said many states have passed such legislation. He said Californians now are required to pay a tax on tax in connection with cigarettes.

Did Machine Help Kennedy In Campaign?

NEW YORK (UPI)—A secretly designed robot campaign strategist nicknamed a "people machine" was said today to have been put to work by President-elect John F. Kennedy's top advisers to suggest alternative methods of influencing the voters.

The people machine, an electronic model of the electorate's thinking processes, digested a mass of mathematical data fed into an IBM 704 computer and poured forth advice on how to handle the religious, foreign policy and other issues.

Thomas B. Morgan, hired by the developers of the people machine as an editorial consultant, said in the January Harper's magazine that Kennedy's brother Robert, his campaign manager, put the people machine to work on Aug. 11. The machine's reports on suggested alternative campaign tactics were produced in 14 days at a cost of $18,000.

THE VOTE THAT COUNTS

Presidential Electors Cast Ballots Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 537 persons who compose the Electoral College met in the 50 states today to cast the presidential vote that really counts.

There is no doubt that the electors will name Democrat John F. Kennedy. But the size of his margin still is uncertain.

An 11th hour partial recount switched Hawaii from the column of Republican Richard M. Nixon to the column of Kennedy by 55 votes. A circuit judge has indicated he now will order a recount of all the state's precincts.

Counting Hawaii's three votes for Kennedy and barring unforseen defections of some electors—who are only morally bound to support the winner of the popular vote in their states—the count at the end of the day should be:

Kennedy 303.

Nixon 220.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) 14.

Byrd was not a candidate, but he now is the choice of six of Alabama's 11 Democratic electors and all of Mississippi's 8. The 14 ran unpledged on Nov. 8.

Kennedy won the popular vote in the closest presidential race in 76 years. He carried 23 states for a total national margin of about 113,000 votes. Nixon won 26 states. Unpledged electors carried Mississippi.

But Kennedy's electoral margin was a comfortable 34 more than needed of the votes that decide an election. Winner of a state's popular vote, even if the margin is a single vote, gets that state's entire electoral vote. There are exceptions. In Alabama, for example, the Democratic Party did not put up a full slate of electors pledged to Kennedy this year. Instead, the Democratic slate of 11 electors had six unpledged and five pledged to Kennedy.

Because of the closeness of the 1960 election and threats of some electors to ignore the popular mandate, various reform measures will be offered in the new Congress meeting Jan. 3. Efforts to abolish the Electoral College system have failed in the past.

The 537 electors met in their state capitals at various times during the day, ranging from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

California's 32 electors, including Mary Ellen Irwin of San Rafael, who represents the First Congressional District, met in Sacramento this morning for preliminary discussions, were guests at an official luncheon and then were meeting at 2 p.m. to cast their 32 electoral votes for Nixon.

Selassie Forces Hunt Down Remaining Ethiopia Rebels

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie's loyal army today hunted rebel imperial guards who fled to the mountains after an abortive attempt to dethrone the 68-year-old monarch.

Army patrols marched through the streets of Addis Ababa and air force patrol planes droned overhead but the city otherwise was quiet, concerned mainly with burying its dead and tending its wounds. Officials estimated civilian and army casualties at 2,000.

A communique claimed the revolt, which broke out Wednesday while the emperor was visiting Brazil, was "quickly crushed by the Ethiopian army and people."

Haile Selassie flew to Addis Ababa airport Saturday, then drove in a tank to Jubilee Palace. His primary residence, Guentalul Palace, had been a rebel stronghold.

The government claimed it also was the scene of a rebel massacre. The rebels killed 18 government dignitaries and hostages and wounded 32 others before pulling out, the government said.

Heile Selassie's son, Crown Prince Asfa Wosen, 44, was exonerated from any part in the rebellion. The rebels forced the crown prince and other government leaders to make statements against Haile Selassie, the communique said.

The emperor's bodyguard, 5,000 picked soldiers who formed the nucleous of the rebellion, were tricked by "treacherous leaders of the revolt" into thinking they were fighting for their ruler, the communique said.

Many rebel leaders were killed, the government said. Those being hunted reportedly included the imperial guard commander, the commissioner of police and the security chief.

DEVOTED DAUGHTER DETACHED FROM MOTHER IN ZOO PLOT

NEW YORK (UPI)—Phanny's devotion to her mother could only be measured in terms of Phanny herself.

Phanny weighs 400 pounds.

So much did this little tyke love mama that she refused to leave her side for a single waking moment. This sort of attachment is unusual, even for hippopotami. But sentiment aside, the keepers at the Bronx Zoo decided that Phanny and Mamma Phoebe definitely had to be broken up because Phoebe was expecting again.

One doesn't, however, simply ask a one-year hippo to leave its mother. One must be subtle.

For weeks zoo keepers looked for a chance to "persuade" the hefty darling it was time to cut her apron strings. No avail. Finally, last week Phanny made a mistake. She remained asleep in the pool after Mama waded out.

Associate curator Joseph Davies and several husky assistants quietly slipped up and closed the door between the two. Phanny, irate, tried to charge the curator. She was forced into a crate by streams of water from a hose and removed to another cage.

Laos Premier Picks Up Reins; U. S. Airlift Supplying Battered Capital

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Pro-Western Premier Boun Oum struggled today to put this battered capital on its feet with the help of an American airlift flying in critically needed food and medicine.

The government announced the roundup of more than 100 snipers and looters as it tackled the critical economic and political crisis that gripped the little Indo-Chinese kingdom.

An American airlift to send rice, milk, medical and building supplies from neighboring Thailand was set up over the weekend after pro-Communist troops were driven out of the city in a four-day battle that left at least 150 men, women and children dead and more than 500 wounded.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the airlift would continue as long as needed.

Boun moved into the Foreign Ministry building yesterday and announced his government was in business in the rubble-strewn city.

But four months of palace maneuvering and civil war has failed to resolve the Buddhist touched off by a leftist coup kingdom's political tangle touched off by a leftist coup led by paratroop Capt. Kong Le on Aug. 9.

The rebels' military threat to Vientiane remained, with danger of a new flareup in fighting. Rightist government forces led by Gen. Phoumi Nosavan were reported to have pushed seven miles north of the capital's airport. Kong Le's forces, retreating with much of their Soviet-supplied arms, were believed still only about 15 miles from the heart of the capital.

Threatened Family Leaves New Orleans

NORTH PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — James O. Gabrielle, who said he and his family were forced to leave New Orleans, La., over the school integration question, set out today to begin a new life in Rhode Island.

Gabrielle said he will follow up a number of job offers and will seek a home for his family, which includes his wife and six children.

Gabrielle said the taunts and threats his family received because they defied the white boycott of the recently integrated William Frantz School forced them to leave New Orleans.

Gabrielle and his wife had sent their daughter, Yolanda, 6, to the school where one Negro girl has been admitted under federal court order.

The Gabrielle family had refused to go along with other white families who kept their children out of school because of the presence of the Negro girl.

Forced to give up his $230 a month job as city water meter reader, Gabrielle left New Orleans Thursday night by car with Maria, 14; James Jr., 10, and Mark, 9.

Gabrielle said they left in two sections "so if they got us they'd only get half of us." He did not elaborate.

For the time being, the Gabrielle family will live in the north providence home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gabriele.

Gabrielle related how his home was stoned, how he lost his job when his fellow workers charged he was "polluting the white race by sending his daughter to an integrated school" and of threats the family received.

"They have got to accept integration," Gabrielle told reporters. "We left because I think we made too many enemies. I was reluctant at first to defy the white boycott because of the safety of my wife who is an independent woman. She believes in her convictions."

France, Israel Reveal Joint Atom Research

LONDON (AP) — The Israeli embassies in London and Paris confirmed today that France and Israel are engaged in joint atomic research but said it "is concerned only with the use of atomic power for peaceful purposes."

Both Israel's ambassador to Britain, Arthur Lourie, and the Israeli Embassy in Washington denied reports published in Washington and London that Israel is trying to build an atomic bomb. The reports said the French were helping secretly.

Information was said to have reached U.S. intelligence agencies that Israel would be capable of exploding its first nuclear device within a year. The Washington Post said Israel had developed a nuclear reactor secretly and might produce a nuclear weapon in about five years.

A New York Times dispatch from Washington said recent intelligence information in the U.S. capital was that Israel was secretly building a "fairly large atomic reactor near Beersheba."

France was said to be offering Israel technical advice on how to build a cut-price nuclear reactor.

Money Becomes Prime Issue In Integration

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)— Money was a prime issue in the school integration struggle today as both the New Orleans School Board and the Louisiana Legislature sought ways out of a tangled financial crisis.

The money-beset school board considered accepting a surprise offer of $500,000 from Miss Ellen Steinberg, a St. Louis heiress. The offer was made in New York over the weekend.

In Baton Rouge, lawmakers scheduled a committee hearing on a one-cent sales tax that could net an estimated 45 million dollars. Administration leaders said the money would pay the way for white students who wanted to go to private schools.

Another bill introduced yesterday would tax advertising in newspapers. Newspaper editorials have criticized certain aspects of the lawmakers' segregation fight.

Reicke said the board would weigh the offer seriously.

The legislature has frozen school funds and warned banks they would honor school board checks at ther own risk. The board needs three to four million dollars to pay salaries and bills through June 1961.

A three-judge federal court is expected to rule soon on the board's request for a court order to force four New Orleans banks to release school money.

The federal tribunal also has under advisement a request for an injunction banning a new state law that would empower Gov. Jimmie H. Davis to appoint a new school board.

Integration at two New Orleans elementary schools entered its fifth week today. Eight white children and a lone Negro girl went quietly to classes in William Frantz School, and three Negro girls attended McDonough 19 School.

The pastor's bishop, Aubrey G. Walton, visited the church yesterday to affirm his endorsement of Rev. Foreman's leaving his 5-year-old daughter in the William Frantz School despite segregationists' threats against the pastor's life.

SENATOR TELLS LEGISLATIVE AIMS

McCarthy Plans Bills To Dump Drug Tax, Regulate Billboards

By CHAPIN A. DAY

A series of bills varying from tax relief for senior citizens to the restoration of cross filing, and from billboard regulation to elimination of sales tax on medicines and drugs, will be introduced at the January legislature session by Marin Sen. John F. McCarthy.

In reviewing his anticipated legislative program, McCarthy said he is preparing these bills:

1. SENIOR CITIZENS: Defer all property taxes on the residence of a man 65 years of age or a widow 60 or older, if the residence is not assessed at more than $5,000. Upon sale or inheritance of the residence, the new owner would have to pay all deferred taxes plus 6 per cent interest.

2. SCHOOL BONDS: Reduce from 66⅔ to 60 per cent the majority needed to pass school bonds and "perhaps other necessary bonds."

3. WRITE-IN VOTES: A series of bills would clarify and simplify the matter of write-in votes for both the voters and for the election boards.

4. STATE BOARDS: At least one member of the general public—not a member of the particular profession involved, would be appointed to all state boards and commission which have regulatory powers over professions and organizations.

5. STATE SCHOOLS CHIEF: Make the State Board of Education elective and the state superintendent of instruction appointive. At present they are the other way around.

6. BILLBOARDS: McCarthy's billboard regulation proposed next year will be considerably different from that of two years ago. He proposes a clear definition of a "scenic road" and then leaves the designation of which roads in the county are "scenic" and thus barred to billboards, in the hands of the local governmental jurisdictions. It also would be up to local governmen tto enforce the bans.

7. CONSTITUTION REVISION: Establish a state constitution commission to make a three-year study of the constitution (McCarthy would give them $150,000 to $300,000), and instruct them to report back what should be done about improving the state's voluminous basic law. The 15-man commission would be appointed five men by the governor, five by the Senate Rules Committee and five by the Assembly Rules Committee.

8. DRUGS SALES TAX: Eliminate sales taxes on all prescription medicines and drugs.

9. GOLDEN GATE AUTHORITY: Carry out recommendations of the Golden Gate Authority Commission, which will report to the legislature shortly after it convenes Jan. 2. McCarthy expects the commission will call for consolidation of all bridges and authority to negotiate for consolidation of airports and seaports.

10. MARIN-SAN FRANCISCO BRIDGE: Request the state to "bring up to date" the studies of a second crossing between Marin and San Francisco Counties.

11. BRIDGE DIRECTORS: Limit directors of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District to actual expenses, doing away with fees they receive for attending meetings and with free crossing of the bridge when they are not on bridge business.

12. TAXES ON TRADE-INS: Give taxpayers relief on what McCarthy calls "double sales taxation" in the purchase of automobiles, TV sets and other merchandise on which a trade-in is allowed. He points out the sales tax is charged on the full price of the new item, although part of this price is paid with a trade-in on which the sales tax already has been paid. Saving to taxpayers could be as much as 22 million dollars per year, but he proposes to give only 50 per cent relief in his original bill.

14. MARIN SALARY INCREASES: McCarthy will support recommendations of the Marin County Grand Jury that the district attorney's salary be increased from $13,740 to $15,500 annually, and the county auditor increased 5 per cent from his present $10,500.

15. ELECTION CONSOLIDATION: Reintroduce consolidation of election legislation like that in the 1957 session which was pocket-vetoed by Gov. Goodwin Knight.

16. NEW CITIES: Extend time of election for the city council of a new city so that it would not be necessary to hold two elections in one year, the way Novato had to do on its incorporation.

17. RAPID TRANSIT: A constitutional amendment which would allow counties to use up to 25 per cent of state gas tax funds they get for county roads for rapid transit, if the supervisors think this would better serve the interests of their people.

18. CROSS FILING: Restore cross filing of candidates on the ballot providing the candidate clearly lists his party designation.

The Motorama will show the Firebird III gas turbine car, 94 new G.M. cars and trucks, Frigidaire appliances—and a Broadway musical.

State To Let Smog Device Test Contract

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The State Motor Vehicle Pollution Control Board will meet in Fresno tomorrow to award a contract for testing smog suppressors for installation in cars and trucks.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown said in a weekend press statement the board is aiming to have smog-control devices on all new vehicles by 1962.

The contract for testing will go to the Los Angeles Air Pollution Control District laboratory. Tests will begin next month.

At the same time, the board is expected to take final action on procedures for submission of devices to the state for testing.

Rash Of Corte Madera Accidents Hurts Six

Six persons were injured in five accidents on rain-soaked Corte Madera streets Friday and Saturday.

One of the drivers, John Lipay, 38, of 45 Willow Avenue, Fairfax, was charged by Corte Madera police with drunk driving and being drunk in a public place. He was reported in good condition today at San Rafael General Hospital, with possible internal injuries. He was treated at Marin General Hospital immediately after the accident for cuts and bruises.

When officers talked to him at the hospital and jail, Lipay didn't know he had been in an accident, they said.

Billie Ann Gray, 23, of 777 Meadowsweet Drive, Corte Madera, complained of pain after her car and one driven by Richard A. Peavey, 24, of 200 Redwood Highway, Corte Madera, collided on Tamalpais Drive near Madera Boulevard Saturday night.

The woman said she would see her own doctor. Peavey was treated at Marin General Hospital. No report on his injuries was available.

DeCook's car and one driven by William H. Schwartz, 49, of 325 Summit Drive, Corte Madera, collided, police said.

Schwartz said he was going around a sharp curve; his vision was obscured by parked cars and he didn't see DeCook's small foreign car until he was "on top of it." DeCook said he didn't see the other car.

Injured in a two-car collision Friday night at Corte Madera and Redwood Avenues was Philipda Gladys Denning-Kemp, 32, of 59 Edison Avenue, Corte Madera. She was kept overnight at Marin General for treatment of a head injury.

Driver of the other car was Warren D. Nash, 46, of 56 Crescent Road, Corte Madera. Mrs. Ruby Nash, a passenger in her husband's car, was reported injured, according to police, but apparently did not go to the hospital.

Widows Of 2 Plane Victims Ask $800,000

Widows of two Marin County men lost in a plane over Alaska a year ago have filed suits totaling $800,000 against the Stanford Research Institute, outfitters of the plane.

The men were Phillip Gray, 29, of 407 Pine Street, Mill Valley, and Burras Smith, 63, of 834 Meadowsweet Drive, Corte Madera. Gray was pilot and Smith was flight engineer of the plane which was tranporting Stanford scientists on a research mission over the North Pole.

The widow of a third man, Carl Scott of San Francisco, co-pilot, is suing for $200,000. All three men were former employees of Commodore Aviation at Sausalito.

The plaintiffs in the "wrongful death" action, which charges the Institute with negligently" equipping the plane, are represented by attorney Vernon W. Humber of Kentfield.

Gray's wife, Madeline, is also filing in behalf of her two children, Scott and Mark. Mrs. Smith, now a resident of Seattle, Wash., is filing in part for her daughter, Joyce Stevens of Fairbanks, Alaska.

The plane, a PBY amphibian leased from the California Aircraft Engine Co., was on a "top secret radar research mission," according to the suit which was filed Friday in San Francisco Superior Court. It disappeared in a storm over Annette Island, Alaska, on Dec. 17, 1959.

FIRE

Into the kitchen strolled the Lemler's pet, an eight-month-old gray and white cat named Poindexter. He wanted to be fed.

Apparently her puff-sleeved bed jacket grazed one of the hot electric burners and started to smolder. As the unsuspecting girl walked around the kitchen and spooned the cat food into the pet's dish, the jacket burst into flames.

"I don't know how it happened," she sobbed later.

Screaming, she raced down the long hall toward her parents' bedroom.

"I looked up and she was running towards me enveloped in flames," the distraught father recalled.

Rolling her on the carpet and ripping off fragments of clothing at the same time, he managed to extinguish the fire.

United Ambulance, responding to the mother's telephone call, arrived at 8:40 a.m. and took them to the hospital.

Seven Marinites File For School Election

As of today, seven candidates have filed for election to school boards in Marin County next April 18. Of the seven, three are incumbents.

They are, in the order of filing:

Dr. John C. Siemens, 10 Turnagain Road, Kentfield, challenger for one of four vacant posts on the Tamalpais High School District Board.

George E. McKenna, 505 Los Cerros Drive, San Rafael, incumbent member of the Kentfield School District board, in which three seats are up for election.

Alyce Farkas, 341 Karen Way, Belvedere, incumbent on the Reed School District board, where three posts will be open.

Gus Kovats, Point Reyes Station, incumbent on the West Marin board, where three seats will be open.

Suzanne G. Baty, Point Reyes Station, challenger for a West Marin District board seat.

Terms of 75 of the 126 members of Marin County's 28 school boards expire at the same time on June 30. In all but three of the districts, a majority of the trustees' terms expire. The three exceptions are the Marin Junior College, Novato Unified and San Rafael School Districts.

Candidates have until March 17, 1961, to file for candidacy at office of the county superintendent of schools at 317 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Luxury Home Not Dreier's, Father Says

"A lot of hooey!" was the reaction today of A. S. Dreier of 126 Harvard Drive, Larkspur, to a report in a San Francisco paper that a $130,000 Japanese style home being built in San Rafael is for his son, Alex Dreier of American Broadcasting Co. radio and television.

The home, under construction at 25 Westwood Avenue, has been the object of speculation as to who the owner would be. The builders would only say it was for a "person of importance" who preferred to remain anonymous.

Dreier, 44, is the newscaster who recently quit the National Broadcasting Co. and replaced John Daly on ABC. In addition to his parents in Larkspur, Dreier has a brother, James, of 45 Berens Drive in Kentfield.

"I don't know where they got that story that Alex was going to move into the house," his father told the Independent-Journal today. "There isn't enough money out here for him." Dreier's newscasts originate in Chicago and are taped for local viewing.

Convict Found Dead In Cell

The prison doctor attributed the death of Antonio Huerta, 32, to natural causes, but an autopsy was scheduled. He was serving a term of two to 20 years for possession of narcotics and violation of parole.

Huerta was found dead by his cellmate in the prison's north block at 2:30 p.m. Prison officials said the inmate had just passed a medical examination for assignment to a conservation camp but had not yet been assigned to one.

Huerta was convicted of forgery and selling and possessing narcotics in Los Angeles County in 1954.

He was paroled twice, in 1958 and 1959, but both times was returned to the prison for violation of parole. He was returned for possession of narcotics and parole violation last January.

name in vain . . . It is encouraging irreverence." He has demanded the "any other books that follow the same line of thought" as well as the Steinbeck and Salinger books.

Since he called for removal of the books, the Independent-Journal has received a number of letters opposing his stand. Today the first letter in his support was received, from Elizabeth Payne of San Rafael.

Before it be gets to the book issue, the board has a number of other items on the agenda. The Parent-Teacher Assn. of the districts three high schools are scheduled to present a program on their work. Other items include reports on completion of the sewer and drainage lines in the vicinity of the Lucky Drive crossing, an easement to Pacific Gas and Electric Co., report on the status of the Doherty Drive extension, which has been delayed and a number of personnel matters.

Belvedere Planners Will Meet Tonight

The Belvedere Planning Commission will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the Belvedere Community Hall, but according to Chairman George Goddard, there is nothing on the agenda.

The commission will review the action so far on the council's condemnation of Beach Road property, Goddard said.

28th Air Divison Gets New Vice Commander

Col. Richard A. Legg has been appointed vice commander of the 28th Air Division-SAGE at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Legg will take the place of Col. Brian (Shanty) O'Neill, who has been named special assistant to the division commander, Maj. Gen. John D. Stevenson.

O'Neill has been at Hamilton since July, first as deputy chief of operations of the old Western Air Defense Force, later as vice commander of WADF, now the 28th Air Division-SAGE.

He also was a group commander of the 78th Fighter Wing at Hamilton, and later wing commander, in 1948.

O'Neill was in the Pacific during World War II and served in Europe after the war. He has been awarded the Distinguished Service Cross, Legion of Merit and Air Medal.

Legg has been inspector general for the division since June. His headquarters were at Hamilton, but his duties covered bases throughout the division.

He served in the Pacific in World War II and moved to the Pentagon in 1943 as chief of aircraft development and engineering, working on development of the first Air Force jets. He later served in the Mediterrannean to bring his combat mission total to 100.

He was commander of the first jet fighters in Europe with the 36th Fighter-Bomber Wing. His decorations include the Distinguished Flying Cross with oak leaf cluster, Air Medal with two oak leaf clusters and Croix de Guerre with palm.

Lt. Col. Thomas M. Kirk will be acting inspector general in Legg's place.

Planner Secretary Rips Mrs. Summers

A stinging criticism of Marin County Planning Director Mary Summers as menacing "a remarkable 20-million-dollar apartment development" was expressed today by George R. Scott, secretary of the county planning commission, in a letter handed to Commission Chairman William S. Upton.

The letter referred to an informal discussion with individual supervisors after adjournment of a Dec. 6 meeting, as to the propriety of Mrs. Summer's scheduled appearance on a radio station KTIM panel discussion of plans for tower apartments at Harbor Point last Thursday.

"I believe," wrote Scott, "she has been unwise and improper to accept an invitation to debate an issue under consideration by her superiors, the board of supervisors.

"Her activities could defeat a remarkable 20-million-dollar cooperative apartment development which would aid Marin County by bringing in work, money, taxes and fine residential dwellings into our area. We should promote and support a project of this quality.

"Unfortunately the unfavorable publicity aroused by this incident overlooks the project itself and the activities of a public employee that poses a moral question."

Scott raised the issue when the commission convened at 9 a.m., before the agenda was taken up and before arrival of Commissioners John S. Switzer and Worth Fenner. He said he had been under "quite a bit of pressure" to comment but had refused to do so until the commission met.

Before reading the letter Dr. Upton remarked that Mrs. Summers is "an unclassified employee who is able to do these things on her own."

He then read both Scott's letter and a copy of the letter to Mrs. Summers from Ralph T. Walters as president of Walters-Flood, Inc., promoters of the "tower apartment" project, in which Walters served notice that his firm would ask Mrs. Summers' resignation if she appeared on the radio panel. Mrs. Summers didn't appear.

"How does the commission feel?" Upton inquired.

"I don't know that any particular action should be taken," replied Commissioner Felix M. Warburg. "But the purpose of the debate originally was to discuss tower apartments, period, not these particular ones.

"It became obvious due to the nature of those picked to discuss that it would get around to this project. But if it had been only a matter of theory it would have been proper that the planning director should appear.

"I feel that Mrs. Summers followed the same reasoning in her withdrawal, and also that she felt this letter was in the nature of a threat."

Commissioner Niels Schultz Jr. observed that "the timing was important — those behind the project felt that the prosecutors and the judges were sitting down together and they may have felt that the delay in decision was timed with this in view."

Said Upton: "This was purely a matter for Mrs. Summers to decide, the same as any department head. She should be able to act in such things on her own volition, though perhaps this was ill-timed."

Injured In Auto

Mrs. A. Girese, 63, of San Francisco was in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital after suffering a dislocated elbow when a car in which she was riding last night struck a power pole on leaving the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito. Mrs. Girese was a passenger in the car of Carl A. Bolsdorff, also of San Francisco.

Court Upholds Immunity For Drug Witness

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled today that a federal grand jury can promise a witness immunity from state as well as federal prosecution in order to get needed information about narcotics violations.

A provision in the 1956 Narcotic Control Act permits the Justice Department to get a court order requiring such testimony if it is thought necessary in the public interest. In return, the witness gets a guarantee that what he says will not be used against him.

The argument in today's case focused on whether the guarantee applies to state as well as federal courts.

The 7 to 2 decision held that it does and that the law is constitutional.

Thus the witness has no need for invoking his constitutional privileges against self-incrimination.

In other action today, the court:

1. Refused to hear an appeal by three women who were rebuffed in a legal fight to win admission to all-male Texas A & M College.

2. Agreed to hear arguments and decide whether an inaccurate Federal Housing Administration appraisal gives a home buyer the right to sue the government. The case involves an Alexandria, Va., home owner who won an $8,000 settlement in a lower court against the government. The Justice Department appealed the decision.

3. Declined to hear arguments on a complaint by the Westinghouse Broadcasting Co. that the National Broadcasting Co's. plan to acquire a Boston television station would violate a consent judgment against NBC.

Two Switch Plea To 'Guilty' In Pillowcase Burglaries

Ben H. Waddington and Lloyd F. Wendelbo, suspected of committing some 60 "pillowcase" burglaries which netted $100,000 in Marin County, changed their plea to guilty to seven of them in Marin County Superior Court today.

The pair, both ex-convicts from San Francisco, had pleaded innocent to seven counts of first degree burglary in November and a jury trial had been set for January.

On the change of pleas today, Asst. Dist. Atty. Bruce Bales asked that the pair's prior convictions be stricken from the indictment.

Judge N. Charles Brusatori will hear a probation report and pronounce sentence on Jan. 9 at 10 a.m.

He ordered them held without bail in the county jail. Both had been held in lieu of $10,500 each.

The two men were cornered by Ross Police Chief Joseph Regoni on Oct. 28 with a car full of loot. A series of burglaries in which thieves carted off their loot in pillow slips began last June.

Burning Of Marin City Buildings Resumed

The burning of Marin City wartime duplexes by the Marin County Fire Department, was resumed today after a layoff since Wednesday.

Nine buildings have been burned so far and there are 90 remaining to be eliminated.

NOT QUITE IDENTICAL TWINS

County Clerk George S. Jones added two more to his roll of registered voters when his twin granddaughters turned 21. Patricia (left) and Theresa Jones are identical twins, or so Jones thought until Friday. "Not quite," said Jones, after the ceremony. Patricia registered as a Democrat, and Theresa as a Republican. They are daughters of G. Paul Jones, manager of the Marin Mosquito Abatement District. (Independent-Journal photo)

Three Men Accused In Assault Cases

Three Marin City men were booked on charges of assault and battery after three separate disturbances during the weekend.

All three were placed under citizen's arrest by their wives or girl friends.

Abe Route Sr., 55-year-old gardener of Building A-25, Apartment 200, was jailed in lieu of $262.50 bail after Irene Tinsley, 60, of Building B-2, Apartment 550, charged him with beating her about the face and arms with a belt and buckle.

She told Deputy Sheriff Edward Mauberret that Route came to her house about 11 p.m. Friday and demanded money. When she refused, he beat her, she said.

Otis Clifford Myers, 29-year-old laborer of 37 Cole Drive, was released on $315 bail to be arraigned at 1:30 p.m. today. He was also charged with disturbing the peace.

His wife, Garnetta Myers, 25, called sheriff's deputies at 3:30 a.m. yesterday and reported her husband had beaten her and threatened to throw her out the window. She was treated at Marin General Hospital for bruises and scratches on her neck and head.

Oris Williams, 24-year-old laborer of 103 Drake Avenue, was released on $263.50 bail to be arraigned at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Mary Alice Denham, 29, who gave the same address, said Williams came to her home at 5 p.m. Saturday and demanded money he had loaned her. When they argued, she said, he tore her skin under her ribs, leaving two scars, dragged her upstairs and banged her head against a concrete wall.

She said he threatened to kill her and her two children.

Since 1947 salaries and wages in California manufacturing have almost quadrupled to an estimated current eight billion dollars.

Corte Madera Hearing On Zoning Set Today

The Corte Madera Town Council will hold a public hearing at 7:30 p.m. today on a proposed ordinance zoning the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right of way through the town as low density residential.

The zoning would become effective on the railroad's abandonment of the property. The planning commission approved the zoning last month.

The council also will hear a recommended resolution initiating proceedings and setting a public hearing on annexation of 2.74 acres of uninhabited property off Meadowsweet Drive and surrounded by the town. The county boundary commission has approved the proposed boundaries.

Also to be heard is a title claim by Alphonsine McDonald to a lane on the north side of his property on Redwood Avenue. He asks that it be put on the tax rolls.

Other items on the agenda: Recommendation by the town manager on the work necessary to bring Rocklyn Court up to standard so it can be included in the town's street maintenance system; rough draft of an agreement with Larkspur School District for the proposed playground in Mariners Cove; Lucky Drive property transactions involving the town, Tamalpais Union School District and Schultz Development Co.; a proposed ordinance prohibiting parking on the north and southbound lanes of Madera Boulevard between Tamalpais Drive and Mohawk Avenue.

Association Names Publicity Director

Resignation of Joel Y. Rickman as Publicity Director of Redwood Empire Assn., effective Jan. 1, was announced today by Garney J. Campion, the association's general manager.

Rickman, a San Francisco and Los Angeles newspaperman for many years, has headthe association's publicity department since early 1954. He said he will take an extended vacation before considering his plans for the future.

Since its discovery in 1852 by Fremont, Lake Tahoe has been known as Mountain Lake, Bigler Lake and Lake Bonpland; it was officially named Lake Tahoe in 1945 by the state legislature.

Health Experts Look At Nervous System

by Dr. Robert W. Pearce

Leading health experts are changing their methods of helping the sick. They are gradually recognizing the importance that the nervous system plays in good health.

These experts have noted that defective bone structure interferes with nerves and robs the body of vital nerve energy.

Sometimes a fall, a sudden jar or even poor posture can cause a slight misalignment of the spine. Nerves often are pinched when one of the 24 bones of the spine is jarred out of line. This can cause almost any type of illness imaginable . . . for the body cannot function properly when the spine is out of line.

The strange part about spinal misalignment is that the person rarely feels any great pain in his back. When ill, however, the smart thing is to look for the cause—and the safe thing is to have your spine checked by a chiropractor. Doctors of Chiropractic are specialists in correcting spinal defects.

Dr. R. W. Pearce, D.C. practices the Palmer Method. His office is at 1628 Fifth Ave., San Rafael, GL 3-6201. —Adv.

MAROONED IN BAY

Young Hunter Stuck On Boat Four Hours

Sixteen-year-old Lawrence Friberg of Glenwood bagged two ducks yesterday before he realized he was marooned in a duck blind almost one-half a mile from shore.

His skiff had floated to shore near McNear's Brickyard on an incoming tide. The boy remained a prisoner for close to four hours.

Larry, of 19 Knight Drive, noticed his boat was gone after he had shot two ducks about 6:30 a.m.

He tried to swim in the nine-foot-deep water about 900 yards off Glenwood but found the water too cold. He screamed, waved his arms and fired his shotgun into the air.

It was almost three hours later that Clinton Lewis of 170 Oak Drive, San Rafael, saw the boy's plight and called police.

A boat from the Marin County sheriff's marine patrol was sent after the boy. They reached him at 10:15 a.m. The shivering boy, his decoys and two ducks were returned to his father, Ray H. Friberg, who was waiting at the Loch Lommond Yacht Harbor.

In the 1959 national election in Israel, 82.8 per cent of eligible persons cast their votes.

Final Decision Due On Strawberry Plan

Final decision on the Strawberry "towers apartment" project centering around a rezoning application for Harbor Point by Samuel R. Neider is scheduled to be made tomorrow afternoon by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

The discussion is to start at 3 p.m. Public participation wound up last Tuesday night in a hearing which did not end until 12:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Board members have indicated that they hope to boil down the issue to that of rezoning for apartments, which is all that is technically before them. But there are indications that this won't be disassociated from the intended project of constructing five luxury towers in a development to cost an over-all 20 million dollars with prospect of a quarter-million dollar tax income yearly.

Also scheduled is a hearing on the Greenwood Lagoon master plan at 2 p.m., and at the same hour a hearing on resolution of intent to rezone several Alto properties.

A proposal by the Marin County Planning Commission to create R-P-1 and R-P-2 planned residential districts has also been set for 2 p.m.

Included in the correspondence agenda is a condensation of the recent presentation to the board regarding the Junior Museum, which has sought to come under county auspices but with a financial obligation which has caused the supervisors to shy off.

More trouble over condemnation possibilities in Richardson Bay seems indicated by a communication from Seid Aviation Corp. regarding the status of condemnation, which of late has been bogged down.

Wounded Hub Boy Improves

Frank T. Fee, 12-year-old San Anselmo boy who was accidentally shot through the head Saturday by a schoolmate, was reported in good condition last night in Marin General Hospital.

Hospital officials said the .22 caliber bullet entered behind the boy's left ear, skimmed along his jaw bone and emerged through his chin. They said he may be released within a few days.

Frank, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Gestson of 1355 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, was visiting the home of a friend, William Walker, 13, at 17 Stone Court, San Anselmo, when the mishap occurred. Both are pupils at Brookside School.

Police said the Walker boy removed a 1906 rifle from the wall, thinking it was not loaded. The gun discharged accidentally, they said.

SIERRA CLUB REJECTS LOYALTY OATH PLAN

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A loyalty oath proposal has been overwhelmingly rejected by members of the Sierra Club, the oldest conservation club in the nation.

The measure, sponsored by a group of Southern Californians, would have required each new member and his sponsor to take a loyalty oath. But in the heaviest voting in the club's 68 years, it was turned down by a 6-1 margin.

David R. Brower, executive director, said yesterday the controversial issue brought a response from almost half of the club's 16,000 members.

49er Future Bright; Wait 'Til Next Year

By JACK HANLEY
I-J Correspondent

Red Hickey said he was in no rush today to look at films of the 49er 34-10 win over the Baltimore Colts in the pro football finale at Kezar Stadium yesterday "because I already know all of our men played magnificently."

That did not mean, however, that the 49er coach was satisfied with his team winding up in a second place tie with the Detroit Lions.

"I'm not going to be satisfied until we win it all," said Hickey, "but I must admit that I'm satisfied under the conditions that confronted us—three or four regulars injured for half the season.

"We started winning, taking four of our last five, when our regulars returned."

Hickey already is looking forward to next year and the future appears bright. "We've got 16 to 17 players with just one or two years experience who are going to be good," he declared. "Ending with a win means you can look forward to next year," the redhead continued. "I hope we can pick up where we left off."

What about the shotgun offense? Is Hickey planning on using it next season?

"We'll use it again next year," he said. "How much? Who knows?"

What about some of the older 49er hands retiring?

"Not one player has told me he doesn't plan on coming back and as far as I am concerned age is no factor just as long as a man can do his job," Hickey said.

Lenny Lyles is one 49er who has no intention of retiring even though Baltimore tried to retire him a couple of seasons ago by cutting him loose after tapping the former University of Louisville speedster as a top choice.

Against his old teammates Lyles carried the opening kickoff 78 yards to the Baltimore 22 to set up the first 49er touchdown and later raced 97 yards to a TD with another kickoff as only 26 seconds remained in the first half."

"I don't feel I got the chance I should have when I was with the Colts," said Lyles. "I knew I had it in me and I wanted to show them!"

Lyles' 97-yard scoring dash, breaking a 10-10 tie, was the made by a 49er in Kezar although last year in the Los Angeles Coliseum Abe Woodson ran one back 105 yards for a TD.

In all, Lyles carried kickoffs back for a total of 202 yards, breaking the old game mark of 158 set last year against the Rams by Woodson.

Dave Baker also set a new 49er record in the season finale when he intercepted his 10th

49er Defense Hailed; Hickey Will Draft For Offensive Improvement

CONNOLLY

Pro football is show biz in a big way, and the curtain dropper at Kezar yesterday was in the grand tradition. The way the San Francisco 49ers overwhelmed the once mighty Baltimore Colts by a 34 to 10 score was a real happy ending for local filberts.

Just like the old mellerdramas the villain was routed, the mortgage was paid, and our hero came out on top. Well, almost on top. Seems that the country hick from Green Bay ran off with little Nell championship while the boys were fighting it out in the barroom. Call it character building.

With the exception of the Shrine game we can give Kezar back to the seagulls now. But we are left with a drawer full of memories and impressions about the season past.

High on the list is the terrific year long job turned in by the 49er defensive unit. And the heart warming satisfaction brought by the applause of the local fans. So often the defense is forgotten in the splash made by the offensive unit. Not this year.

You can bet that Coach Red Hickey and Head Scout Pappy Waldorf are 90 per cent offense minded in planning for the annual draft. About the only shoring up needed on defense is a new man to back up or spell the defensive backs, and possible new trainees for the eventual replacement of aging Leo Nomellini and Ed Henke in the line.

This may be premature after watching Leo the Lion in this last game. Nomo was tarrific at all times, and his pursuit of Colt ball carriers was as good as we have seen all year. Like Warren Spahn of the baseball Braves, this guy seems to go on and on.

On the subject of defense we must point out the great job done by rookie Dan Colchicco at end. The big boy from San Jose State has improved by leaps and bounds and could be one of the greats in coming years.

It is no secret to anyone that the real hurting is on offense, especially in the line tackle to tackle. Lack of speed and strength is what forced Hickey into his "shotgun" formation in the middle of the season. You can't move your backs if you can't move the line.

While he was healthy, Ted Connolly was having one of his best years at guard. Injury cut Ted down, and Mike Magac had neither the speed nor experience. Bruce Bosley, John Thomas and centers Frank Morze and Karl Rubke all had good moments but not consistently. Big Bob St. Clair finds the years catching up with him.

In spite of the come through performances of J. D. Smith and C. R. Roberts, the 49ers need a breakaway man and a bone crunching fullback to keep the opposition honest.

At end, Clyde Conner, Dee Mackey and Monty Stickles are very adequate and should improve each year. One more end with real speed and sticky hands would be a help.

Look for some sad moments when retirement announcements come from some of the old guard and when some players are dealt off to the new Minnesota Vikings next season. Joe Perry and Hugh McElhenny, for all their past greatness, have reached the end of the string. Y. A. Tittle will think twice before he returns.

Old pros, like old soldiers, die hard.

PRO GRID ROUNDUP

Lions Win Berth In Bowl Game

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Green Bay Packers, representing the smallest city in the National Football League, today held one of the circuit's biggest prizes after grabbing the elusive Western Conference crown for the first time since 1944.

The Packers ended the struggle for honors in the Western sector Saturday by riding Bart Starr's pinpoint passing to a 35-21 victory over Los Angeles that sends them into the championship game against Philadelphia's Eastern titlists next Monday.

The Green Bay triumph also dethroned Baltimore's two-time champion Colts, brought the Packers' record to 8-4 and completed an amazing flip flop under Coach Vince Lombardi's guidance for the club that finished the 1958 campaign with the worst mark in the league.

The Eagles wound up the season yesterday with a 10-2 record by whipping Washington 38-28 in Mike Nixon's final game as Redskin coach, and Cleveland and Detroit earned the right to meet in the NFL's runner-up bowl in Miami, on Jan. 7.

The Browns, beaten six consecutive times by New York, came from behind and defeated the Giants 48-34 on a 27-point explosion in the final period that settled the head-on clash for second place in the Eastern Division.

LIONS CRUSH BEARS

The Lions qualified for the runner-up bowl by thrashing the Chicago Bears 36-0 for their seventh victory in the last nine games while outdistancing San Francisco for the post-season berth on a point basis.

Detroit and the 49ers finished in a tie for second place in the West with 7-5 records when San Francisco knocked off the Colts 34-10 and pushed them into fourth. St. Louis took fourth place in the East with a 38-7 win over Pittsburgh.

In the American League's windup program, Western champion Los Angeles edged New York 50-43, Houston's Eastern titlists beat Boston 37-21, Dallas thumped Buffalo 24-7 and Oakland walloped Denver 48-10.

The Packers wrapped up their first title in 16 years when Paul Hornung hit Max McGee with a 40-yard touchdown pass for a 28-7 halftime lead the Rams (4-7-1) were never able to overcome. Hornung also scored once on a short plunge and kicked five conversions, raising his NFL total point record to 176.

Los Angeles took a 7-0 lead in the first quarter on a 40-yard TD toss from Billy Wade to Tom Wilson before the Green Bay onslaught began. Starr heaved scoring aerials of 57 and 91 yards to McGee and Boyd Dowler, respectively, then Paul Winslow recovered a blocked punt in the end zone for another touchdown and Hornung connected with McGee.

At Washington, Nixon was notified his contract was not being renewed after the Redskins (1-9-2) lost to the Eagles on two touchdown passes each by Norm Van Brocklin and sub quarterback Sonny Jurgensen. Van Brocklin pitched 52 and 64-yarders to Tommy McDonald while Jurgensen hit Tim Brown, who scored the clinching touchdown on a 5-yard run, with a 34-yard flip and threw a 57-yarder to Pete Retzlaff.

BROWNS BURST

Paul Wiggin's 20-yard interception return for a touchdown and Sam Baker's conversion put the Browns (8-3-1) ahead 35-34 and started their last quarter outburst against the New Yorkers (6-4-2). Milt Plum, who passed for four touchdowns, and Jimmy Brown, who scored twice, made it a sad farewell for Giants' coach Jim Lee Howell, retiring after bringing New York two successive Eastern titles.

Nick Pietrosante crashed 31 and four yards for touchdowns in the Lions win against inept Chicago (5-6-1), outscored 119-13 in the last three games, and set a club one-season rushing record with 872 yards. Detroit grabbed the bowl berth over San Francisco by scoring more points than the 49ers in the two meetings (each team won once) between the clubs.

Lyles Scores Revenge On Former Mates

Halfback Lenny Lyles got sweet revenge and the ball game yesterday after his two long kickoff runbacks sent the San Francisco 49ers on their way to a 34-10 victory over the Baltimore Colts at Kezar Stadium.

Lyles originally was a top draft choice by the Colts but they cut him loose.

"I don't feel I got the chance I should have had when I was with Baltimore," declared the former University of Louisville speedster.

"I knew it was in me. I wanted to show them."

Lyles carried the opening kickoff 78 yards to the Baltimore 22, setting up the first San Francisco touchdown. He dashed 97 yards to a touchdown with 25 seconds remaining in the half, putting the 49ers into the lead to stay.

Asked why he ran in front of Abe Woodson to field one kick, he replied: "because I wanted it, that's why."

Woodson joked: "He wanted it and I said 'Buddy, it's all yours.'" Lyles gained 202 yards on three kickoff returns, a new 49er record. Woodson held the old mark of 158 set last year against the Rams when he returned one kickoff 105 yards.

Angels To Play Giants In Spring Training Slate

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Angeles Angels already have 16 spring training camp games lined up with other major league teams and today are seeking more games with Pacific Coast League clubs.

"We've got a pretty good basic schedule for next spring," said Manager Fred Haney yesterday on his arrival here from Chicago.

He said his new Angel team will play the San Francisco Giants, the Cleveland Indians, the Boston Red Sox and the Chicago Cubs in pre-season games. The four teams all train in Arizona while the Angels have chosen Palm Springs as their base.

"The four clubs training in Arizona tore up their schedule and made a new one that deals us in for 16 games—at their parks in Mesa."

Ex-Giant Pitching Great Nehf Dies

Nehf's career was among the bright ones of the golden era. He broke into the majors in 1915 with the Boston Braves, then moved to the Giants for their pennant years of 1921-23, and also pitched for the Cincinatti Reds and Chicago Cubs.

BROWNS PLUNGE SIX STORIES IN ELEVATOR

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cleveland Browns won the football game from the New York Giants Sunday, but before it even started Jimmy Brown and six hefty Cleveland teammates lost six stories — rushing.

The seven players, including the 228 pound fullback, and a bellboy entered an elevator at the sixth floor of a hotel near Yankee Stadium. The car immediately took off and didn't stop until it hit the basement.

No one was hurt in the sudden drop and the players walked to the stadium, where Brown gained 110 yards in the Browns 48-34 victory.

It's Getaway Day At Golden Gate Fields Tomorrow

ALBANY (UPI)—The 1961 northern California racing season ends tomorrow with the 14th running of the $20,000-added Golden Gate Handicap at Golden Gate Fields.

There were eight races for today's semi-final card, and nine are scheduled for tomorrow's getaway day program.

Eddie Schmidt is expected to lead a field of 12 to the post in the handicap. He is scheduled to carry 122 pounds, spotting his rivals from eight to 20 pounds.

STATE CHAMPION

Sixto Asks Chance At Archie's Crown

California light heavyweight champion Sixto Rodriguez of San Anselmo wants a chance to win the world championship and has asked his home state to help him get it.

Karl Ashley of San Anselmo, manager of Rodriguez, today appealed to the state athletic commission to help him arrange a fight with Archie Moore, the present title holder.

"I'll deposit as much as $5,000 with the commission if that will get us a championship fight," Ashley declared.

He said now is the time to act because New Yorker Doug Jones recently posted $2,500 with the N. Y. commission asking that he be given first chance at Moore, still recognized in New York as world champion.

However, the National Boxing Assn. is arranging a tournament to determine Moore's successor to the crown. The NBA recently dethroned Moore because of inactivity.

Ashley stated: "Ever since California and the NBA came to the parting of the ways, it seems the eastern boys don't want to give our fighters the credit they deserve."

He added, "If California is to keep on recognizing Moore as champ then I believe I'm perfectly right in saying Rodriguez, as title holder in California, is entitled to fight him before anyone else."

Lombardi To Coach Western All-Stars

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Coaches Vince Lombardi and Buck Shaw, who face each other in the National Football League championship game Dec. 26, will meet again in the Pro Bowl Game Jan. 15.

Appointment of Lombardi, who led the Green Bay Packers to the Western Division title was announced Saturday.

Erdelatz 'Raiders' Future Uncertain; Stockholders Meet

OAKLAND (AP)—The future of Coach Eddie Erdelatz with the Oakland Raiders, and for that matter the future of the club itself, could be decided before tonight.

After his club finished its inaugural American Football League season with a resounding 48-10 victory over the Denver Broncos, Erdelatz declared, "I have no comment on my future plans. All I hear is rumor and speculation."

The rumor and speculation had it that Erdelatz would step out as coach unless he also became general manager.

Along the same line there was another rumor that Y. C. (Chet) Soda, one of the eight owners, would turn over his job as general manager to someone else. Also that some stock would be changing hands.

"I know nothing about this except what I read," declared Soda. "We have our regular corporation meeting, but if there is going to be any stock changing hands, I haven't heard about it."

With disappointing crowds all season, the Raider owners are expected to suffer a $400,000 loss in the year of operation.

Only 5,159 turned out at Candlestick Park in San Francisco on Saturday to watch the finale.

Oakland finished fifth overall in the AFL with a 6-8 record. That was better than Buffalo, Boston or Denver.

SHARE HONORS

Quarterbacks Tom Flores and Babe Parilli, halfback Tony Teresa and fullback Billy Lott shared the honors and the game ball went to Erdelatz.

Flores scored twice—on a one-yard sneak and a seven-yard run. Teresa plunged one yard for his touchdown. Parilli tallied on a one-yard sneak and threw touchdown passes of 44 yards to Nyle McFarland and 21 to Charlie Hardy. Lott did not score but he gained 87 yards in nine carries for a 9.67 average.

Larry Barnes booted field goals of 18 and 28 yards plus six conversions in the Raiders' biggest scoring outburst of the season. They led 17-10 going into the final quarter and then piled on 31 more.

For Denver, Gene Mingo booted a 37-yard field goal and added the conversion after Frank Tripucka passed six yards to Lionel Taylor for the Bronco's only touchdown.

pass of 1960. Baker's interception came in the closing minute of play and the crowd of 57,269, having just learned from the stadium announcer that Baker had been voted the Len Eshmont trophy by his teammates as the most inspirational 49er player of the year, gave him a big cheer.

Lyles' opening kickoff return put John Brodie and the shotgun promptly in business. Four plays took the ball to the three from which Brodie himself scored on a sweep behind fine blocks by C. R. Roberts and J. D. Smith.

Tommy Davis, who later booted two field goals and was to contribute several 60-yard punts, then added his first of four PATs.

Steve Myhra made it 7-3 early in the second quarter with a 35-yard field goal but Davis quickly pushed the score to 10-3 with a 36-yarder of his own.

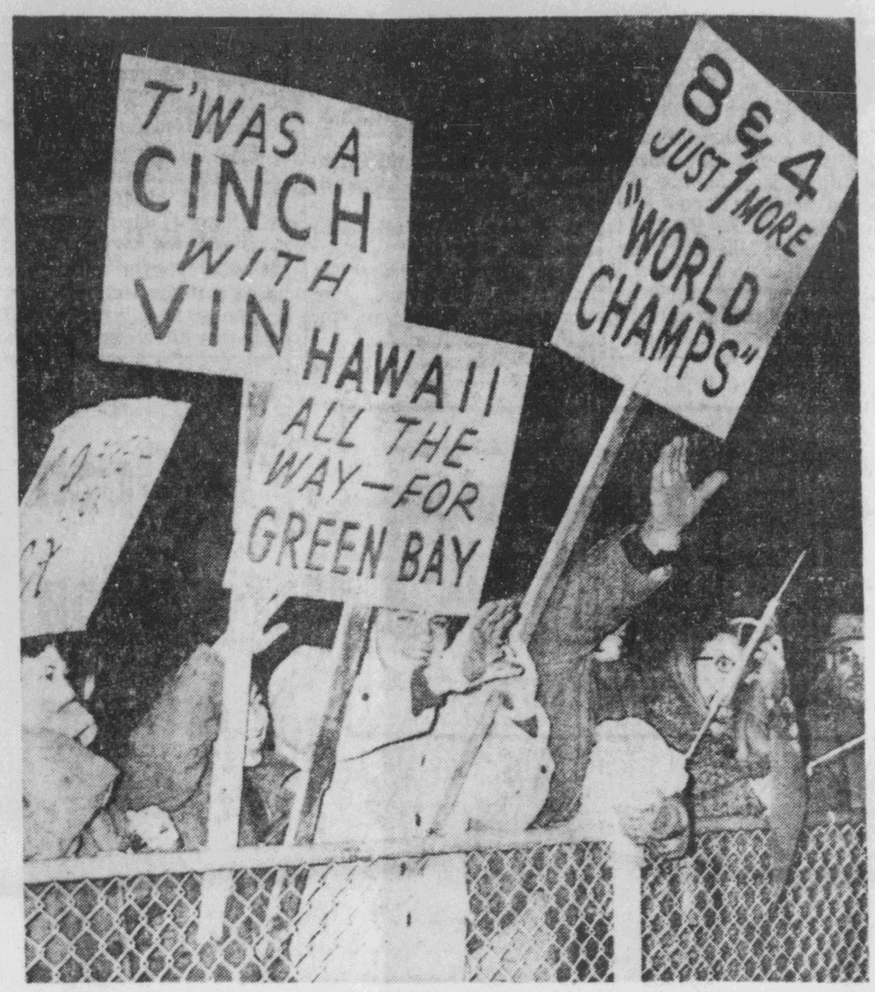
There were 43 seconds left in the half as Johnny Unitas hit Billy Pricer with a 13-yard scoring strike over the middle and Myhra's PAT knotted it at 10-10.

Then came Lyles' 97-yard TD run. It momentarily appeared that he was caught in a big jam of 49ers and Colts between the 30 and 40 yard lines but he suddenly emerged from it, shaking loose from a grasping last effort by 280-pound Sherman Plunkett.

"I saw him there in front of me and just got as low as I could to get past him," said Lyles. "I bit my tongue as I went by, but I made it."

That was all the scoring the 49ers needed for their victory but more was to come despite a steady drizzle that began to fall in the second half.

Smith, on a 14-yard reverse cutback, added the third TD which Gordon Kelley's interception on the Colt 31 set up. The final TD came on a seven yard pass, Brodie to R. C. Owens, after the aging Joe Perry and Smith picked up 19 and 13 yards respectively on trap plays.



WARM WELCOME FOR CHAMPS

It was freezing cold in Green Bay last night, but the Packers of that community received a warm welcome by thousands of fans at the airport. Celebration was for Green Bay's winning the Western Division championship of the National Football League Saturday in Los Angeles. (AP Wirephoto)

Tars Lose Bruising Tourney Semi-Final Battle To Shasta

College of Marin Tars were outmuscled by Shasta College in the Golden Valley Conference Basketball Tournament semi-finals Saturday at Redding by a score of 51-46. Shasta went on to defeat Santa Rosa for the championship.

Marin Coach Cal Riemcke termed Shasta's style of play "more like five man football. Man, was it rough."

The easy-going Tar coach said officials were quite lax in calling fouls, especially in the second half. And at one point Riemcke was slapped by a technical foul for criticizing the officiating. "Shasta went ahead for keeps with about three minutes to play when one of their players actually straight-armed one of my kids and scored a layup. I protested the roughness, so they charged me a technical foul. That put Shasta three points ahead of us and we never got back."

Prior to that it was a see-saw battle with the lead changing hands several times. The score was knotted at 25-all at half-time.

SHOW COURAGE

When asked who was most impressive for the Tars, Riemcke replied, "Playing under those rough conditions no one can look good. Every time we tried to work a pattern they (Shasta) would just bodily knock us out of it. My kids showed a lot of courage, though. It got to be a case of shoot the ball and then try to protect yourself. We gave Shasta the closest battle in the tournament."

Lynn Livie led Marin scorers with 17 while Ron Blum scored 12 and led in rebounds. John Blomquist had seven points, Mike Rawitser six and Ernie Bray five.

Marin returns to what they hope will be a less bruising brand of basketball tomorrow against San Francisco City College in San Francisco.

Wednesday night the Tars entertain Riverside College, then they vacation until Dec. 28 when they go to Oakland City College.

OREGON CLOBBERED

Pro Tactics Spark Penn State Triumph

The Penn State quarterbacks shuttled in and out of the game with strategy much the same as Brown sends in plays for his Cleveland Browns via a pair of guards.

"I don't like to call the plays," said Engle. "I like to let the boys play it. But there wasn't much time and I thought I had the plays for another score."

He did. State scored and left the field leading 21-6. The touchdown loomed even bigger when Oregon tallied the only touchdown of the third period. What could have been a 14-12 game was 21-12. State scored three times in the final period to complete a rout.

Engle credited his team's second straight Liberty Bowl victory to his superior numbers. He was able to alternate two complete units against the thinner Oregon forces.

"We tried to make them play two games," the State coach explained, referring to the use of his "22-man first team" which forced Oregon to battle two teams instead of one.

Dick Hoak, senior quarterback from Jeannette, Pa., was voted the game's most valuable player award. Hoak scored two touchdowns, passed for another and set up the first State TD with a 16-yard pass to the Oregon 1. He also intercepted two passes in the Lion's rousing fourth-quarter finish, each leading to a touchdown.

A crowd of 16,624 sat in subfreezing weather to see this second annual bowl game at the Philadelphia Stadium. Although it was an artistic succes—an interesting game despite the score—the promotors took a financial bath. They're as hardy, however, as the fans who braved the elements. They said they'll be back in 1961.

Bob Schloredt In Top Shape With Huskies

LONG BEACH (UPI) — Washington's Huskies, cheered by the return of triple threat quarterback Bob Schloredt, take the afternoon off today before settling down to twice daily drills for their Rose Bowl game with Minnesota.

The Huskies traveled to nearby Disneyland where the Big Five champions also get a first hand look at their Jan. 2 opponents. Both teams will spend the afternoon at the Anaheim amusement park after a morning workout.

Schloredt suited up yesterday for the first time since Oct. 15 when the Huskies staged a surprise 1¾ hour practice session. The one-eyed quarterback, out with a fractured collarbone suffered against UCLA, directed Washington to its one-sided victory over Wisconsin in last year's Rose Bowl.

With Bob Hivner at quarterback since Schloredt's accident the Huskies have won six in a row, and with Schloredt back in uniform Washington's chances for a victory over the Golden Gophers, rated the No. 1 team in the nation, are even increased.

Among the 52 Huskies who suited up in full uniform for yesterday's session was injured tackle Ray Mansfield, who sprained his ankle playing basketball several weeks ago.

Coach Must Go On

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—Iowa Football Coach Forest Evashevski, whose Hawkeye teams won Rose Bowl games twice in three years in the late 50's, had a date to address a doctors' meeting. He also had a cold and a temperature of 102 degrees.

He made the speech anyhow. He could have had medical attention promptly if he had needed it. But he urged the doctors to work with high school coaches in spotting athletic injuries which could be serious while appearing to be minor.

Inspired Bears Meet Northwestern Tonight

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Undefeated in four home pre-conference games, an inspired California basketball squad invades Chicago tonight for a clash against Northwestern.

For the Bears, it will be the first of six road games.

San Jose State plays at St. Louis University, Hawaii at University of San Francisco, Southern Oregon at Humboldt State, San Francisco State at University of Toledo and Colorado State at Fresno State.

Santa Clara snared the consolation prize in the City of Roses Tournament Saturday night, defeating Iona of New Rochell, N. Y., 68-47, St. Mary's edged Minnesota 54-52, USF surprised Stanford in overtime 37-31, Fresno State squeaked past College of Pacific 60-59 and Southeast Missouri State whipped San Francisco State 85-78.

Indiana smashed Nevada 80-52, Sacramento State rolled over UC of Riverside 72-40, Washington lost again at Iowa State 60-50, and Long Beach State defeated Pepperdine 86-67.

In a twin bill at Los Angeles, UCLA won its fifth straight by downing Butler 73-61 and USC walloped Notre Dame 93-63.

Santa Clara, after losing the opening round 43-41 to Portland in the City of Roses games, bounced back to place third on the shooting of Gene Shields. He paced the Bronco attack over Iona with 18 points.

Portland won the tournament with a 73-54 victory over Gonzaga of Spokane.

St. Mary's boosted its record to 6-1 on a sparkling performance by Tom Meschery, who broke loose for 25 points.

Ed Thomas and Bob Gaillard each scored 10 in USF's first overtime victory since 1954. Stanford led 19-17 at halftime in the tight defensive battle.

Two field goals by Fresno State's Mike McFerson in the final two minutes enabled the Bulldogs to squeeze by COP. Tiger Ken Stanley and McFerson tied for scoring honors with 31 each.

Marvin Bass Named South Carolina Coach

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—Marvin Bass calls his new job as head football coach at the University of South Carolina "the finest Christmas present I've ever been presented."

South Carolina's athletic director, Warren Giese, announced Saturday that he was retiring as coach at the age of 36 and that he would be succeeded by Bass, a 41-year-old former aide and last season as assistant coach at Georgia Tech.

In five seasons as head coach, Giese's teams won 28, lost 21 and tied one. The 1960 record, 3-6-1, was his poorest.

Nice Guy Nixon Fired By 'Skins

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mike Nixon, 49, has been fired as head coach of the Washington Redskins. Assistant coach Bill McPeak probably will succeed him.

The Philadelphia Eagles, the National Football League's Eastern champions, bombed the 'Skins 38-28 yesterday on the passing of Norm Van Brocklin and Sonny Jurgensen. It was Washington's ninth defeat against one win and two ties.

Commendable as it was in defeat, the performance left the Redskins in the Eastern basement and failed to save the popular Nixon. George Preston Marshall, owner of the club, confirmed after the game previous reports that Nixon's contract would not be renewed. He said Nixon, ninth of his coaches in a 24-season span at Washington, had been informed two weeks ago.

"I think he is a terrific man," Marshall said of Nixon. "Perhaps his greatest weakness is that he is too nice a man."

Paul Fagan, Former Owner Of S.F. Seals, Dies At 70

HILLSBOROUGH (UPI)—Paul I. Fagan, the man who brought class to minor league baseball in a manner never seen before or since, died yesterday at the age of 70.

Fagan was a multi-millionaire businessman and he played his part to the hilt when he decided in 1945 to go into baseball, a game to which he hadn't paid much attention previously.

He started by paying $250,000 for a one-third interest in the San Francisco Seals of the Pacific Coast League, a big money-maker in those days. Soon afterward he bought another third, and eventually he gained complete ownership.

Thus started a nine-year reign remembered as one of the most startling in baseball history.

Fagan paid Lefty O'Doul $40,000 a year to manage the club, making him by far the highest-paid manager in the minors.

To attract the carriage trade, Fagan placed a uniformed doorman at the main entrance of Seals Stadium. And, to keep the players well-groomed, he equipped the locker room with a barber.

In 1946, Fagan shipped his players off to spring training in Honolulu—an unheard-of luxury for the minors. In the two succeeding seasons, he installed his team in an even fancier spring training layout at Heavenly Hana.(Fagan's resort on the island of Maui.

But disenchantment set in during later years, and Fagan fired O'Doul after the team finished eighth in 1951.

There he helped lead the drive which in 1952 gained the PCL a temporary "open" classification, intended as a step toward creating a third major league. The plan didn't work out.

However, Fagan kept up a clamor for major league baseball in San Francisco, complaining to his own detriment, as owner of the Seals, that minor league ball "wasn't good enough for a city of this size."

In 1954, he sold the Seals to the Little Corporation.

"I still feel that San Francisco's destiny lies with major league baseball," he said. "I tried to do what I could to bring that end about but I'm afraid I didn't succeed too well."

But Fagan lived to see major league baseball in the city—in 1958, when the New York Giants of the National League came west.

Fagan's death came as he slept yesterday morning. His attorney, Herman Phleger, said Fagan had developed "minor" heart trouble about four years ago, but was not under a doctor's care.

St. Louis Cardinal second baseman Manuel Javier wore uniform No. 2 last spring while training with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:
Better Health Through Knowledge
If It's A Boy
• Plant Rash
• Hospital Care
Q. What is the best age for circumcision? Is it always desirable?
A. The time-honored age for circumcision is about the end of the first week of life but it can be done earlier just as well. Give the doctor leeway by making arrangements before the baby arrives. For young babies the procedure is simple and all but painless—later it's quite painful. Aside from the important factor of personal hygiene, there are other possible advantages of circumcision. There is evidence that local cancer in the male and cervical cancer in married women is less frequent among people who routinely practice circumcision.
Q. I have recently developed a skin condition that looks like poison ivy but I have not been near ivy. I do have a recently acquired philodendron plant on my desk. Could this cause the trouble?
A. Yes. Doctors have reported cases of skin eruptions due to this plant. Remove the plant from your desk for a week or two. The rash may clear up.
Q. What is meant by "progressive" hospital care?
A. It is a method of tailoring hospital services to the needs of the patient. The very ill patient receives round-the-clock attention comparable to that provided by private duty nursing. As the patient improves he is given intermediate care as needed. The last step is assignment to a self-help unit. Here, the almost-recovered patient does nearly everything for himself. This method, now being tried in a number of hospitals, is intended to provide better overall services without additional cost to the patient.
Three o'clock in the morning is not the time to acquaint your physician with symptoms that have bothered you for days. If you develop trouble, call or visit your doctor during his office hours. Don't wait until the illness becomes acute.

NATO Weighs U.S. Offer Of Nuclear Force

Decision Pending Disclosure Of Kennedy Reaction

PARIS (AP) — Ministers of the North Atlantic alliance are going to wait for the reaction of President-elect John F. Kennedy before deciding on a conditional American offer to equip NATO with a nuclear striking force pegged to Polaris submarines.

Winding up their annual three-day review yesterday, the foreign, defense and finance ministers of the 15-nation North Atlantic Alliance deferred action on the U.S. proposal until a spring meeting scheduled for May 8-10 in Oslo, Norway.

PARLEY PENDS

Some members are pressing for a spring summit conference of Western leaders but this depended on the attitude of the new American president.

President Eisenhower's top aides put forward the blueprint for a force of medium-range ballistic missiles under combined control in an apparent move to induce U.S. allies to forge independent nuclear programs.

There was little immediate sign this maneuver would succeed. France, for one, has made it plain she intends to go ahead with her own atomic striking force.

The offer hinged on several big conditions — approval by Kennedy, agreement by the allies on how to pay for the force, and changing the McMahon law that now makes it illegal for the United States to put nuclear warheads in foreign hands.

PROPOSED PLAN

This is the way the proposed plan would work:

Five U. S. nuclear submarines, each armed with 16 Polaris missiles tipped with nuclear warheads, would be placed under joint North Atlantic command providing the Allies bought an additional 100 missiles costing about one million dollars each.

These additional 100 missiles perhaps including some solid-fuel Pershings, could be based either on land or sea.

U. S. spokesmen at the NATO meeting put great emphasis on the price tag of the program. They said the United States has come on hard times and her allies must shoulder a greater share of the cost of defending Europe.

Susanville was named for Susan, daughter of Isaac Roop, who settled in the region in 1853.

Turncoats Charge U.S. Will Continue To Spy

MOSCOW (UPI) — Two American defectors, William Martin and Bernon Mitchell, former code clerks of the National Security Agency, charged today that the United States will "continue to carry out subversive activities and interference in the internal affairs of other countries."

Quoted in an interview with the official Tass news agency, the two who defected to the Soviet Union last summer said they expected the United States to continue and to enlarge its intelligence activities.

Martin disclosed that he had married a Russian girl since his defection. He called her "a wonderful Soviet girl and excellent housekeeper." He said he, his wife and Mitchell, who once resided in San Rafael, planned to devote themselves to "peaceful, scientific work."

Martin said Allen Dulles' retention as chief of the Central Intelligence Agency was an indication that American espionage activities would go on as usual.

"Of course," he said, "Dulles is the fountainhead and organizer of all these activities which have characterized U. S. aggressive foreign policy in recent years."

Then he added that "The United States has begun a new program of espionage in employing spy satellites."

Mitchell said "I don't believe that the United States intends to cease its communications intelligence activities.

It said Martin made the charge that the United States, "despite great failures," would continue with alleged subversion and interference in the affairs of other nations.

Problems Of Aged

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nation's aged are mostly worried about income, health and medical care, family life and housing, the government reported today.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare said these were the four topics most of the elderly delegates want discussed at the forthcoming White House Conference on Aging. Of the 1,600 delegates who have offered suggestions so far, more than 600 selected these topics. More than 2,7000 persons are expected to attend the Jan. 9-12 White House parley.

About 30 species of bamboo are grown in California, mostly for their ornamental features.

Junior Red Crossers Busy Spreading Christmas Cheer

Twelve hundred Junior Red Cross gift boxes have been filled by children attending 100 public, private and parochial schools enrolled in the Marin Junior Red Cross program.

Although not specifically designated as Christmas gifts, these small boxes are symbolic of the Christmas spirit, for they show care and concern of American children for other young people throughout the world, especially the less fortunate. The boxes are shipped to children in disaster areas throughout the entire world.

In addition to the gift box program, Junior Red Crossers have been busy with a widespread program of providing service to various hospitals and institutions.

Tree ornaments, favors, Christmas corsages and socks, scrapbooks, gifts, cookies and murals have been contributed by numerous service groups to Sonoma State Hospital, Imola State Hospital, Veterans Hospital at Yountville and Lucas Valley.

Nancy Graves Shower Honoree

A kitchen shower planned by Mrs. Thomas B. Wiper was held at the Sausalito home of Mrs. Norton Meyer on Tuesday when the original hostess was forced to give in to a virus.

The honoree was Nancy Graves, who is across the continent but who has many friends in Sausalito who wanted to remember her.

Nancy, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Graves of Kent Woodlands, will be married on Dec. 30 at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Mickford, Rhode Island. Her fiance is George L. Rieger, a Yale student now serving in the Army. Mr. and Mrs. Graves will leave Marin this week to join their daughter for Christmas and the wedding.

A 'Dime-A-Dip' Dinner Precedes Tamelpa Meeting

Highlight of the evening was Mrs. J. V. Toschi's accordion playing of many Christmas carols and old favorites together with community singing. At the conclusion of dinner packages were distributed, and secret pals were revealed. New ones will be drawn for the coming year on Dec. 27.

Co-chairmen for the dinner were Mesdames Fred Smith and Malcolm Piper.

Through such activities as the "Dime-A-Dip" dinner, Native Daughters of the Golden West raises funds to carry on philanthropic work in connection with children's foundation, scholarships, restoration of Father Junipero Serra's missions and restoration of the many historical landmarks

Jill Cerwin Bride Of T. A. Mondrogon

An event of interest during the holidays in Mill Valley was the wedding Sunday, of Jill Catherine Cerwin of Mill Valley and Thomas Aurthor Mondrogon of San Rafael.

When Jill walked down the aisle on the arm of her father, Col. Steven S. Cerwin, she was wearing a floor length gown of ivory peau de soie with chapel train. The fitted bodice had a square neckline and three-quarter sleeves and insets of lace in front, as well as in the front of the bouffant skirt.

Her fingertip veil was held by a coronet of lace petals, and she carried a crescent shaped bouquet of white roses and gardenias with ivory net.

Her attendants were her sister, Joyce Cerwin of Mill Valley, Mrs. Stephen Kacharos of Novato and Mrs. James E. Scheiner of Mill Valley. All were gowned in ballerina length frocks of pink satin fashioned on lines similar to those of the bride's gown. Their headdresses were flat bows matching their dresses, and their flowers were pale green spider chrysanthemums accented with dark green foliage.

Mrs. Cerwin attended her daughter's wedding in a champagne brocade jacket dress and bronze cage veil. Bronze accessories completed her ensemble, and she wore a corsage of green cymbidium orchids.

The bridegroom's mother was attired in a lavender crepe dress and black hat, and her accessories were black. Her corsage was of pink cymbidium orchids.

Serving the bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mondrogon of San Rafael, as best man was Robert Grunigen of Mill Valley, and escorting guests to their pews were David Taylor and Jack Martin of Mill Valley.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Bob's of Marin in Corte Madera. Decor followed a Christmas theme, and the three tiered wedding cake was decorated on top with wedding bells and encircled at the base with gardenias.

Mrs. Thomas West of Ross, the bridegroom's sister, was in charge of the guestbook.

On their return the young couple will live in San Rafael.

Jill and Tom both were graduated from Tamalpais High School, and she is also a graduate of the Grace Ball Secretarial College. Before her marriage she was employed at a Bank of America in San Francisco.

The bridegroom is employed by the A. G. Schoonmaker Co. Inc. in Sausalito. He has a brother, Ted, and another sister, Ramona Mondrogon, both of San Rafael.

Personnel At Marin General Plan Annual Holiday Party

Personnel at Marin General Hospital will stage their annual Christmas party in the cafeteria Thursday, Dec. 22, from 11:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. so that all of the shifts will have a chance to participate.

Chairman of the party plans is Mrs. Ida King, administrative resident. Working on plans to serve a "tempting spread" is Miss Wilda Jane Derryberry, chief dietitian, assisted by Miss Marjorie Quick, R. N. All of the food will be homemade and donated by employes as the party is a no-host affair.

In charge of food service is Mrs. Flossie Timmons; supplies are being handled by Al Carpenter and some "dreamy" entertainment is being "cooked up" by Mrs. Etta McGrew, coffee shop manager, and Mrs. Helen Olcese, EEG technician. Taking on one of the more strenuous jobs is Mrs. Helen Willis who is in charge of cleaning up.

Beautiful decorations are being planned by Mrs. Velia LaPlant, clinical laboratory secretary, assisted by Ed Burr, head gardener, and Mrs. Alice Gardner, clinical laboratory secretary. Focal point of the decorations wil be a full wall sized mural, designed and done by Ed Ennis of the engineering department. Swags of red crepe paper will gaily festoon the Annex. Greens, trimmed from Marin General Hospital's own trees, will add the Christmas touch.

A special party will be held by the surgical nurses and central supply who specialize in homemade goodies. This party will be held Wednesday, Dec. 21, between 1:30 and 3 p.m. In charge of arrangements is Mrs. Jean Dalk, R.N., assisted by Mrs. Cecile Vranjos, head nurse in central supply. Taking care of the food procurement is Mrs. Joyce Pitts, R.N.

Donning a Santa Claus uniform and wearing a Christmas tree hat to act as mistress of ceremonies at both parties is Miss Amelia E. Ditt, director of nurses at Marin General Hospital.

Theta Alums Yule Party Tomorrow

The Marin alumnae of Kappa Alpha Theta will meet in the Kentwoodlands home of Mrs. Lewis Kerlin at 8 p.m. tomorrow for their annual Christmas champagne party.

Featured during the evening will be a gift exchange and a silent auction, proceeds from which will be sent to the sorority's national philanthropy, The Institute of Logopedics, in Wichita, Kan. This speech clinic trains individuals, particularly children, with speech handicaps; trains teachers; and does research in the field of speech.

Assisting Mrs. Kerlin with hostessing duties will be Mesdames Paul Clymer, Frederick Hunt, Thomas Moss, James Furlong, Robert Kohler, and Jay Simon.

Each Theta will bring a wrapped tin of cookies or candy for distribution by the Red Cross to servicemen in Marin County.

Club president Mrs. Kenneth Moynihan announces that the Jan. 27 Founders' Day luncheon is to be held at the Olympic Club in San Francisco. Anyone wishing more information may contact Mrs. Moynihan in San Rafael.

Grandmothers' Club Has Holiday Party

At their meeting Wednesday, at the home of Mrs. Lulu Brunsing, the annual Christmas baskets were filled, secret pals were revealed, and Mrs. Brunsing told of her trip to her son's ranch in Maryland.

Mrs. Wayne Tharp presented a list of projects, so the group can choose which group they will aid during the coming year. Mrs. Alice Mackenze was greeted as a new member.

With Practice You Can Wax Eloquent As A Candlemaker

By VIVIAN BROWN

With a little practice you can wax eloquent as a candlemaker. The result? Candles for giving, candles for the burning.

Prepared waxes on the market make candlemaking simple, but you can also mix your own combination of paraffin and bees wax or stereic wax.

Melt the wax in a double boiler. To achieve colors desired, add oil paints or wax crayons a little at a time. White, red and green are the popular Christmas candles, but in recent years the trend is to pastels.

Soak wick four hours in water, salt and borax, dip it in wax, and then hang up to dry. This insures longer burning qualities.

Milk cartons are popular molds for square candles. These require about 1¾ lbs. of wax, but must be supported with masking tape or other material wound around the center of the carton so that it will not give when the wax is poured.

Leave enough wick so that it can be trimmed to the proper length after the candle has hardened in the refrigerator or other cold spot.

If glasses or other containers are used, wipe them with vegetable oil before pouring the wax. This gives them an attractive sheen.

Candles may be left in glass molds, however. Lovely Yuletide effects may be achieved by putting designs on the glass. Use glitter dust, red and green sequins, beads, to make a pretty wreath on a brandy snifter or other glass. Initials, Christmas greetings or other Yuletide symbols also serve to personalize gifts. There are special glues for this purpose.

Tree shapes in candles may be obtained by using Pilsner style glasses. Trim these with tiny ornaments, the kind that come on a string, after the candle is removed from its glass mold.

Hollow out candles near their base to make room in the niche for a tiny figure of the Infant Jesus for a candle that will be cherished by the recipients.

Use pins to attach pearls, beads, sequins, cranberries, gumdrops or other tiny decorations to homemade candles. If these seem too long, make them shorter by slipping them to the desired length.

Snowy effects are pretty but wax snow is messy for amateurs. Still, if you like to try your hand at it, beat the wax after it has begun to harden. Coat it gently over the candle you wish to decorate. Popular snow candles are tinted pale pink or green for delicate effects.

A beautiful gift candle is a round one covered with silver or gold dust. Use a deep bowl to get as rounded an effect as possible. When hard, remove from bowl and cover it completely with silver sprinkles, layer over layer. It'll take about 4 lbs. of wax, but it will last through many Yuletides.

Two Stage Party For Classmates

Not all the holiday parties in Sausalito are for adults. Saturday, Kathleen Borla with Susan Applebaum of San Rafael as co-hostesses had the Sausalito Woman's Club for the party they gave for their Dominican classmates and their dates.

Peacock Was Piece de Resistance At Christmas In Merry England

NEW YORK (UPI) — Peacock was the piece de resistance at Christmas dinners in medieval England. The elegant bird was usually served roasted, garnished with its brilliant plumage. But sometimes it appeared in a pie, with head and tail emerging from opposite sides of the crust.

The English have long since abandoned this custom, but they continue to serve roast beef, which was also popular in the Middle Ages. Cooking the "joint" in those days was literally a dog's life. The unfortunate animal was harnessed to a turnspit where it had to run constantly to turn the beef until it was done. This sometimes took as long as three hours.

Beef itself became part of England's Christmas tradition for a practical reason, says the American Meat Institute. Few medieval farms had enough barn space or feed to care for all livestock through the winter. Consequently, the oldest oxen were slaughtered in the fall, and the meat hung to cure and age until Christmas.

Elsewhere in Europe, Christmas dinner traditions sometimes stemmed from religious beliefs. An old Ukranian custom called for Christmas Eve dinner of 12 courses, one for each apostle. Among the traditional foods were buckwheat and mushroom soup, prunes, pancakes, cabbage, fish, bread and nuts.

England's King Henry VIII is remembered best for his many wives and inelegant table manners. But he is also credited with establishing the tradition of boar's head for Christmas dinner.

This custom is believed to have started in pre-Christian days, when Druids killed boars to sacrifice their heads to the goddess Freya at the winter solstice.

The modern variation of this custom calls for suckling pig, roasted whole, served with an apple in its mouth. Norwegian tradition includes this dish, along with porridge, lutfisk (lye-soaked codfish), cakes and cookies. Suckling pig was also customary for Christmas dinner in Denmark, Sweden, Germany, Rumania, Yugoslavia, and pre-Communist Russia.

A hearty appetite was necessary in Russia. Well-heeled families preceded their 10-course meal with a buffet of as many as 30 hors d'oeuvres. At dinner, the suckling pig was accompanied by mushrooms, kasha (buckwheat grain), horseradish and a fruited pudding.

In the United States and France, a favorite Christmas dinner entree is turkey with stuffing. Regional stuffing favorites here include oyster, corn meal, sausage, giblet and mushroom. In France, chestnut and truffle dressings are preferred.

The Christmas bird in Denmark, Bulgaria and Germany is often a goose—served with prune and apple stuffing and red cabbage in the former, on a bed of sauerkraut in the latter two.

Baked carp wins the vote in Czechoslovakia and Austria. But the record for an all-encompassing Christmas dinner was set in medieval England with a pie reportedly baked for a Sir Henry Grey.

It was nine feet in circumference, weighed 165 pounds and was served from a specially built cart.

The ingredients included 2 bushels of flour, 20 pounds of butter, 4 each of geese, wild ducks and partridges, 2 each of rabbits, woodcocks, neat's tongues (cattle tongues), and curlews, 6 pigeons and 7 blackbirds.

Greenbrae P-TA Program Presented By The Students

Attending the Greenbrae PT-A annual Children's Christmas program and tea on Wednesday, Dec. 14 was like opening Christmas gifts on Christmas Day with each gift being a bigger and better surprise.

The program was under the direction of Anthony Bacich, who is administrative assistant for instruction, for the Kentfield School District. The children under his supervision who are in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades added originality and information to the program by reading original poems and presenting essays on the customs and celebrations of other nationalities and countries throughout the world. This new presentation was well received by the audience which numbered over 200.

"Out of the mouths of babes come some wonderful songs and noises." This old saying was supported by the program the first grade offered under the direction of Miss Elva Dughi, first grade teacher. The little girls were angels, each wearing a silver halo while the boys were kings bearing gifts with great pomp and ceremony. Even "Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer" made his appearance in the persons of Ricky Norton and Karen O'Donnell.

The background decorations on the stage were the contributions of the kindergarten classes of Mrs. Elna Farr. The children had made happy ginger bread men, large candy canes, and Christmas trees. The Christmas tree was in the multi-purpose rooms and was beautifully decorated by all the children in the school. The original and colorful ornaments made the traditional Christmas tree sparkle.

Mrs. Frances Brodie, music consultant, directed the fourth, fifth and sixth grades in choral renditions of Christmas favorites. Even the children helped Santa in the Santa Cha Cha Cha. The choral groups were dressed in green smocks and white collars and red bows. Everyone enjoyed the singing by the groups because of their happy and smiling faces which transmitted the joys of the forthcoming holiday.

The presentation of the colors was led by the Intermediate Girl Scout Troop No. 183. Mrs. William Ecker and Mrs. Warren Wisecarver are the leaders. The girls wore their green uniforms with wide red sashes to conform to the day's program. Carol Ecker, Rene Wisecarver, Kit Hermann, Dianne Schmidt, Joyce Matthews, and Jean Christopher took part in the ceremony.

The tea hostess, Mrs. Lionel Harwin was assisted by Mrs. Herbert Bergren. The table was bedecked with holly and ornaments and colorful cookies.

St. Paul's Group Elects New Officers

Mrs. Harry Rothrock was elected president of the Episcopal Church Women of St. Paul's parish, San Rafael, at an annual meeting of the group Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. John D. Riley, wife of the rector.

Other new officers named to serve for a two-year term were Mrs. Harry Pepoon, first vice president; Mrs. Norman Bourke, recording secretary, and Mrs. John Stetson, treasurer.

Outgoing president is Mrs. Paul Nielsen Jr. Officers who will continue for another year are Mrs. Byron Leydecker, second vice president, and Mrs. William Packard, corresponding secretary.

In the absence of Mrs. Nielsen, the meeting was conducted by Mrs. Leydecker, who introduced the rector, Rev. John T. Riley. Rev. Riley read the story, "The Gift of the Magi," by O. Henry. Carols were also sung by the group with Mrs. James Tramel at the organ.

Annual reports were given by Mrs. Carl Schmitt, outgoing secretary, and Mrs. Robert G. Alderman, retiring treasurer. Mrs. Alderman's report was read by Mrs. Edward Walraven.

After the business meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Riley assisted by Mrs. Trevor Hoy, Virginia Rothrock and Nora Baird.

Give Them A Laugh

The nation's shelves this year are stocked with smiles. For example,—

Blockheads. The faces on these ceramic noggins depict gloom or glory. Can be used on closet shelves as hat holders. Hollowed area could conceal family jewels. Priced for less than $3.

Brush for Fald-headed Man. Downy soft, it caresses stray hairs on a destitute pate and smooths fringe around the ears gently into place. Prices vary.

Ice Cream Tooth Brush. Brush handles have aromas like vanilla, chocolate, orange, strawberry, lemon or lime designed to lure kiddies to the brushing routine.

Mermaids. King Neptune's daughter bats her long lashes from the floor where she is a bathroom rug. Same witty carpet manufacturer produces a cowardly lion, choo-choo train (each rug a car) and face cards. Priced up to $10.

From linen shops to notions counters you will find plenty of revelry on tea towels, aprons, throw pillows, cocktail napkins, drinking glasses, bar accessories.

But choose your witty gift carefully, buyers advise. What may be one person's joke could very well be somebody else's insult.

Holiday Decor Has Changed Since Grandmother's Day

In keeping with the trend of recent years, the three is as likely to be gold, silver, white or baby blue.

The shape of baubles for the tree runs even further afield. Among the more bizarre new ones are Walt Disney characters, seahorses, harlequins, miniature oil lamps, drummer boys, Indians and mermaids with pearly tails. There are gilded spiders, too, spinning silvery webs. And for the sophisticate, there are pink elephants.

Traditional ball-type ornaments are still around, but many have grown to balloon size. Still others look like jumbo fresh water pearls. Star-shaped ornaments and twinklers, spin in the heat of the tree lights.

The lights of the tree, too, have undergone changes. Many look like strings of red roses or white reindeer, each rose or deer centered with a light. Others look like snowballs. White, but translucent, the snowballs have different-colored bulbs inside and take on the rainbow hues of icicles in the sunlight.

Santa-shaped tree ornaments wear orange, green or brown caps instead of the familiar furbanded scarlet one. And icicles of silver foil have given way to saran one in blue, green and gold as well as silver.

Decorations for the hearth, table, windows and door have remained more traditional. They include huge felt stockings in white, red, green and powder blue; gamboling reindeer, decked with sprigs of holly, wreaths of roses and gilded halters; and angels made of loops of white satin ribbon with gold paper wings.

Turtle Neck

Shouldn't Gag Officials By Threats Or Anything

The proponents of the Harbor Point Towers apartment plans raised an important question when they demanded that the County Planning Director refrain from discussion the proposition publicly in advance of a decision by the Board of Supervisors.

When the proponents threatened Mary Summers with an effort to get her fired, they raised the question of the propriety of county department heads discussing issues pending before county boards or commissions.

The question is a fair one (although we can't say the same for the manner in which it was raised).

And the answer seems to us plain and simple:

County officials should not be gagged; they should be permitted, even encouraged, to place the full facts before the public.

One of the main considerations in deciding issues before our Board of Supervisors is, quite properly, 'How do people generally feel about the question.'

If public opinion is firm — one way or the other, the Board of Supervisors ought first to know what public opinion is, and second to be guided within reasonable limits by public desires.

If public opinion is to be enlightened, we must have full public discussion of public issues. The adoption of any policy by a public agency which would forbid or even discourage presentation of facts and opinion by informed public officials should not be seriously considered for one moment.

Over a period of several years KTIM's weekly Sounding Board program has presented pro and con discussion of public questions. The result has unquestionably been for public benefit.

In the instance at hand, we were rather favorably inclined toward the proposal for tower apartments at Strawberry Point. The idea seemed to capture our fancy.

We couldn't understand Mrs. Summers' objections. Because she was intimidated, we were prevented from hearing her give them on the Sounding Board, where proponents would have had an opportunity to refute them.

Now we are in the dark.

We wonder what it was that the proponents were afraid to have her say in public.

If the Board of Supervisors asked us for advice, we would give it as follows:

1—Turn down the request of the present applicants on the grounds that they proceeded improperly.

2—Adopt a policy pronouncement proclaiming the duty and responsibility of county department heads to engage in public discussion of public questions.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

WORRY IS NOT THE ANSWER

"It is not work that kills but worry," is an old proverb worth more than passing reflection.

Too many persons allow themselves to be plagued by needless anxiety. They forget that worry never baked a cake, built a bridge, won a battle or solved a problem.

In fact mere fretting does little more than make a bad situation that much worse. As someone said with rare insight: "Worry is the interest we pay on trouble before it is due."

Rather than be tormented by futile fear that creates little more than ulcers, do what you can by prayer, word and deed to face up to challenges at home, work, school or in meeting the towering issues of our day.

God will give you all the strength you need to cope with every situation if you are motivated by faith, hope and charity.

If you do your best and leave the rest to Him, there will be little danger that you will be bogged down by the type of anxiety that frustrates but does not act.

"Seek first the kingdom of God and His justice, and all these things shall be given you besides."

(Matthew 6:33)

In You, O Lord Jesus, I place my trust for time and eternity.

Kris Kringle Owes A Lot To Tibet Whiskers Come From Yak Tails

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Santa Claus owes a lot to the Tibetan yak as well as to his reindeer. The best Kris Kringle whiskers are made from yak tail hairs.

Americans are still a restless people, even though the frontier has disappeared. One of every five U. S. families moved to a new dwelling last year.

Having trouble reading at home lately? Maybe you need stronger light bulbs. People ordinarily need more light to see by they grow older. The intensity of illumination should be nearly doubled with each 13 years of age.

White House chit-chat: The architects who designed the White House forgot to provide a laundry room, so Abigail Adams, wife of the second president strung up a clothesline in the audience chamber. Louisa Johnson. wife of President John Quincy Adams, was our only foreign-born first lady. Her birthplace was London.

Our Quotable Notables: "I don't care which side my bread is buttered on," said Will Rogers. "I eat both sides anyway."

Strange Customs: In Arabia, youths of the Bedouin desert tribes never eat in the presence of their fathers. At some meals I have the same trouble with my 7-year-old daughter.

In 1903, Orville Wright flew 120 feet in the first powered flight of an airplane. The big new modern planes now measure more than that from nose to tail.

BABEL AMONG the Birds: Scientists discovered that crows living in different sections of the country cannot understand each other. They appear to speak separate dialects—just as people do.

REMEMBER WHEN

10 YEARS AGO

Col. Warren E. Carey, director of the California Aeronautics Commission, warned that Marin County must have an airport or be "left out in the cold" in future aviation affairs. He said possibilities included Santa Venetia, Bolinas for a landing strip and Greenbrae for large airliners. (Novato wasn't mentioned.)

20 YEARS AGO

Members of the North Coast Council, California State Chamber of Commerce, proposed that the Golden Gate Bridge be taken over and operated by the federal government because of its importance as a major link in a national defense highway.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Not Enough News On Books Battle

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

As the father of a student in the Tamalpais Union High School District, I am a little surprised that the San Francisco Chronicle gives more coverage to the attempted book banning in this district than the Independent-Journal.

How great is this intellect that now wishes to judge literature? What evil have Salinger and Steinbeck reported that does not exist in life?

Should students not learn the truth? Without knowledge they obviously cannot choose between good and evil. Ignorance cannot be called virtue. Shakespeare must be the next to go, for it was he who said "The devil can cite Scripture for his purposes."

Censorship Is Dangerous To All

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I hope that I am only one of many voices raised in protest to Rev. Barkowska's suggestion that Salinger's The Catcher in the Rye and Steinbeck's Of Mice and Men be banned from Redwood High School.

It is by no means new that censorship is attempted because it offends the censor's own moral sensibilities. He, of course, then generalizes that what is good for him is good for the rest of us.

It is curious, though, that in this instance the minister has read only excerpts from the books in question because, according to the report in the I-J of Dec. 9, "The Catcher In The Rye was sickening, I couldn't read it all because of the words it uses." It is an affrontry to the intellect to condemn books on such evidence. He would, by inference, let our high school students read only material that is bland, completely inoffensive to all, mediocre, but most importantly not contrary to the minister's concept of what is moral and good for the rest of us.

He ignores the fact that these two pieces of literature have been highly regarded for their form, content and message by the general body of literary critics and thinking people for many years. They are significant pieces of literature, not to be denied to our soon-to-be-adults, but rather to be read by them, discussed and dissected with the help of their teachers, letting the individual student then decide whether or not he personally agrees or disagrees with the work.

It is such lack of self-respect for the individual's reason, morality and intellect that has led to the bland mediocrity we see about us.

Jefferson and Madison understood the dangers of such censorship, and thus the Bill of Rights included, thank God, the First Amendment. Significantly it is the first and it is one of the true bulwarks of American freedom and individual liberties. It has, of course, been tested legally by would-be censors since its inception.

The prototype of so-called obscenity legal decisions (Roth vs. U.S., 354 US 476) points out, in effect, that because a piece of literature contains some words or concepts which are abhorrent to some is no reason to deny that work the protection of the First Amendment.

The point to be recognized here is that censorship to high school students is as dangerous as it is to college students, as it is to the general population in a free society.

Church Keep Out Of Public Schools

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Your recent publication concerning the Baptist Church's censorship of "Catcher In the Rye" and "Of Mice and Men" from the reading list at Redwood High School, has made me wish to write this letter.

Has the church forgotten that religion can not enter into the field of Public Education? The church has a right to censure its own parishioners, but it has not the right to dictate what should be taught in a school where all religions are brought together.

Since these books are easily available to all people in book stores and libraries, to children and young adults, I feel that an expert teacher should help them to interpret them with the cultural customs of different areas of our country as the reason for their use.

Further, I doubt that the banning of pornographic language or the banning of its use ever made a true Christian out of anyone.

Church Lauded For Program

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

The First Presbyterian Church of San Anselmo favored Marin County on Sunday (Dec. 11) with a Baroque concert of high excellence. The Chancel Choir of the church, directed from the piano by Wilbur Russell and assisted by the organ with violins of the Marin Symphony Orchestra, sang the motet "Open to Me the Gates of Justice" and the cantata "Rejoice Beloved Christians" by Dietrich Buxtehude . . .

The Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo is very much to be commended for presenting these little known works . . .

Preservation of the values in Western Civilization is a major concern of the American people, particularly in the light of the challenge to those values which is posed by Soviet communism. We ought to try to understand the nature and sources of the heritage that we propose to defend, and Sunday's concert gave a significant view of the foundations of our way of life.

This writer, for one, hopes the church will continue such exploration into the varieties of human experience — perhaps with more publicity.

A famous pollster recently sent telegrams to a hundred of the country's leading industrialists requesting a 300-word summary on what business was likely to do in the next eight months. In transit one of the wires was garbled, and asked to give his summary in THREE words.

He complied manfully, though his effort caused some consternation in the pollster's office before he figured out what had taken place. The three-word wire read: "Go to hell."

A lady author recently moved into what is probably the tiniest house in Greenwich Village. She has to put her elbow out the window to get a dress on properly. Her publisher has given her the perfect name for this beautiful mansion: "Writer's Cramp."

It's Season For Jolly Children, Santas, Shopkeepers And Birds

It's the season to be jolly, also the season for children, men of commerce and birds.

Looking for the Christmas spirit the other day in Mill Valley, we first looked for old Claus. Past the Bank of America, all decorated, we checked at Rutherford's, all decorated. Then at Strawbridge's — full of Christmas cards.

"He just left, headed that way," we were told. "He said 'Oh-Ho-Ho'!"

FINDING THE SAINT seated out of the rain in Mosher's Shoe Shop, we joined him. His beard was wet. "Painful to comb out," he winked.

We asked him why he always said "Oh-Ho-Ho." "I don't know," he answered, "Santa Claus always says 'Oh-Ho-Ho'."

A crew-cut boy with a baseball patch sewn to his jacket approached Santa cautiously. Soon on his lap, he was asked what he wanted for Christmas.

"I don't know," he said, evidently in awestruck by his nearness to the man. Eyeing his white beard, he asked, "Can I ask you something?"

"Yes," said Claus.

"Does it feel comfortable at night to sleep—with your beard?"

"It's very warm," said Santa.

At this, Rob Everts, 4, leaped down.

DWARVES WERE sewing on buttons and repairing zippers in the snowy window of the Mill Valley Cleaners. Shopkeeper Irene Hukoveh of Novato said she had fun with preparing the window. "It sort of fell together," she said.

Christmas carols were being played in the Wells Fargo Bank American Trust Co.; Christmas stollen on sale at Meier's Bakery; the "Red Balloon" being shown for youngsters at Brown's Hall by the Homestead Valley Improvement Club.

At Santa's Toys, owner Henry Wolf said, "Perspiration is in the air." Scientific things are popular this year, he added. "Space things for boys and more microscopes being sold for girls this year than ever before."

CHILDREN HAVE always been known to be full of Christmas spirit—or spirits—since they are not so inhibited to have but a one-track mind.

In Sausalito, Marsh Boates has put up his Christmas tree again, hanging on a wire about 12 feet overhead between his father's garage and the Sausalito taxi service.

Marsh has been doing this "ever since he was that high," says taxi man Tom Rylant. "Of course, he was too small at first and so his father helped him."

SOPHISTICATES SAY Christmas is for the birds.

It's true, said Harriet Wilton of Mill Valley, who sells 900 pounds of bird seed a month and more in December. She also sells bird scratch, feeders and seed in bell shapes as Christmas gifts.

"Seems to be more birds around Christmas," she said.

Well, we confide that wherever the Christmas spirit is, you can't put your finger on it on any particular street or with any particular bird.

Kennedy Being Unjustly Criticized For Being Slow With His Cabinet

It is true that Kennedy forecast that he would complete his Cabinet by Thanksgiving. He hasn't done so.

The fact is that Kennedy is showing himself alert and prudent in taking a second look and a new approach to selecting his Cabinet in light of the unexpected closeness of the vote which has now dropped to 113,000 out of 68,333,000.

IT SEEMS TO ME that Kennedy should be praised, not criticized, for taking more time to adjust his Cabinet thinking to the unforeseeable circumstance of a country divided right down the middle over the Presidency.

It is good for Kennedy and it is good for the nation that the President-elect is in the process of shaping an administration to fit the shape of the election; that is, an administration of national consolidation.

The first appointees all reflect this objective.

As Secretary of Commerce, Luther Hodges, governor of North Carolina, is a Southern Democrat of moderate liberalism. He has been a successful business man who has met a payroll and made a profit. He knows our own economy and understands the European economy through serving as chief of the Marshall Plan in West Germany.

AS SECRETARY of Health, Education, and Welfare, Gov. Abe Ribicoff of Connecticut, though a strong partisan of Kennedy's, has been a strong bi-partisan in his public service, appealing almost equally to Republicans and Democrats.

As Secretary of the Interior, Rep. Stewart L. Udall of Arizona is a dedicated conservationist in the Theodore Roosevelt tradition and a practical liberal He wants to see more government in the development of our power resources but does not wish to freeze private power out.

As Secretary of Defense, 44-year-old Robert S. McNamara, president of the Ford Motor Company, a registered Republican and a political independent, will bring great drive and outstanding executive talent to the Pentagon.

As Secretary of State, Dean Rusk, president of the Rockefeller Foundation and former Assistant Secretary of State, is young, vigorous, and experienced in diplomacy. He has a good objective mind. He knows what Soviet and Chinese Communism are up to in the world. He is aware that what the free world does in its own behalf will be far more decisive than what it tries to do against Communism.

THE NON-APPOINTMENT of either Adlai Stevenson or Chester Bowles as Secretary of State reveals as much about the kind of Administration which Kennedy is shaping as does the appointment of Rusk. The naming of either would have plunged Kennedy into unwise controversy at the very start.

They will both hold high and useful positions as U.N. Ambassador and as Under Secretary of State. But they will be positions from which they can make major recommendations, not make major decisions.

Kennedy is creating a Cabinet designed to unite a divided electorate in order to win support for what he believes most needs to be done.

Teen-Agers Are Temperamental, But So Were We At Their Age

Teen-agers are temperamental. Have you noticed?

Here's Mary, 15. This morning she was in the clouds. Her boy friend phoned her before breakfast. She danced around the house. She sang. Her food tasted wonderful. She kissed the whole family goodbye and went happily to school.

This afternoon? She's in the dumps. She got a bad grade on a test. Her favorite teacher bawled her out. Her boy friend was too busy playing tennis to walk her home. The world is awful. Nobody loves her. Everyone expects too much.

Mary goes to her room and cries and cries.

Is Mary abnormal? No.

Most girls are that way, at 15. So are boys. Maybe at 3 p.m. they're quite grown up. They seem industrious, sensible, honest, careful of other folks' feelings.

Then at 4 p.m. they seem to be babies. Or they're lazy, foolish, deceitful, careless.

One minute they obey, respectfully. The next minute they rebel, resentfully. You never know what to expect.

Why the changes? Probably it's because civilization is hard on them. They feel grown up. Every internal drive is for independence. They want all the freedom of adulthood. But they still are children.

They can't marry. They can't get jobs and establish their own homes. They must go to school. They must take orders. They're thwarted a thousand times a week.

So they react by being temperamental and neurotic. We were the same at their age. Remember?

(Q) "I saw my daughter necking with her boy friend in his car. They were too busy to hear me approaching. I was shocked. She said all the girls necked nowadays. Do they?"

P.R.S.

(A) No. However, a larger percentage of them neck than did when we were in high school. It is one of the bad trends in teen-age life. Try to show her that necking is risky and wrong.

RESEARCHER SAYS:

Babies Costly, But Girls Are Cheaper

By BETTY BAUER

ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI)—Everyone knows that babies are costly, but here's something that may come as a surprise. Girl babies are cheaper than boy babies.

Many young couples who are having their first child usually guide themselves by the old household rule that a boy baby costs less because he requires less fancy frills, cute decorations and extra clothing than a little girl.

But not so, says Louise Archbold, who did quite a bit of research on the problem working on her master's degree at the State College of Home Economics at Cornell University.

Miss Archbold surveyed the arrival of 50 "first bundles of heaven" here and found they cost a total of $33,934. That, she said, broke down to an average of $678 per baby, including gifts, medical and hospital insurance, what the expectant mother buys—or makes.

Thus, for example, an even seven-pounder (babies usually weigh in at first in fractions) would be worth almost $97 a pound.

Miss Archbold turned to current mail order catalogue prices to figure the dollar value of infant goods and furnishings, plus mama's maternity outfits. She also counted up the usual gifts, borrowed cribs and things the expectant parents—frequently, a mother-to-be who knits—make at home.

The average dollar outlay per boy, she found, broke down to: $79 purchased; $133 gifts; $31 borrowed; $12 home-produced.

On that basis, a girl costs a little less, or about $235. Miss Archbold said she can't explain why.

Miss Archbold also reported finding:

Younger and less well educated families have larger baby-care inventories.

Younger parents received more gifts.

Student families bought less but made more baby things.

Toys led the special gifts received by babies, she said, but there were exceptions.

In her research, Miss Archbold found one infant — or new mother—who enjoyed a gift of the services of a practical nurse for two weeks.

There also was a baby who received a heifer from his grandparents.

"My father's hobby is farming," he baby's mother told Miss Archbold. "Every time he learns of an addition to the family-to-be he selects one of his choice calves and fattens same."

The mother said that the parents can either leave the animal on the farm for the child or have it sent to market.

"We chose the market and the baby received a check for the amount it brought," she said. "However, all is not lost when the money is spent. When the baby is 5 years old he, personally, will receive a heifer from grandpa."

Birds Can't Smell Well? Untrue, Says Biologist

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI) — Scientist Betsy Garrett Bang has been having some very close looks into the noses of birds and she can't understand why science keeps on insisting birds have little if any sense of smell.

A whole host of amateur birds students who are not scientific but have eyes in their heads will go along with that. Farmers have always insisted crows smell out newly seeded corn fields. Gardeners often figure the nose attracts jays to freshly seeded lawns in such large numbers.

It's true most birds have no exterior noses, certainly none to speak of. Miss Garrett went into the interior noses of turkey vultures, oil birds and black-footed albatrosses with dissecting knives and under the dissecting microscope and was astonished by what she found.

This was because she didn't have the bird sense of smell in mind at first. She is a biologist at John Hopkins University, Baltimore, engaged in disease defense research and was looking for chemical defenses in bird nasal tissues against lung disease.

But she kept thinking of what she had read in the scientific literature that birds were poor smellers. These were very fine noses, indeed, rich in sensitive tissue, and well equipped with nerve ends which presumably were capable of conveying the meanings of chemical reactions — which are the basis of the sense of smell — from noses to bird brains.

She looked up what well-trained observers have observed about these three kinds of birds, and discovered they were agreed that all three not only could smell but could smell so well they lived by their noses.

Turkey vultures had been observed many times in the brightening dawn soaring high on air currents. As the warming earth sent heat waves upward, the smell of prey (which for vultures is carrion) reached their nostrils. Or at least it seemed that way because the birds dove in a bee-line for the prey as though guided by their noses.

The oil bird is a nocturnal bird of Trinidad. Like the bat, it depends upon its sense of hearing to get about in the dark. But its observers have been convinced its sense of smell is indispensable, particularly to lead it to the ripening fruits upon which it lives.

One observer experimented with albatrosses from the fantail of a ship. He dumped paint scum overboard and not one of the circling birds showed any interest. He dumped hot bacon fat overboard and down swooped the birds. This observer certainly thought they had smelled the bacon.

Science at best is contradictory, she said. Anatomical scientists have pointed out before that some species have good noses so far as equipment goes. But psychologists in seeking to prove experimentally either that birds can smell or can't smell, ignored the anatomists.

They used birds whom the anatomists know were "feebly equipped" in noses, such as pigeons, she said. And this has kept the canard alive in text books that birds generally aren't nose-wise.

Scores Wanted In Music Contest

Musical scores are now being accepted by the San Francisco Conservatory of Music in the second annual ASCAP Award for Composition contest.

The composition is conducted in memory of the late composer-conductor Ernest Bloch, father of Mrs. Lucienne Bloch Dimitroff, Mill Valley artist and business woman.

Applicants must be 25 years of age or younger and must reside in one of the 13 western states. Deadline for the submission for scores for judging is May 1.

The scholarship at stake, made possible by the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, entitles the winner to a year of composition study at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music.

N. Bay Span Notes 10 Millionth Toll

More than 10 million passenger vehicles have crossed the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge since its opening four years ago, reports bridge engineer Howard C. Wood.

There were 10,805,707 passenger vehicles, 1,579,102 trucks and 11,106 buses that used the span since Sept. 1, 1956, Wood said.

Weather Man Tells Trials Of His Trade

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Figuring California's weather often is like trying to identify the murderer in a who-done-it with the last 100 pages missing.

William Denney, a U. S. Weather Bureau district forecaster here, said the single most important factor in anticipating winter deluges, spring frosts and summer fire conditions is the Pacific high.

The high pressure system usually is located about 1,000 miles off the West Coast. Because of its strength and intensity, the pressure system's movements can determine whether sports shirts or rain coats or overcoats will be the dress of the day.

But information on the system comes to the forecasters indirectly and incompletely.

Reports on offshore conditions come from Navy radar picket ships, Air Force jets, moving vessels and shore radar. Forecasters take the sometimes conflicting, often inadequate information and combine it with one part experience, one part instinct and one part guesswork to make their predictions.

Forecasters need fairly detailed information on Pacific storms to predict how fast they will move and whether they will lose their punch against the coastal mountains or continue inland.

"Much of this information is critical at certain times of year," Denney said. "We have a special section here dealing with fire weather during the summer and fall. Besides watching over-all fire conditions like humidity and the temperature, we look for thunderstorms in the Sierra which account for a large number of forest fires reported in the state."

Other special sections watch the movement of the Pacific weather conditions to warn farmers of spring and fall frosts or to alert disaster agencies when floods threaten.

Denney indicated that sometimes when cloudbursts hit on the days when fair skies have been forecast, it is due to a lack of knowledge within the science of meteorology itself.

But he adds that the sometimes wandering, sometimes mysterious Pacific high is the real cause of many forecasting misfires and rained out picnics.

Musical Revue Canceled For Yule

Because of the Christmas holidays, there will be no performances of the musical revue, "Whoops!", at the Gate Playhouse in Sausalito this weekend.

The final performance of the children's play, "Pinocchio," is scheduled for Saturday at 2:30 p.m., however.

Performances of "Whoops!" will resume Dec. 30, and there will be a New Year's Eve performance. Sunday evening presentations have been discontinued, however, and the revue will be seen on Friday and Saturday nights only starting at 8:30.

The next children's theater attraction at the Gate, "Hansel and Gretel," will open Jan. 7 at 2:30 p.m.

Science Shrinks Piles
New Way Without Surgery
Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

Wives Seeking $1 Million For Lost AF Husbands

The wives of two Marin airmen who disappeared on a secret polar flight last year are suing the Stanford Research Institute and the Mystrom Aviation Co. for one million dollars.

The suit was filed by Mrs. Burass Smith of 834 Meadowsweet Drive, Corte Madera, and Mrs. Philip Gray of 990 Redwood Highway, Mill Valley.

They state that their husbands communicated with the home offices regularly about trouble with their plane and were denied permission to have the engine changed before continuing.

MARIN BUSINESS And INDUSTRY

(A Thrice-Weekly Column)

By HARRY CRAFT

Harvard Student Investigating Bay Job Possibilities For Classmates

John Sevier, son of Randolph Sevier, president of Matson Navigation Co., returned home from Harvard for the holiday season, but in making the trip he was also the special emissary of 36 members of the 1961 graduating class of the Harvard School of Business to investigate employment opportunities in the Bay Area.

Sevier will contact civic organizations, clubs, banks and businessmen and distribute resumes of the 35 men and one woman looking for jobs. Most members of the group then plan to visit here during April and June to be interviewed by companies that have indicated possible interest.

The procedure is part of the small business program started two years ago by Harvard students wishing to work in specific areas for companies not large enough to do their own recruiting in Boston.

Sevier was graduated from Stanford University in 1956 and received his master of science degree in petroleum engineering the following year. He will complete his business administration work at Harvard in June.

PERHAPS SOME of these young people will eventually settle in Marin County. The market for Marin homes is a wide one and includes many employees and businessmen transferred to the Bay Area—but they often like to line up a place to live before they move.

Marin realty dealer Don Geddes, with offices throughout the county, realized this about 18 months ago and took out a franchise with the Arms Institute of St. Louis for personalized brochures on many of his choice listings which are distributed to other Arms agents throughout the country. The organization works in close contact with North American Van Lines in a joint "house hunting" program.

Geddes, who has an exclusive franchise for the service here, admits that the service is a costly one to his office but has turned up results which justify the expense.

AND SPEAKING OF MOVING, one more link in an increasing trend toward unifying common interests between Marin and Sonoma Counties seems to have appeared in the formation of a new association among moving firms of the two areas.

Tentatively known as the North Bay Movers Assn., it held an organizational dinner at Bermuda Palms last week attended by more than a score of moving men from the two counties, eight transportation officers from Hamilton Air Force Base and president W. F. Goines Jr. of the California Moving and Storage Assn.

Under new directives confining moving services for Hamilton Field personnel to carriers with authorized agents in Marin and Sonoma, local movers have been receiving a greater share of this business since Dec. 1.

Next meeting of the association is scheduled for Jan. 13 at Cloud 5 in Novato, at which time officers will be nominated. Some thought is being given to an affiliation with the California Moving and Storage Assn.

A DINNER at San Francisco's Palace Hotel last Wednesday night sponsored by the Bay Cities Savings and Loan League for its Bay Area members and other saving and loan executives between the Tehachipis and the Oregon border was well attended by representatives from Marin.

Sen. Clair Engle, guest speaker, spoke on the responsibility of lending institutions during the 1960s. He said the savings and loan industry packs the largest single wallop in mortgage financing in the country and should provide leadership in bringing more research and development to the housing field.

Attending from Marin County were Judge and Mrs. Jordan L. Martinelli, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Enemark, John Ryan, Mrs. Lila Haberman, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Dearth, Dr. and Mrs. Earle M. Young, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene A. Ostaggi and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Craemer.

SCOUTS GET OWN CALENDARS

Cub Scouts Lennie Freeman and Jim Underhill unpack Boy Scout calendars, while Boy Scout Jim Underhill tacks one on wall of Scout Hall. The calendars are sponsored by Northwestern Savings and Loan Assn., which has sponsored them in Marin each year for 22 years. There's one for every scout.

At Fresno College

Bianchis Feturn From Mexico Tour

Mr. and Mrs. Al Bianchi of Pt. Reyes were among 170 California Farm Bureau members and their wives who returned last week from a two-weeks goodwill tour through Mexico followed by a week at the American Farm Bureau convention in Denver.

The goodwill visit, which was made by special train, centered around the areas of Monterrey, Saltillo, Mexico City and Torreon and marked the fifth and largest such exchange between Mexico's agricultural people and members of the California federation.

The Californians took with them fourteen seedling Monterey pine trees which were ceremoniously planted at each stop to commemorate friendship between California and Mexican agricultural people.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Losing On Market Sell Now, Cut Levy

By PETER J. WIKEL, CPA

Do you have stock market losses? If so, then consider selling the stocks now and using the loss to reduce your tax.

Warning! Do not purchase like or similar stock within 30 days before or 30 days after the sale. If you do, the loss is not allowable.

Peter J. Wikel

Here is how to figure capital gains and losses. If you have held the asset for more than six months the gain or loss is "long term" and if you have held the asset six months or less the gain or loss is "short term."

Short term gains are taxed as ordinary income but only 50 per cent of long term gains are taxed. Also, if your taxable income is more than $18,000 for a single person or $36,000 for a married couple you should use the alternative tax computation for capital gains and pay only 25 per cent of the total amount of your long term capital gains as tax.

You add all your long term gains and deduct all your long term losses.

Then add all your short term gains and deduct all your short term losses.

If you have a long term gain and a short term gain you compute the tax on each separately.

If you have long term gains and short term losses you deduct the short term losses from the long term gains and compute the tax on the remainder as long term gains.

If you have long term losses and short term gains, you deduct the long term losses from the short term gains and include the remainder as ordinary income.

If you have more losses than gains, or only losses, then you can use the loss to offset ordinary income up to $1,000.

Capital losses, either long or short term, are deductible in full from capital gains. They are deductible up to $1,000 from ordinary income in any one year. If your loss amounts to more than $1,000 it can be carried over and treated as a short term capital loss in succeeding years. You can deduct $1,000 each year for the next five years. If your loss amounts to that much.

Your loss can be deducted in full from capital gains in any year that you have capital gains.

Flames Turn Girl Into Human Torch

By JOHN CHAMBERS

Flames turned a 13-year-old Loch Lomond girl into a human torch yesterday as she cooked Sunday breakfast for her parents.

Blonde Ann McDonald Lamler, enveloped in a mass of fire, ran screaming through her house at 35 Locksly Lane.

Her father, marine engineer Philip Lemler, 60, leaped from his bed and rolled the girl on the rug.

"She was just a bundle of flames," Lemler said. "I had to rip the clothes off her body."

Both the girl and her father were in San Rafael General Hospital today. Doctors said 30 per cent of the girl's body was covered with first, second and third degree burns. Her condition was listed as serious.

Lemler, with both hands swathed in bandages covering second and third degree burns, told this story last night:

"Ann must have gotten up about 8:15 a.m.—we don't usually go to church until 10 o'clock—and came into our bedroom telling us to stay in bed. She said 'I'll fix breakfast for you."

The girl pulled a flannel bed jacket over her pajamas and went into the kitchen. She whipped up a batch of scrambled eggs, set them on the table

U.S. Space Capsule Fired Successfully

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The United States successfully rocketed an unmanned model of its man-in-space capsule 130 miles high today and recovered it intact from the Atlantic 235 miles away.

The shot was an important prelude to launching an American astronaut on a similar flight planned within a few months.

The astronauts training to be first Americans in space all were on hand to see today's shot.

The successful launching capped three disappointing ones that set the program back.

The National Aernoutics and Space Administration announced 50 minutes after launching that a helicopter from the aircraft carrier Valley Forge took the one-ton capsule from the ocean at 11:46 a.m., 31 minutes after it was launched atop an 83-foot Redstone missile.

The bell-shaped capsule was sighted about 90 miles northeast of Grand Bahama Island shortly after it completed its 16-minute, 4,000 mile-an-hour flight. A fleet of ships, planes and helicopters sped immediately to the scene.

The capsule will be returned to Cape Canaveral for intensive study to determine how well it stood the trip.

A chimpanzee is scheduled to ride a Redstone-boosted capsule over an identical course within two months. If the chimpanzee's ride is perfect, an astronaut will take the same trip, probably in April or May. Manned orbital flights using a similar capsule will follow.

Official Says Crashed Jet Off Course

NEW YORK (AP)—A Civil Aeronautics Board official said today that the United Air Lines jet involved in Friday's airliner collision "should not have been over Staten Island."

Philip Goldstein, chief of the safety investigation division of the CAB, refused to say definitely that the jet from Chicago was "off course" at the time it collided with a Trans World Airlines plane, but added: "You can construe it as that."

The UAL plane in a "true radar vector from the Preston (N. J.) holding pattern," Goldstein said, "should not have been over Staten Island."

KIDNAPER PUTS VICTIM ON YULE CARD LIST

Last Aug. 18, ex-convict William (Dugie) Williams entered the Bank of America in Point Reyes Station, pointed a sawed-off shotgun at teller Betty Adams, forced her to put $14,300 in a bag, then kidnaped bank manager Atlantic L. Cencio, later dumping him from the getaway car in Samuel P. Taylor State Park.

It's Official: Kennedy Is U.S. President

WASHINGTON (UPI)—John F. Kennedy today was elected president of the United States—officially. His election became official when he received a majority of the electoral votes cast by 537 presidential electors who met in 50 state capitals today.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Electoral College today was making official the election of Sen. John F. Kennedy to the presidency.

Illinois' 27 electoral votes were cast for Kennedy about noon. So ended, apparently, any lingering hopes by some Republicans that the big state might be switched to the Richard M. Nixon column.

The first reports showed all electors voting according to the popular vote in their state. Tennessee's Republican electors cast the state's 11 ballots for Nixon, ignoring a telegraphed plea from an Oklahoman to vote instead for Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) for president and Sen. Barry M. Goldwater (R-Ariz.) for vice president.

Chairman Roy A. Powell of the South Carolina electoral group said he had received some "crackpot correspondence" urging the state's eight electoral votes be withheld from Kennedy. But he told his colleagues "I hope you haven't been influenced." The South Carolina vote was cast for Kennedy.

After electors from seven of the 50 states had concluded their business, Kennedy had 43 electoral votes, Nixon 31.

By tonight, after the last of the 50 separate meetings of state electors in their respective capitals, there should be no doubt about the Democratic candidate's title.

Flames Sweep Giant Carrier, Trapping Shipyard Workers

At Least 32 Dead; Hundreds Injured

NEW YORK (UPI)—A huge fire exploded through the Navy's newest and largest aircraft carrier, the Constellation, at a Brooklyn Navy pier today, killing more than a score of shipyard workers, trapping many others below blistering decks and forcing some to leap for their lives in the icy East River.

At least 32 persons were killed and as many more were reported missing. Hundreds were injured.

Firemen, fighting dense smoke and a snowstorm that forced use of huge searchlights at midafternoon, boarded fireboats and cut holes in the side of the 275-million-dollar vessel in an effort to reach trapped men desperately tapping on the bulkheads for help as the fire raged overhead.

10-ALARM BLAZE

The 10-alarm blaze was the worst New York pierside disaster since the French luxury liner Nomandie overturned in 1942.

The Constellation, believed the largest movable mechanical object ever built, was in the last stages of construction. Some 3,000 workers were readying it for sea duty when the fire erupted at 10:30 a.m.

The Navy said a fork-lift punctured a tank of jet fuel on the hangar deck, spewing the fuel on the deck. The stream of fuel came in contact with hot metal, causing an explosion. The fuel was being used to flush out hydraulic lines aboard the ship.

PLUME OF SMOKE

The fire roared through the hangar deck measuring a fifth of a mile long, ripping through wooden scaffolding and exploding tanks of acetylene used for welding. A towering plume of smoke rose in the grey, snow-filled skies overhead.

Three hours after the fire started, it suddenly flared out with new force. Alarm after alarm brought every available piece of fire-fighting equipment to the scene, including fireboats and borrowed equipment from neighboring communities.

As tons of water were poured aboard the huge ship it began to list four degrees to the starboard side, nearest to the pier, creating a new peril for those trapped and firemen alike. Fire Commissioner Edward J. Cavanagh said he would order firemen off the ship if it listed one more degree.

SEACOCKS OPENED

The Navy then ordered the seacocks on the port side opened. Enough sea water rushed into the ballast tanks to settle the Constellaton on an even keel and prevent a repetition of the Normandie fire, when firemen battling the blaze poured so much water into the liner that the vessel capsized.

Cavanagh called every available doctor to the dockside scene, which was jammed with at least 40 fire trucks, 25 to 30 ambulances, and other emergency equipment.

Fire trucks extended aerial ladders up to the flight deck of the the flattop 60 feet above the water. On the other side of the ship, fireboats added their streams of water to those of the trucks pouring water from shore.

HOSPITAL MIXUP

Hub Couple Wins Race With Stork

The Alexander A. Rallis of 230 Brookside Drive, San Anselmo, had a healthy seven-pound, seven-ounce boy today after a stork race that involved two law enforcement agencies and two hospitals.

There was some dispute as to why the baby was not born at Marin General Hospital, where the parents were escorted in a hurry yesterday by Officer Alan Perry of San Anselmo police. The infant arrived several hours later at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco.

The race started at 10:45 a.m. when Ralli, an Alcoholic Beverage Control Department agent, telephoned San Anselmo police from his home to say his wife, Zoya, was expecting momentarily, and ask a police escort to the hospital.

Officer Perry obliged. His police car and Ralli's car screamed up to Marin General Hospital in Greenbrae. But moments later, Ralli and wife reappeared to report the hospital had refused to accept Mrs. Ralli because it had no room.

Officer Perry then escorted the Rallis to the Sir Francis Drake Boulevard-Highway 101 intersection and radioed the California Highway Patrol that they would be heading in a hurry for San Francisco—to beat the stork.

They arrived safely at Kaiser Foundation Hospital; and the stork, in less of a hurry than the Rallis, arrived also—at 3:49 p.m. Mother and son were doing well today, reported a Kaiser spokesman.

S. Ames Pence, Marin General Hospital administrator, said there was no record of the Rallis' appearance at the hospital, beds were available yesterday, and he did not understand why Mrs. Ralli was turned away—if she was.

LAST ITEM ON AGENDA

Tam Board To Hear Book Issue Tonight

Supporters and opponents of Rev. Michael Barkowska's campaign to remove two books from Redwood High School's approved reading list are expected to crowd the Tamalpais Union High School District board meeting at 8 p.m. today in the administration building on the Redwood campus in Larkspur.

The issue of whether John Steinbeck's "Of Mice and Men" and J. D. Salinger's "The Catcher in the Rye" belong on the high school shelves probably will be the last item on the board agenda.

It will come before the board under "correspondence," which business. Rev. Barkowska's letter demanding that the two books be removed because they bring reproach upon the name of God" and a petition expressing opposition to use of the two books will be read. Seven ministers, in addition to Rev. Barkowska, have signed the petition, which bears 46 names in all.

The meeting will be held in the board auditorium as usual, but more chairs are being placed in the room and will be set up in the hall if a large crowd turns up to hear the controversial topic discussed.

The board has received requests for time to speak on the issue from Milen Dempster, chairman of the Marin chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union, and Rev. Gordon Foster of the Mill Valley Community Church, both in protest to Rev. Barowska's stand.

The Tamalpais board's book selection "policy and procedures" provides that all criticisms must be presented in writing and include the author, title, publisher, page number of each item to which objection is made, reasons for the objections and signature.

When this has been done, the material in question is reviewed by a board of five persons, some of whom are teachers and other residents of the district.

The board, after hearing Rev. Barkowska and others speak on the subject, may turn the matter over to this review board. The district superintendent selects the review board, subject to approval of the trustees. The review board reports to the superintendent after completing its work.

Rev. Barkowska, pastor of Larkspur's Calvary Baptist Church, has said he is "opposed to any books using God's

Top Congress Demos Huddle With Kennedy

With his 10-member Cabinet now selected, Kennedy arranged to spend more time on the new frontiers blueprint for laws and the budget plans he will send to 87th Congress shortly after his inauguration Jan. 20.

For discussion of the program Kennedy called to his ocean-front home Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the vice president-elect; House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas; and Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, slated to succeed Johnson as Senate majority leader in the Democratic-ruled Congress.

Planners Hear First Arguments On Big County Rezoning Proposal

A dozen Marin County property owners, mostly from the Nicasio area, backed the proposal to rezone all county areas now under interim zoning at its first hearing today before the Marin County Planning Commission.

But a strong two-page letter of opposition was put in by attorney A. E. Bagshaw on behalf of the Smith Brothers, owners of several ranches in north and central Marin. Whereas the "pro" letters mainly expressed approval of one-acre lot sizes, Bagshaw had several specific criticisms.

Dr. William Upton pointed out that there would be no action today. The matter was set as the first 9 a.m. item of the Jan. 23 agenda.

Bagshaw's letter said most of the rural areas proposed for A-1 "rural residential district" rezoning won't be subdivided for many years, "some probably never," but "these areas would have to comply with this minimum one-acre lot size forever hereafter."

In his experience, Bagshaw went on, once such a minimum has been established, even under the guise of a holding zone, "a precedent has been established and it will be an uphill fight to obtain any modification of that minimum lot size."

Bagshaw cited some property scheduled at Gallinas for light industrial zoning and said the demand for this has been so small that it is doubtful the land will ever be so developed.

"It is my clients' preference," said Bagshaw, "that their lands remain in their present interim zoning until such time as trends clearly indicate their highest and best use . . . at which time precise zoning can be obtained."

It was pointed out that Smith Brothers now have a private airport on their Santa Venetia ranch and they especially object to a provision against use of A-1 property for airports, clubs and other recreational uses without a use permit since "practically every ranch in Marin County is used by hunting clubs of which the owners are members."

Endorsers of the proposed zoning included George F. Rogers, Nicasio dairy ranch owner of more than 1,000 acres.

Delay was asked by Carl Brown of Associated Home Builders of Marin, supported by Hugh Marchant of the Marin County Real Estate Board, asking time for study and discussion with the planning staff.

Witnesses Of N.Y. Disaster Quizzed

NEW YORK (AP)—Two teams of federal investigators started intensive questioning today of at least 10 persons who claim they actually saw Friday's airliner collision—worst in aviation history.

Other investigators checked the possibility that the United Air Lines DC-8 jet involved had overshot the point at which it was to begin flying a rectangular "holding pattern" prior to its intended landing at Idlewild Airport.

As the Civil Aeronautics Board pressed its inquiry, the exact total of dead still could not be determined.

PLANE VICTIMS

All 128 persons on the jet and on the plane that collided with it, a Trans World Airlines Super Constellation, were killed. Five other persons were known to have perished on the ground in Brooklyn, where the jet plane crashed and at least two more were missing and probably dead.

The total of 135 had fluctuated because police were unable to learn the whereabouts of all those believed to be tenants of the buildings smashed and burned by the jet plane. In at least one case, a man thought missing in the crash turned out to have recently moved from the address without his neighbor's knowledge.

FLIGHT RECORDER

While the inquiry moved ahead in New York, a flight recorder recovered from the jet in Brooklyn was on its way to its manufacturer in California. There it will be given a detailed analysis under CAB supervision.

CAB agents were skeptical when residents of Staten Island and Brooklyn first reported that they had seen the planes collide Friday morning.

Weather experts had testified that the ceiling at the time was no more than 600 feet, and ground visibility was about a mile. Both airplanes were supposed to have been flying at 5,000 feet.

RIFT IN CLOUDS?

But there was the possibility of a rift in the clouds in the area of the collision.

CAB inspectors are looking into the possibility that the jet, inbound from Chicago, never entered the racetrack-shaped holding pattern it had been instructed to follow.

The jet and the Constellation were both flying on instruments, and both were supposed to circle in their respective holding patterns until it was their turn to land—the jet at Idlewild, the TWA plane at La Guardia. The patterns were spaced miles apart.

Failure of the jet to turn into its holding pattern, however, would have brought it on a straight line into the Staten Island area where investigators believe the collision occurred. The Constellation's pattern was partly over Staten Island.

Officials Fear Higher Toll In Munich Crash

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Police today feared an increase in the death toll of the air disaster that plunged this Bavarian capital into mourning over the weekend.

Forty-nine persons were known to have been killed after a U. S. Air Force transport plunged into a downtown street Saturday, exploded in flames and turned a crowded street car into a blazing mass of twisted wreckage.

IDENTIFICATION HARD

Forty-eight charred bodies were recovered from the wreckage and another victim died in a hospital. The condition of the bodies made identification difficult. Police appealed to all Munich families to report if any relatives had failed to return home.

It was learned yesterday that a U. S. Army private, previously not listed among the dead, was hitchhiking a ride to London aboard the plane and was killed in the crash. He was Pfc. Elvin I. Sherman, 20, of Linden, N. J.

All 20 Americans aboard the plane were killed.

COLLEGE STUDENTS

Twelve were students at the University of Maryland's Union College here, children of U. S. military personnel. They were bound for a holiday reunion with their parents in Britain.

The tragic task of identifying the German dead was left to friends and relatives.

President Eisenhower sent a message of condolence to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. Adenauer replied with an expression of condolence to the families of the American dead.

Munich's Lord Mayor Hans Jochen Vogel ordered the city into mourning until Christmas. Theaters were asked to cancel performances. No public dancing will be permitted.

Motorboat Owners To Need Numbers

Motorboat owners must have regulation identification numbers on their boats, Adm. Alfred C. Richmond of Washington, D.C., Coast Guard Commandant, warned today.

Identification numbers must be at least three inches high and made in block characters. They must be in a color that contrasts with the background color, the admiral said.

The number must be placed on each side of the forward half of the boat as near the stem as practicable so that it can be seen readily.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

ROK Defectors Caught

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI)—Thirty-six would-be Korean defectors, who failed in a dash for Communist China were returned today to the southwestern port of Mokpo where they began their abortive flight.

They were turned over to ROK navy authorities late last night by Japanese patrol boats in a transfer at sea. Also returned were crew members of a ROK fishing vessel they had hijacked at gunpoint.

Authorities said the would-be defectors, led by a junior high school teacher, would be investigated and punished.

Old Engines Back

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP)—British Railways suddenly withdrew their slick six-weeks old electric trains from Glasgow's suburban line yesterday and announced the old steam engines which have been running for generations would be put back in service.

The railways said 44.8 million dollars worth of electric equipment is going back to the manufacturers "to remedy certain defects."

Train Blows Up

BENTON, Ark. (AP)—Work crews today began clearing the debris from a train derailment which erupted into flames after an explosion Saturday at nearby Traskwood.

The town's 200 residents, grateful the blast had caused only one serious injury, turned to repairing shattered homes. Sixteen other persons suffered minor injuries. Cause of the explosion is still unknown.

Compacts Costing

ALBANY (UPI)—The increasing popularity of compact cars among New York motorists is decreasing the state revenue by three million dollars a year, the State Tax Commission estimates.

The commission said the losses came from smaller returns from motor fuel taxes and a drop in revenue from registration fees.

East Shivering

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Temperatures dropped sharply across the snow-covered sections of the east and northern Midwest today. It was near zero in some mountain areas in New England and Pennsylvania.

New Berlin Threat

An editorial in Neues Deutschland, the official Communist Party newspaper, declared that unless a new trade pact is signed this month between West and East Germany, all agreements on traffic to Berlin will become invalid on Jan. 1.

Ex-Pilot Caught

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Police early today arrested a former Air Force pilot who took part in the World War II atomic bomb raids on Japan and held him for return to a Veterans Administration hospital.

The former pilot is Claude R. Eatherly, 41, of Van Alstyne, Tex. He disappeared Nov. 22 from the V. A. hospital at Waco, Tex. where he was a mental patient. Eatherly piloted one of the B-29 bombers which flew reconnaissance for the planes dropping A-bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki in Japan.

Engine Plays Yo-Yo

PLACERVILLE (AP)—The Camino, Placerville and Lake Tahoe's Railroad's three-car train was hauling woodchips down a grade when the brakes let loose. Eugineer Jack Williams and switchman Curtis Pierce shoved it in reverse and jumped off when it hit 50 miles an hour.

The cars broke loose and derailed. The engine kept going. It stopped finally and started back into its own wrecked cars. But Williams and Pierce clambered back aboard to stop ti. Both were shaken up.

Boy Electrocuted

SARATOGA (AP)—Gary Long Jr., 14, of San Jose was electrocuted yesterday while flying a model plane. The control line of a gasoline-driven airplane he was piloting came into contact with a 12,000-volt power line.

34 Die In Fires

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

A United Press International count showed at least 34 persons burned to death or fatally injured in fires since Saturday night. At least eight of the victims were children.

Florida and Texas each recorded six fire deaths. Four persons died in Kentucky, three in Missouri, two each in Illinois, Nebraska, Minnesota, Michigan, Maine and Georgia, and one each in California, New Hampshire and Oklahoma.

High Toll Feared

CHICAGO (AP)—As many as 510 deaths may result from traffic accident during the 78-hour Christmas weekend unless motorists and pedestrians exercise extra caution, the National Safety Council estimated today.

The death toll could be reduced substantially, the council said, if special care is taken to observe rules of safe driving and safe walking. "Speeding and alcohol remain the chief accomplices in traffic deaths," said Howard Pyle, council president.

Tax Exemption Plan

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Assemblyman Frank Luckel (R-San Diego) plans to introduce in the 1961 legislature a bill to exempt state cigarette tax from state and federal income taxes.

Luckel yesterday said many states have passed such legislation. He said Californians now are required to pay a tax on tax in connection with cigarettes.

Did Machine Help Kennedy In Campaign?

NEW YORK (UPI)—A secretly designed robot campaign strategist nicknamed a "people machine" was said today to have been put to work by President-elect John F. Kennedy's top advisers to suggest alternative methods of influencing the voters.

The people machine, an electronic model of the electorate's thinking processes, digested a mass of mathematical data fed into an IBM 704 computer and poured forth advice on how to handle the religious, foreign policy and other issues.

Thomas B. Morgan, hired by the developers of the people machine as an editorial consultant, said in the January Harper's magazine that Kennedy's brother Robert, his campaign manager, put the people machine to work on Aug. 11. The machine's reports on suggested alternative campaign tactics were produced in 14 days at a cost of $18,000.

THE VOTE THAT COUNTS

Presidential Electors Cast Ballots Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 537 persons who compose the Electoral College met in the 50 states today to cast the presidential vote that really counts.

There is no doubt that the electors will name Democrat John F. Kennedy. But the size of his margin still is uncertain.

An 11th hour partial recount switched Hawaii from the column of Republican Richard M. Nixon to the column of Kennedy by 55 votes. A circuit judge has indicated he now will order a recount of all the state's precincts.

Counting Hawaii's three votes for Kennedy and barring unforseen defections of some electors—who are only morally bound to support the winner of the popular vote in their states—the count at the end of the day should be:

Kennedy 303.

Nixon 220.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) 14.

At least 269 votes are needed to win.

Byrd was not a candidate, but he now is the choice of six of Alabama's 11 Democratic electors and all of Mississippi's 8. The 14 ran unpledged on Nov. 8.

Kennedy won the popular vote in the closest presidential race in 76 years. He carried 23 states for a total national margin of about 113,000 votes. Nixon won 26 states. Unpledged electors carried Mississippi.

But Kennedy's electoral margin was a comfortable 34 more than needed of the votes that decide an election. Winner of a state's popular vote, even if the margin is a single vote, gets that state's entire electoral vote. There are exceptions. In Alabama, for example, the Democratic Party did not put up a full slate of electors pledged to Kennedy this year. Instead, the Democratic slate of 11 electors had six unpledged and five pledged to Kennedy.

Because of the closeness of the 1960 election and threats of some electors to ignore the popular mandate, various reform measures will be offered in the new Congress meeting Jan. 3. Efforts to abolish the Electoral College system have failed in the past.

The 537 electors met in their state capitals at various times during the day, ranging from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

California's 32 electors, including Mary Ellen Irwin of San Rafael, who represents the First Congressional District, met in Sacramento this morning for preliminary discussions, were guests at an official luncheon and then were meeting at 2 p.m. to cast their 32 electoral votes for Nixon.

Selassie Forces Hunt Down Remaining Ethiopia Rebels

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie's loyal army today hunted rebel imperial guards who fled to the mountains after an abortive attempt to dethrone the 68-year-old monarch.

Army patrols marched through the streets of Addis Ababa and air force patrol planes droned overhead but the city otherwise was quiet, concerned mainly with burying its dead and tending its wounds. Officials estimated civilian and army casualties at 2,000.

A communique claimed the revolt, which broke out Wednesday while the emperor was visiting Brazil, was "quickly crushed by the Ethiopian army and people."

Haile Selassie flew to Addis Ababa airport Saturday, then drove in a tank to Jubilee Palace. His primary residence, Guentalul Palace, had been a rebel stronghold.

The government claimed it also was the scene of a rebel massacre. The rebels killed 18 government dignitaries and hostages and wounded 32 others before pulling out, the government said.

Heile Selassie's son, Crown Prince Asfa Wosen, 44, was exonerated from any part in the rebellion. The rebels forced the crown prince and other government leaders to make statements against Haile Selassie, the communique said.

The emperor's bodyguard, 5,000 picked soldiers who formed the nucleous of the rebellion, were tricked by "treacherous leaders of the revolt" into thinking they were fighting for their ruler, the communique said.

Many rebel leaders were killed, the government said. Those being hunted reportedly included the imperial guard commander, the commissioner of police and the security chief.

DEVOTED DAUGHTER DETACHED FROM MOTHER IN ZOO PLOT

NEW YORK (UPI)—Phanny's devotion to her mother could only be measured in terms of Phanny herself.

Phanny weighs 400 pounds.

So much did this little tyke love mama that she refused to leave her side for a single waking moment. This sort of attachment is unusual, even for hippopotami. But sentiment aside, the keepers at the Bronx Zoo decided that Phanny and Mamma Phoebe definitely had to be broken up because Phoebe was expecting again.

One doesn't, however, simply ask a one-year hippo to leave its mother. One must be subtle.

For weeks zoo keepers looked for a chance to "persuade" the hefty darling it was time to cut her apron strings. No avail. Finally, last week Phanny made a mistake. She remained asleep in the pool after Mama waded out.

Associate curator Joseph Davies and several husky assistants quietly slipped up and closed the door between the two. Phanny, irate, tried to charge the curator. She was forced into a crate by streams of water from a hose and removed to another cage.

Laos Premier Picks Up Reins; U. S. Airlift Supplying Battered Capital

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Pro-Western Premier Boun Oum struggled today to put this battered capital on its feet with the help of an American airlift flying in critically needed food and medicine.

The government announced the roundup of more than 100 snipers and looters as it tackled the critical economic and political crisis that gripped the little Indo-Chinese kingdom.

An American airlift to send rice, milk, medical and building supplies from neighboring Thailand was set up over the weekend after pro-Communist troops were driven out of the city in a four-day battle that left at least 150 men, women and children dead and more than 500 wounded.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the airlift would continue as long as needed.

Boun moved into the Foreign Ministry building yesterday and announced his government was in business in the rubble-strewn city.

But four months of palace maneuvering and civil war has failed to resolve the Buddhist touched off by a leftist coup kingdom's political tangle touched off by a leftist coup led by paratroop Capt. Kong Le on Aug. 9.

The rebels' military threat to Vientiane remained, with danger of a new flareup in fighting. Rightist government forces led by Gen. Phoumi Nosavan were reported to have pushed seven miles north of the capital's airport. Kong Le's forces, retreating with much of their Soviet-supplied arms, were believed still only about 15 miles from the heart of the capital.

International Printing Week will be celebrated Jan. 15-21, 1961.

Threatened Family Leaves New Orleans

NORTH PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — James O. Gabrielle, who said he and his family were forced to leave New Orleans, La., over the school integration question, set out today to begin a new life in Rhode Island.

Gabrielle said he will follow up a number of job offers and will seek a home for his family, which includes his wife and six children.

Gabrielle said the taunts and threats his family received because they defied the white boycott of the recently integrated William Frantz School forced them to leave New Orleans.

Gabrielle and his wife had sent their daughter, Yolanda, 6, to the school where one Negro girl has been admitted under federal court order.

The Gabrielle family had refused to go along with other white families who kept their children out of school because of the presence of the Negro girl.

Forced to give up his $230 a month job as city water meter reader, Gabrielle left New Orleans Thursday night by car with Maria, 14; James Jr., 10, and Mark, 9.

Gabrielle said they left in two sections "so if they got us they'd only get half of us." He did not elaborate.

For the time being, the Gabrielle family will live in the north providence home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gabriele.

Gabrielle related how his home was stoned, how he lost his job when his fellow workers charged he was "polluting the white race by sending his daughter to an integrated school" and of threats the family received.

"They have got to accept integration," Gabrielle told reporters. "We left because I think we made too many enemies. I was reluctant at first to defy the white boycott because of the safety of my wife who is an independent woman. She believes in her convictions."

France, Israel Reveal Joint Atom Research

LONDON (AP) — The Israeli embassies in London and Paris confirmed today that France and Israel are engaged in joint atomic research but said it "is concerned only with the use of atomic power for peaceful purposes."

Both Israel's ambassador to Britain, Arthur Lourie, and the Israeli Embassy in Washington denied reports published in Washington and London that Israel is trying to build an atomic bomb. The reports said the French were helping secretly.

Information was said to have reached U.S. intelligence agencies that Israel would be capable of exploding its first nuclear device within a year. The Washington Post said Israel had developed a nuclear reactor secretly and might produce a nuclear weapon in about five years.

A New York Times dispatch from Washington said recent intelligence information in the U.S. capital was that Israel was secretly building a "fairly large atomic reactor near Beersheba."

France was said to be offering Israel technical advice on how to build a cut-price nuclear reactor.

Money Becomes Prime Issue In Integration

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)— Money was a prime issue in the school integration struggle today as both the New Orleans School Board and the Louisiana Legislature sought ways out of a tangled financial crisis.

The money-beset school board considered accepting a surprise offer of $500,000 from Miss Ellen Steinberg, a St. Louis heiress. The offer was made in New York over the weekend.

In Baton Rouge, lawmakers scheduled a committee hearing on a one-cent sales tax that could net an estimated 45 million dollars. Administration leaders said the money would pay the way for white students who wanted to go to private schools.

Another bill introduced yesterday would tax advertising in newspapers. Newspaper editorials have criticized certain aspects of the lawmakers' segregation fight.

Reicke said the board would weigh the offer seriously.

The legislature has frozen school funds and warned banks they would honor school board checks at ther own risk. The board needs three to four million dollars to pay salaries and bills through June 1961.

A three-judge federal court is expected to rule soon on the board's request for a court order to force four New Orleans banks to release school money.

The federal tribunal also has under advisement a request for an injunction banning a new state law that would empower Gov. Jimmie H. Davis to appoint a new school board.

Integration at two New Orleans elementary schools entered its fifth week today. Eight white children and a lone Negro girl went quietly to classes in William Frantz School, and three Negro girls attended McDonough 19 School.

The pastor's bishop, Aubrey G. Walton, visited the church yesterday to affirm his endorsement of Rev. Foreman's leaving his 5-year-old daughter in the William Frantz School despite segregationists' threats against the pastor's life.

SENATOR TELLS LEGISLATIVE AIMS

By CHAPIN A. DAY

A series of bills varying from tax relief for senior citizens to the restoration of cross filing, and from billboard regulation to elimination of sales tax on medicines and drugs, will be introduced at the January legislature session by Marin Sen. John F. McCarthy.

In reviewing his anticipated legislative program, McCarthy said he is preparing these bills:

1. SENIOR CITIZENS: Defer all property taxes on the residence of a man 65 years of age or a widow 60 or older, if the residence is not assessed at more than $5,000. Upon sale or inheritance of the residence, the new owner would have to pay all deferred taxes plus 6 per cent interest.

2. SCHOOL BONDS: Reduce from 66⅔ to 60 per cent the majority needed to pass school bonds and "perhaps other necessary bonds."

3. WRITE-IN VOTES: A series of bills would clarify and simplify the matter of write-in votes for both the voters and for the election boards.

4. STATE BOARDS: At least one member of the general public—not a member of the particular profession involved, would be appointed to all state boards and commission which have regulatory powers over professions and organizations.

5. STATE SCHOOLS CHIEF: Make the State Board of Education elective and the state superintendent of instruction appointive. At present they are the other way around.

6. BILLBOARDS: McCarthy's billboard regulation proposed next year will be considerably different from that of two years ago. He proposes a clear definition of a "scenic road" and then leaves the designation of which roads in the county are "scenic" and thus barred to billboards, in the hands of the local governmental jurisdictions. It also would be up to local governmen tto enforce the bans.

7. CONSTITUTION REVISION: Establish a state constitution commission to make a three-year study of the constitution (McCarthy would give them $150,000 to $300,000), and instruct them to report back what should be done about improving the state's voluminous basic law. The 15-man commission would be appointed five men by the governor, five by the Senate Rules Committee and five by the Assembly Rules Committee.

8. DRUGS SALES TAX: Eliminate sales taxes on all prescription medicines and drugs.

9. GOLDEN GATE AUTHORITY: Carry out recommendations of the Golden Gate Authority Commission, which will report to the legislature shortly after it convenes Jan. 2. McCarthy expects the commission will call for consolidation of all bridges and authority to negotiate for consolidation of airports and seaports.

10. MARIN-SAN FRANCISCO BRIDGE: Request the state to "bring up to date" the studies of a second crossing between Marin and San Francisco Counties.

11. BRIDGE DIRECTORS: Limit directors of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District to actual expenses, doing away with fees they receive for attending meetings and with free crossing of the bridge when they are not on bridge business.

12. TAXES ON TRADE-INS: Give taxpayers relief on what McCarthy calls "double sales taxation" in the purchase of automobiles, TV sets and other merchandise on which a trade-in is allowed. He points out the sales tax is charged on the full price of the new item, although part of this price is paid with a trade-in on which the sales tax already has been paid. Saving to taxpayers could be as much as 22 million dollars per year, but he proposes to give only 50 per cent relief in his original bill.

14. MARIN SALARY INCREASES: McCarthy will support recommendations of the Marin County Grand Jury that the district attorney's salary be increased from $13,740 to $15,500 annually, and the county auditor increased 5 per cent from his present $10,500.

15. ELECTION CONSOLIDATION: Reintroduce consolidation of election legislation like that in the 1957 session which was pocket-vetoed by Gov. Goodwin Knight.

16. NEW CITIES: Extend time of election for the city council of a new city so that it would not be necessary to hold two elections in one year, the way Novato had to do on its incorporation.

17. RAPID TRANSIT: A constitutional amendment which would allow counties to use up to 25 per cent of state gas tax funds they get for county roads for rapid transit, if the supervisors think this would better serve the interests of their people.

18. CROSS FILING: Restore cross filing of candidates on the ballot providing the candidate clearly lists his party designation.

MOTORAMA EN ROUTE TO SAN FRANCISCO

Rolling across the country toward San Franicsco are these red, white and blue trucks which carry the General Motors Motorama on its first visit to California since 1956. The motorama will be open — admission free—Jan. 7 through 15 in Brooks Hall and the Civic Auditorium in San Francisco. The Motorama will show the Firebird III gas turbine car, 94 new G.M. cars and trucks, Frigidaire appliances—and a Broadway musical.

State To Let Smog Device Test Contract

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The State Motor Vehicle Pollution Control Board will meet in Fresno tomorrow to award a contract for testing smog suppressors for installation in cars and trucks.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown said in a weekend press statement the board is aiming to have smog-control devices on all new vehicles by 1962.

The contract for testing will go to the Los Angeles Air Pollution Control District laboratory. Tests will begin next month.

At the same time, the board is expected to take final action on procedures for submission of devices to the state for testing.

Rash Of Corte Madera Accidents Hurts Six

Six persons were injured in five accidents on rain-soaked Corte Madera streets Friday and Saturday.

One of the drivers, John Lipay, 38, of 45 Willow Avenue, Fairfax, was charged by Corte Madera police with drunk driving and being drunk in a public place. He was reported in good condition today at San Rafael General Hospital, with possible internal injuries. He was treated at Marin General Hospital immediately after the accident for cuts and bruises.

When officers talked to him at the hospital and jail, Lipay didn't know he had been in an accident, they said.

Billie Ann Gray, 23, of 777 Meadowsweet Drive, Corte Madera, complained of pain after her car and one driven by Richard A. Peavey, 24, of 200 Redwood Highway, Corte Madera, collided on Tamalpais Drive near Madera Boulevard Saturday night.

The woman said she would see her own doctor. Peavey was treated at Marin General Hospital. No report on his injuries was available.

DeCook's car and one driven by William H. Schwartz, 49, of 325 Summit Drive, Corte Madera, collided, police said.

Schwartz said he was going around a sharp curve; his vision was obscured by parked cars and he didn't see DeCook's small foreign car until he was "on top of it." DeCook said he didn't see the other car.

Injured in a two-car collision Friday night at Corte Madera and Redwood Avenues was Philipda Gladys Denning-Kemp, 32, of 59 Edison Avenue, Corte Madera. She was kept overnight at Marin General for treatment of a head injury.

Driver of the other car was Warren D. Nash, 46, of 56 Crescent Road, Corte Madera. Mrs. Ruby Nash, a passenger in her husband's car, was reported injured, according to police, but apparently did not go to the hospital.

Widows Of 2 Plane Victims Ask $800,000

Widows of two Marin County men lost in a plane over Alaska a year ago have filed suits totaling $800,000 against the Stanford Research Institute, outfitters of the plane.

The men were Phillip Gray, 29, of 407 Pine Street, Mill Valley, and Burras Smith, 63, of 834 Meadowsweet Drive, Corte Madera. Gray was pilot and Smith was flight engineer of the plane which was tranporting Stanford scientists on a research mission over the North Pole.

The widow of a third man, Carl Scott of San Francisco, co-pilot, is suing for $200,000. All three men were former employees of Commodore Aviation at Sausalito.

The plaintiffs in the "wrongful death" action, which charges the Institute with negligently" equipping the plane, are represented by attorney Vernon W. Humber of Kentfield.

Gray's wife, Madeline, is also filing in behalf of her two children, Scott and Mark. Mrs. Smith, now a resident of Seattle, Wash., is filing in part for her daughter, Joyce Stevens of Fairbanks, Alaska.

The plane, a PBY amphibian leased from the California Aircraft Engine Co., was on a "top secret radar research mission," according to the suit which was filed Friday in San Francisco Superior Court. It disappeared in a storm over Annette Island, Alaska, on Dec. 17, 1959.

FIRE

Into the kitchen strolled the Lemler's pet, an eight-month-old gray and white cat named Poindexter. He wanted to be fed.

Apparently her puff-sleeved bed jacket grazed one of the hot electric burners and started to smolder. As the unsuspecting girl walked around the kitchen and spooned the cat food into the pet's dish, the jacket burst into flames.

"I don't know how it happened," she sobbed later.

Screaming, she raced down the long hall toward her parents' bedroom.

"I looked up and she was running towards me enveloped in flames," the distraught father recalled.

Rolling her on the carpet and ripping off fragments of clothing at the same time, he managed to extinguish the fire.

United Ambulance, responding to the mother's telephone call, arrived at 8:40 a.m. and took them to the hospital.

Seven Marinites File For School Election

As of today, seven candidates have filed for election to school boards in Marin County next April 18. Of the seven, three are incumbents.

They are, in the order of filing:

Dr. John C. Siemens, 10 Turnagain Road, Kentfield, challenger for one of four vacant posts on the Tamalpais High School District Board.

George E. McKenna, 505 Los Cerros Drive, San Rafael, incumbent member of the Kentfield School District board, in which three seats are up for election.

Alyce Farkas, 341 Karen Way, Belvedere, incumbent on the Reed School District board, where three posts will be open.

Gus Kovats, Point Reyes Station, incumbent on the West Marin board, where three seats will be open.

Suzanne G. Baty, Point Reyes Station, challenger for a West Marin District board seat.

Terms of 75 of the 126 members of Marin County's 28 school boards expire at the same time on June 30. In all but three of the districts, a majority of the trustees' terms expire. The three exceptions are the Marin Junior College, Novato Unified and San Rafael School Districts.

Candidates have until March 17, 1961, to file for candidacy at office of the county superintendent of schools at 317 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Luxury Home Not Dreier's, Father Says

"A lot of hooey!" was the reaction today of A. S. Dreier of 126 Harvard Drive, Larkspur, to a report in a San Francisco paper that a $130,000 Japanese style home being built in San Rafael is for his son, Alex Dreier of American Broadcasting Co. radio and television.

The home, under construction at 25 Westwood Avenue, has been the object of speculation as to who the owner would be. The builders would only say it was for a "person of importance" who preferred to remain anonymous.

Dreier, 44, is the newscaster who recently quit the National Broadcasting Co. and replaced John Daly on ABC. In addition to his parents in Larkspur, Dreier has a brother, James, of 45 Berens Drive in Kentfield.

"I don't know where they got that story that Alex was going to move into the house," his father told the Independent-Journal today. "There isn't enough money out here for him." Dreier's newscasts originate in Chicago and are taped for local viewing.

Convict Found Dead In Cell

The prison doctor attributed the death of Antonio Huerta, 32, to natural causes, but an autopsy was scheduled. He was serving a term of two to 20 years for possession of narcotics and violation of parole.

Huerta was found dead by his cellmate in the prison's north block at 2:30 p.m. Prison officials said the inmate had just passed a medical examination for assignment to a conservation camp but had not yet been assigned to one.

Huerta was convicted of forgery and selling and possessing narcotics in Los Angeles County in 1954.

He was paroled twice, in 1958 and 1959, but both times was returned to the prison for violation of parole. He was returned for possession of narcotics and parole violation last January.

name in vain . . . It is encouraging irreverence." He has demanded the "any other books that follow the same line of thought" as well as the Steinbeck and Salinger books.

Since he called for removal of the books, the Independent-Journal has received a number of letters opposing his stand. Today the first letter in his support was received, from Elizabeth Payne of San Rafael.

Before it be gets to the book issue, the board has a number of other items on the agenda. The Parent-Teacher Assn. of the districts three high schools are scheduled to present a program on their work. Other items include reports on completion of the sewer and drainage lines in the vicinity of the Lucky Drive crossing, an easement to Pacific Gas and Electric Co., report on the status of the Doherty Drive extension, which has been delayed and a number of personnel matters.

Belvedere Planners Will Meet Tonight

The Belvedere Planning Commission will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the Belvedere Community Hall, but according to Chairman George Goddard, there is nothing on the agenda.

The commission will review the action so far on the council's condemnation of Beach Road property, Goddard said.

28th Air Divison Gets New Vice Commander

Col. Richard A. Legg has been appointed vice commander of the 28th Air Division-SAGE at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Legg will take the place of Col. Brian (Shanty) O'Neill, who has been named special assistant to the division commander, Maj. Gen. John D. Stevenson.

O'Neill has been at Hamilton since July, first as deputy chief of operations of the old Western Air Defense Force, later as vice commander of WADF, now the 28th Air Division-SAGE.

He also was a group commander of the 78th Fighter Wing at Hamilton, and later wing commander, in 1948.

O'Neill was in the Pacific during World War II and served in Europe after the war. He has been awarded the Distinguished Service Cross, Legion of Merit and Air Medal.

Legg has been inspector general for the division since June. His headquarters were at Hamilton, but his duties covered bases throughout the division.

He served in the Pacific in World War II and moved to the Pentagon in 1943 as chief of aircraft development and engineering, working on development of the first Air Force jets. He later served in the Mediterrannean to bring his combat mission total to 100.

He was commander of the first jet fighters in Europe with the 36th Fighter-Bomber Wing. His decorations include the Distinguished Flying Cross with oak leaf cluster, Air Medal with two oak leaf clusters and Croix de Guerre with palm.

Lt. Col. Thomas M. Kirk will be acting inspector general in Legg's place.

Planner Secretary Rips Mrs. Summers

A stinging criticism of Marin County Planning Director Mary Summers as menacing "a remarkable 20-million-dollar apartment development" was expressed today by George R. Scott, secretary of the county planning commission, in a letter handed to Commission Chairman William S. Upton.

The letter referred to an informal discussion with individual supervisors after adjournment of a Dec. 6 meeting, as to the propriety of Mrs. Summer's scheduled appearance on a radio station KTIM panel discussion of plans for tower apartments at Harbor Point last Thursday.

"I believe," wrote Scott, "she has been unwise and improper to accept an invitation to debate an issue under consideration by her superiors, the board of supervisors.

"Her activities could defeat a remarkable 20-million-dollar cooperative apartment development which would aid Marin County by bringing in work, money, taxes and fine residential dwellings into our area. We should promote and support a project of this quality.

"Unfortunately the unfavorable publicity aroused by this incident overlooks the project itself and the activities of a public employee that poses a moral question."

Scott raised the issue when the commission convened at 9 a.m., before the agenda was taken up and before arrival of Commissioners John S. Switzer and Worth Fenner. He said he had been under "quite a bit of pressure" to comment but had refused to do so until the commission met.

Before reading the letter Dr. Upton remarked that Mrs. Summers is "an unclassified employee who is able to do these things on her own."

He then read both Scott's letter and a copy of the letter to Mrs. Summers from Ralph T. Walters as president of Walters-Flood, Inc., promoters of the "tower apartment" project, in which Walters served notice that his firm would ask Mrs. Summers' resignation if she appeared on the radio panel. Mrs. Summers didn't appear.

"How does the commission feel?" Upton inquired.

"I don't know that any particular action should be taken," replied Commissioner Felix M. Warburg. "But the purpose of the debate originally was to discuss tower apartments, period, not these particular ones.

"It became obvious due to the nature of those picked to discuss that it would get around to this project. But if it had been only a matter of theory it would have been proper that the planning director should appear.

"I feel that Mrs. Summers followed the same reasoning in her withdrawal, and also that she felt this letter was in the nature of a threat."

Commissioner Niels Schultz Jr. observed that "the timing was important — those behind the project felt that the prosecutors and the judges were sitting down together and they may have felt that the delay in decision was timed with this in view."

Said Upton: "This was purely a matter for Mrs. Summers to decide, the same as any department head. She should be able to act in such things on her own volition, though perhaps this was ill-timed."

Injured In Auto

Mrs. A. Girese, 63, of San Francisco was in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital after suffering a dislocated elbow when a car in which she was riding last night struck a power pole on leaving the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito. Mrs. Girese was a passenger in the car of Carl A. Bolsdorff, also of San Francisco.

Court Upholds Immunity For Drug Witness

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled today that a federal grand jury can promise a witness immunity from state as well as federal prosecution in order to get needed information about narcotics violations.

A provision in the 1956 Narcotic Control Act permits the Justice Department to get a court order requiring such testimony if it is thought necessary in the public interest. In return, the witness gets a guarantee that what he says will not be used against him.

The argument in today's case focused on whether the guarantee applies to state as well as federal courts.

The 7 to 2 decision held that it does and that the law is constitutional.

Thus the witness has no need for invoking his constitutional privileges against self-incrimination.

In other action today, the court:

1. Refused to hear an appeal by three women who were rebuffed in a legal fight to win admission to all-male Texas A & M College.

2. Agreed to hear arguments and decide whether an inaccurate Federal Housing Administration appraisal gives a home buyer the right to sue the government. The case involves an Alexandria, Va., home owner who won an $8,000 settlement in a lower court against the government. The Justice Department appealed the decision.

3. Declined to hear arguments on a complaint by the Westinghouse Broadcasting Co. that the National Broadcasting Co's. plan to acquire a Boston television station would violate a consent judgment against NBC.

Two Switch Plea To 'Guilty' In Pillowcase Burglaries

Ben H. Waddington and Lloyd F. Wendelbo, suspected of committing some 60 "pillowcase" burglaries which netted $100,000 in Marin County, changed their plea to guilty to seven of them in Marin County Superior Court today.

The pair, both ex-convicts from San Francisco, had pleaded innocent to seven counts of first degree burglary in November and a jury trial had been set for January.

On the change of pleas today, Asst. Dist. Atty. Bruce Bales asked that the pair's prior convictions be stricken from the indictment.

Judge N. Charles Brusatori will hear a probation report and pronounce sentence on Jan. 9 at 10 a.m.

He ordered them held without bail in the county jail. Both had been held in lieu of $10,500 each.

The two men were cornered by Ross Police Chief Joseph Regoni on Oct. 28 with a car full of loot. A series of burglaries in which thieves carted off their loot in pillow slips began last June.

Burning Of Marin City Buildings Resumed

The burning of Marin City wartime duplexes by the Marin County Fire Department, was resumed today after a layoff since Wednesday.

NOT QUITE IDENTICAL TWINS

County Clerk George S. Jones added two more to his roll of registered voters when his twin granddaughters turned 21. Patricia (left) and Theresa Jones are identical twins, or so Jones thought until Friday. "Not quite," said Jones, after the ceremony. Patricia registered as a Democrat, and Theresa as a Republican. They are daughters of G. Paul Jones, manager of the Marin Mosquito Abatement District. (Independent-Journal photo)

MAROONED IN BAY

Young Hunter Stuck On Boat Four Hours

Sixteen-year-old Lawrence Friberg of Glenwood bagged two ducks yesterday before he realized he was marooned in a duck blind almost one-half a mile from shore.

His skiff had floated to shore near McNear's Brickyard on an incoming tide. The boy remained a prisoner for close to four hours.

Larry, of 19 Knight Drive, noticed his boat was gone after he had shot two ducks about 6:30 a.m.

He tried to swim in the nine-foot-deep water about 900 yards off Glenwood but found the water too cold. He screamed, waved his arms and fired his shotgun into the air.

It was almost three hours later that Clinton Lewis of 170 Oak Drive, San Rafael, saw the boy's plight and called police.

A boat from the Marin County sheriff's marine patrol was sent after the boy. They reached him at 10:15 a.m. The shivering boy, his decoys and two ducks were returned to his father, Ray H. Friberg, who was waiting at the Loch Lommond Yacht Harbor.

Graduates Plan '51 Class Reunion

Class members have been requested to send their names and whereabouts or the names of any other members to Mrs. Hank Jorgensen, 310 Eastside Road, Ukiah; Mrs. Dan Fanucci, 3384 Gavata, San Jose, or Mrs. Tom Cummings, 2018 Hatch Road, Novato.

In the 1959 national election in Israel, 82.8 per cent of eligible persons cast their votes.

Three Men Accused In Assault Cases

Three Marin City men were booked on charges of assault and battery after three separate disturbances during the weekend.

All three were placed under citizen's arrest by their wives or girl friends.

Abe Route Sr., 55-year-old gardener of Building A-25, Apartment 200, was jailed in lieu of $262.50 bail after Irene Tinsley, 60, of Building B-2, Apartment 550, charged him with beating her about the face and arms with a belt and buckle.

She told Deputy Sheriff Edward Mauberret that Route came to her house about 11 p.m. Friday and demanded money. When she refused, he beat her, she said.

Otis Clifford Myers, 29-year-old laborer of 37 Cole Drive, was released on $315 bail to be arraigned at 1:30 p.m. today. He was also charged with disturbing the peace.

His wife, Garnetta Myers, 25, called sheriff's deputies at 3:30 a.m. yesterday and reported her husband had beaten her and threatened to throw her out the window. She was treated at Marin General Hospital for bruises and scratches on her neck and head.

Oris Williams, 24-year-old laborer of 103 Drake Avenue, was released on $263.50 bail to be arraigned at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Mary Alice Denham, 29, who gave the same address, said Williams came to her home at 5 p.m. Saturday and demanded money he had loaned her. When they argued, she said, he tore her skin under her ribs, leaving two scars, dragged her upstairs and banged her head against a concrete wall.

She said he threatened to kill her and her two children.

Since 1947 salaries and wages in California manufacturing have almost quadrupled to an estimated current eight billion dollars.

Corte Madera Hearing On Zoning Set Today

The Corte Madera Town Council will hold a public hearing at 7:30 p.m. today on a proposed ordinance zoning the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right of way through the town as low density residential.

The zoning would become effective on the railroad's abandonment of the property. The planning commission approved the zoning last month.

The council also will hear a recommended resolution initiating proceedings and setting a public hearing on annexation of 2.74 acres of uninhabited property off Meadowsweet Drive and surrounded by the town. The county boundary commission has approved the proposed boundaries.

Also to be heard is a title claim by Alphonsine McDonald to a lane on the north side of his property on Redwood Avenue. He asks that it be put on the tax rolls.

Other items on the agenda: Recommendation by the town manager on the work necessary to bring Rocklyn Court up to standard so it can be included in the town's street maintenance system; rough draft of an agreement with Larkspur School District for the proposed playground in Mariners Cove; Lucky Drive property transactions involving the town, Tamalpais Union School District and Schultz Development Co.; a proposed ordinance prohibiting parking on the north and southbound lanes of Madera Boulevard between Tamalpais Drive and Mohawk Avenue.

Association Names Publicity Director

Resignation of Joel Y. Rickman as Publicity Director of Redwood Empire Assn., effective Jan. 1, was announced today by Garney J. Campion, the association's general manager.

Rickman, a San Francisco and Los Angeles newspaperman for many years, has headed the association's publicity department since early 1954. He said he will take an extended vacation before considering his plans for the future.

Since its discovery in 1852 by Fremont, Lake Tahoe has been known as Mountain Lake, Bigler Lake and Lake Bonpland; it was officially named Lake Tahoe in 1945 by the state legislature.

Health Experts Look At Nervous System

by Dr. Robert W. Pearce

Leading health experts are changing their methods of helping the sick. They are gradually recognizing the importance that the nervous system plays in good health.

These experts have noted that defective bone structure interferes with nerves and robs the body of vital nerve energy.

Sometimes a fall, a sudden jar or even poor posture can cause a slight misalignment of the spine. Nerves often are pinched when one of the 24 bones of the spine is jarred out of line. This can cause almost any type of illness imaginable . . . for the body cannot function properly when the spine is out of line.

The strange part about spinal misalignment is that the person rarely feels any great pain in his back. When ill, however, the smart thing is to look for the cause—and the safe thing is to have your spine checked by a chiropractor. Doctors of Chiropractic are specialists in correcting spinal defects.

Dr. R. W. Pearce, D.C. practices the Palmer Method. His office is at 1628 Fifth Ave., San Rafael, GL 3-6201. —Adv.

Final Decision Due On Strawberry Plan

Final decision on the Strawberry "towers apartment" project centering around a rezoning application for Harbor Point by Samuel R. Neider is scheduled to be made tomorrow afternoon by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

The discussion is to start at 3 p.m. Public participation wound up last Tuesday night in a hearing which did not end until 12:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Board members have indicated that they hope to boil down the issue to that of rezoning for apartments, which is all that is technically before them. But there are indications that this won't be disassociated from the intended project of constructing five luxury towers in a development to cost an over-all 20 million dollars with prospect of a quarter-million dollar tax income yearly.

Also scheduled is a hearing on the Greenwood Lagoon master plan at 2 p.m., and at the same hour a hearing on resolution of intent to rezone several Alto properties.

A proposal by the Marin County Planning Commission to create R-P-1 and R-P-2 planned residential districts has also been set for 2 p.m.

Included in the correspondence agenda is a condensation of the recent presentation to the board regarding the Junior Museum, which has sought to come under county auspices but with a financial obligation which has caused the supervisors to shy off.

More trouble over condemnation possibilities in Richardson Bay seems indicated by a communication from Seid Aviation Corp. regarding the status of condemnation, which of late has been bogged down.

Wounded Hub Boy Improves

Frank T. Fee, 12-year-old San Anselmo boy who was accidentally shot through the head Saturday by a schoolmate, was reported in good condition last night in Marin General Hospital.

Hospital officials said the .22 caliber bullet entered behind the boy's left ear, skimmed along his jaw bone and emerged through his chin. They said he may be released within a few days.

Frank, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Gestson of 1355 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, was visiting the home of a friend, William Walker, 13, at 17 Stone Court, San Anselmo, when the mishap occurred. Both are pupils at Brookside School.

Police said the Walker boy removed a 1906 rifle from the wall, thinking it was not loaded. The gun discharged accidentally, they said.

SIERRA CLUB REJECTS LOYALTY OATH PLAN

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A loyalty oath proposal has been overwhelmingly rejected by members of the Sierra Club, the oldest conservation club in the nation.

The measure, sponsored by a group of Southern Californians, would have required each new member and his sponsor to take a loyalty oath. But in the heaviest voting in the club's 68 years, it was turned down by a 6-1 margin.

David R. Brower, executive director, said yesterday the controversial issue brought a response from almost half of the club's 16,000 members.

49er Future Bright; Wait 'Til Next Year

By JACK HANLEY
I-J Correspondent

Red Hickey said he was in no rush today to look at films of the 49er 34-10 win over the Baltimore Colts in the pro football finale at Kezar Stadium yesterday "because I already know all of our men played magnificently."

That did not mean, however, that the 49er coach was satisfied with his team winding up in a second place tie with the Detroit Lions.

"I'm not going to be satisfied until we win it all," said Hickey, "but I must admit that I'm satisfied under the conditions that confronted us—three or four regulars injured for half the season.

"We started winning, taking four of our last five, when our regulars returned."

Hickey already is looking forward to next year and the future appears bright. "We've got 16 to 17 players with just one or two years experience who are going to be good," he declared. "Ending with a win means you can look forward to next year," the redhead continued. "I hope we can pick up where we left off."

What about the shotgun offense? Is Hickey planning on using it next season?

"We'll use it again next year," he said. "How much? Who knows?"

What about some of the older 49er hands retiring?

"Not one player has told me he doesn't plan on coming back and as far as I am concerned age is no factor just as long as a man can do his job," Hickey said.

Lenny Lyles is one 49er who has no intention of retiring even though Baltimore tried to retire him a couple of seasons ago by cutting him loose after tapping the former University of Louisville speedster as a top choice.

Against his old teammates Lyles carried the opening kickoff 78 yards to the Baltimore 22 to set up the first 49er touchdown and later raced 97 yards to a TD with another kickoff as only 26 seconds remained in the first half."

"I don't feel I got the chance I should have when I was with the Colts," said Lyles. "I knew I had it in me and I wanted to show them!"

Lyles' 97-yard scoring dash, breaking a 10-10 tie, was the made by a 49er in Kezar although last year in the Los Angeles Coliseum Abe Woodson ran one back 105 yards for a TD.

In all, Lyles carried kickoffs back for a total of 202 yards, breaking the old game mark of 158 set last year against the Rams by Woodson.

Dave Baker also set a new 49er record in the season finale when he intercepted his 10th

49er Defense Hailed; Hickey Will Draft For Offensive Improvement

CONNOLLY

Pro football is show biz in a big way, and the curtain dropper at Kezar yesterday was in the grand tradition. The way the San Francisco 49ers overwhelmed the once mighty Baltimore Colts by a 34 to 10 score was a real happy ending for local filberts.

Just like the old mellerdramas the villain was routed, the mortgage was paid, and our hero came out on top. Well, almost on top. Seems that the country hick from Green Bay ran off with little Nell championship while the boys were fighting it out in the barroom. Call it character building.

With the exception of the Shrine game we can give Kezar back to the seagulls now. But we are left with a drawer full of memories and impressions about the season past.

High on the list is the terrific year long job turned in by the 49er defensive unit. And the heart warming satisfaction brought by the applause of the local fans. So often the defense is forgotten in the splash made by the offensive unit. Not this year.

You can bet that Coach Red Hickey and Head Scout Pappy Waldorf are 90 per cent offense minded in planning for the annual draft. About the only shoring up needed on defense is a new man to back up or spell the defensive backs, and possible new trainees for the eventual replacement of aging Leo Nomellini and Ed Henke in the line.

This may be premature after watching Leo the Lion in this last game. Nomo was tarrific at all times, and his pursuit of Colt ball carriers was as good as we have seen all year. Like Warren Spahn of the baseball Braves, this guy seems to go on and on.

On the subject of defense we must point out the great job done by rookie Dan Colchicco at end. The big boy from San Jose State has improved by leaps and bounds and could be one of the greats in coming years.

It is no secret to anyone that the real hurting is on offense, especially in the line tackle to tackle. Lack of speed and strength is what forced Hickey into his "shotgun" formation in the middle of the season. You can't move your backs if you can't move the line.

While he was healthy, Ted Connolly was having one of his best years at guard. Injury cut Ted down, and Mike Magac had neither the speed nor experience. Bruce Bosley, John Thomas and centers Frank Morze and Karl Rubke all had good moments but not consistently. Big Bob St. Clair finds the years catching up with him.

In spite of the come through performances of J. D. Smith and C. R. Roberts, the 49ers need a breakaway man and a bone crunching fullback to keep the opposition honest.

At end, Clyde Conner, Dee Mackey and Monty Stickles are very adequate and should improve each year. One more end with real speed and sticky hands would be a help.

Look for some sad moments when retirement announcements come from some of the old guard and when some players are dealt off to the new Minnesota Vikings next season. Joe Perry and Hugh McElhenny, for all their past greatness, have reached the end of the string. Y. A. Tittle will think twice before he returns.

PRO GRID ROUNDUP

Lions Win Berth In Bowl Game

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Green Bay Packers, representing the smallest city in the National Football League, today held one of the circuit's biggest prizes after grabbing the elusive Western Conference crown for the first time since 1944.

The Packers ended the struggle for honors in the Western sector Saturday by riding Bart Starr's pinpoint passing to a 35-21 victory over Los Angeles that sends them into the championship game against Philadelphia's Eastern titlists next Monday.

The Green Bay triumph also dethroned Baltimore's two-time champion Colts, brought the Packers' record to 8-4 and completed an amazing flip flop under Coach Vince Lombardi's guidance for the club that finished the 1958 campaign with the worst mark in the league.

The Eagles wound up the season yesterday with a 10-2 record by whipping Washington 38-28 in Mike Nixon's final game as Redskin coach, and Cleveland and Detroit earned the right to meet in the NFL's runner-up bowl in Miami, on Jan. 7.

The Browns, beaten six consecutive times by New York, came from behind and defeated the Giants 48-34 on a 27-point explosion in the final period that settled the head-on clash for second place in the Eastern Division.

LIONS CRUSH BEARS

The Lions qualified for the runner-up bowl by thrashing the Chicago Bears 36-0 for their seventh victory in the last nine games while outdistancing San Francisco for the post-season berth on a point basis.

Detroit and the 49ers finished in a tie for second place in the West with 7-5 records when San Francisco knocked off the Colts 34-10 and pushed them into fourth. St. Louis took fourth place in the East with a 38-7 win over Pittsburgh.

In the American League's windup program, Western champion Los Angeles edged New York 50-43, Houston's Eastern titlists beat Boston 37-21, Dallas thumped Buffalo 24-7 and Oakland walloped Denver 48-10.

The Packers wrapped up their first title in 16 years when Paul Hornung hit Max McGee with a 40-yard touchdown pass for a 28-7 halftime lead the Rams (4-7-1) were never able to overcome. Hornung also scored once on a short plunge and kicked five conversions, raising his NFL total point record to 176.

Los Angeles took a 7-0 lead in the first quarter on a 40-yard TD toss from Billy Wade to Tom Wilson before the Green Bay onslaught began. Starr heaved scoring aerials of 57 and 91 yards to McGee and Boyd Dowler, respectively, then Paul Winslow recovered a blocked punt in the end zone for another touchdown and Hornung connected with McGee.

At Washington, Nixon was notified his contract was not being renewed after the Redskins (1-9-2) lost to the Eagles on two touchdown passes each by Norm Van Brocklin and sub quarterback Sonny Jurgensen. Van Brocklin pitched 52 and 64-yarders to Tommy McDonald while Jurgensen hit Tim Brown, who scored the clinching touchdown on a 5-yard run, with a 34-yard flip and threw a 57-yarder to Pete Retzlaff.

BROWNS BURST

Paul Wiggin's 20-yard interception return for a touchdown and Sam Baker's conversion put the Browns (8-3-1) ahead 35-34 and started their last quarter outburst against the New Yorkers (6-4-2). Milt Plum, who passed for four touchdowns, and Jimmy Brown, who scored twice, made it a sad farewell for Giants' coach Jim Lee Howell, retiring after bringing New York two successive Eastern titles.

Nick Pietrosante crashed 31 and four yards for touchdowns in the Lions win against inept Chicago (5-6-1), outscored 119-13 in the last three games, and set a club one-season rushing record with 872 yards. Detroit grabbed the bowl berth over San Francisco by scoring more points than the 49ers in the two meetings (each team won once) between the clubs.

Lyles Scores Revenge On Former Mates

Halfback Lenny Lyles got sweet revenge and the ball game yesterday after his two long kickoff runbacks sent the San Francisco 49ers on their way to a 34-10 victory over the Baltimore Colts at Kezar Stadium.

Lyles originally was a top draft choice by the Colts but they cut him loose.

"I don't feel I got the chance I should have had when I was with Baltimore," declared the former University of Louisville speedster.

"I knew it was in me. I wanted to show them."

Lyles carried the opening kickoff 78 yards to the Baltimore 22, setting up the first San Francisco touchdown. He dashed 97 yards to a touchdown with 25 seconds remaining in the half, putting the 49ers into the lead to stay.

Asked why he ran in front of Abe Woodson to field one kick, he replied: "because I wanted it, that's why."

Woodson joked: "He wanted it and I said 'Buddy, it's all yours.'" Lyles gained 202 yards on three kickoff returns, a new 49er record. Woodson held the old mark of 158 set last year against the Rams when he returned one kickoff 105 yards.

Angels To Play Giants In Spring Training Slate

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Angeles Angels already have 16 spring training camp games lined up with other major league teams and today are seeking more games with Pacific Coast League clubs.

He said his new Angel team will play the San Francisco Giants, the Cleveland Indians, the Boston Red Sox and the Chicago Cubs in pre-season games. The four teams all train in Arizona while the Angels have chosen Palm Springs as their base.

"The four clubs training in Arizona tore up their schedule and made a new one that deals us in for 16 games—at their parks in Mesa."

Ex-Giant Pitching Great Nehf Dies

Nehf's career was among the bright ones of the golden era. He broke into the majors in 1915 with the Boston Braves, then moved to the Giants for their pennant years of 1921-23, and also pitched for the Cincinatti Reds and Chicago Cubs.

BROWNS PLUNGE SIX STORIES IN ELEVATOR

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cleveland Browns won the football game from the New York Giants Sunday, but before it even started Jimmy Brown and six hefty Cleveland teammates lost six stories — rushing.

The seven players, including the 228 pound fullback, and a bellboy entered an elevator at the sixth floor of a hotel near Yankee Stadium. The car immediately took off and didn't stop until it hit the basement.

No one was hurt in the sudden drop and the players walked to the stadium, where Brown gained 110 yards in the Browns 48-34 victory.

It's Getaway Day At Golden Gate Fields Tomorrow

ALBANY (UPI)—The 1961 northern California racing season ends tomorrow with the 14th running of the $20,000-added Golden Gate Handicap at Golden Gate Fields.

There were eight races for today's semi-final card, and nine are scheduled for tomorrow's getaway day program.

Eddie Schmidt is expected to lead a field of 12 to the post in the handicap. He is scheduled to carry 122 pounds, spotting his rivals from eight to 20 pounds.

STATE CHAMPION

Sixto Asks Chance At Archie's Crown

California light heavyweight champion Sixto Rodriguez of San Anselmo wants a chance to win the world championship and has asked his home state to help him get it.

Karl Ashley of San Anselmo, manager of Rodriguez, today appealed to the state athletic commission to help him arrange a fight with Archie Moore, the present title holder.

"I'll deposit as much as $5,000 with the commission if that will get us a championship fight," Ashley declared.

He said now is the time to act because New Yorker Doug Jones recently posted $2,500 with the N. Y. commission asking that he be given first chance at Moore, still recognized in New York as world champion.

However, the National Boxing Assn. is arranging a tournament to determine Moore's successor to the crown. The NBA recently dethroned Moore because of inactivity.

Ashley stated: "Ever since California and the NBA came to the parting of the ways, it seems the eastern boys don't want to give our fighters the credit they deserve."

He added, "If California is to keep on recognizing Moore as champ then I believe I'm perfectly right in saying Rodriguez, as title holder in California, is entitled to fight him before anyone else."

Lombardi To Coach Western All-Stars

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Coaches Vince Lombardi and Buck Shaw, who face each other in the National Football League championship game Dec. 26, will meet again in the Pro Bowl Game Jan. 15.

Appointment of Lombardi, who led the Green Bay Packers to the Western Division title was announced Saturday.

Erdelatz 'Raiders' Future Uncertain; Stockholders Meet

OAKLAND (AP)—The future of Coach Eddie Erdelatz with the Oakland Raiders, and for that matter the future of the club itself, could be decided before tonight.

After his club finished its inaugural American Football League season with a resounding 48-10 victory over the Denver Broncos, Erdelatz declared, "I have no comment on my future plans. All I hear is rumor and speculation."

The rumor and speculation had it that Erdelatz would step out as coach unless he also became general manager.

Along the same line there was another rumor that Y. C. (Chet) Soda, one of the eight owners, would turn over his job as general manager to someone else. Also that some stock would be changing hands.

"I know nothing about this except what I read," declared Soda. "We have our regular corporation meeting, but if there is going to be any stock changing hands, I haven't heard about it."

With disappointing crowds all season, the Raider owners are expected to suffer a $400,000 loss in the year of operation.

Only 5,159 turned out at Candlestick Park in San Francisco on Saturday to watch the finale.

Oakland finished fifth overall in the AFL with a 6-8 record. That was better than Buffalo, Boston or Denver.

SHARE HONORS

Quarterbacks Tom Flores and Babe Parilli, halfback Tony Teresa and fullback Billy Lott shared the honors and the game ball went to Erdelatz.

Flores scored twice—on a one-yard sneak and a seven-yard run. Teresa plunged one yard for his touchdown. Parilli tallied on a one-yard sneak and threw touchdown passes of 44 yards to Nyle McFarland and 21 to Charlie Hardy. Lott did not score but he gained 87 yards in nine carries for a 9.67 average.

Larry Barnes booted field goals of 18 and 28 yards plus six conversions in the Raiders' biggest scoring outburst of the season. They led 17-10 going into the final quarter and then piled on 31 more.

For Denver, Gene Mingo booted a 37-yard field goal and added the conversion after Frank Tripucka passed six yards to Lionel Taylor for the Bronco's only touchdown.

pass of 1960. Baker's interception came in the closing minute of play and the crowd of 57,269, having just learned from the stadium announcer that Baker had been voted the Len Eshmont trophy by his teammates as the most inspirational 49er player of the year, gave him a big cheer.

Lyles' opening kickoff return put John Brodie and the shotgun promptly in business. Four plays took the ball to the three from which Brodie himself scored on a sweep behind fine blocks by C. R. Roberts and J. D. Smith.

Tommy Davis, who later booted two field goals and was to contribute several 60-yard punts, then added his first of four PATs.

Steve Myhra made it 7-3 early in the second quarter with a 35-yard field goal but Davis quickly pushed the score to 10-3 with a 36-yarder of his own.

There were 43 seconds left in the half as Johnny Unitas hit Billy Pricer with a 13-yard scoring strike over the middle and Myhra's PAT knotted it at 10-10.

Then came Lyles' 97-yard TD run. It momentarily appeared that he was caught in a big jam of 49ers and Colts between the 30 and 40 yard lines but he suddenly emerged from it, shaking loose from a grasping last effort by 280-pound Sherman Plunkett.

"I saw him there in front of me and just got as low as I could to get past him," said Lyles. "I bit my tongue as I went by, but I made it."

That was all the scoring the 49ers needed for their victory but more was to come despite a steady drizzle that began to fall in the second half.

Smith, on a 14-yard reverse cutback, added the third TD which Gordon Kelley's interception on the Colt 31 set up. The final TD came on a seven yard pass, Brodie to R. C. Owens, after the aging Joe Perry and Smith picked up 19 and 13 yards respectively on trap plays.

WARM WELCOME FOR CHAMPS

It was freezing cold in Green Bay last night, but the Packers of that community received a warm welcome by thousands of fans at the airport. Celebration was for Green Bay's winning the Western Division championship of the National Football League Saturday in Los Angeles. (AP Wirephoto)

Bob Schloredt In Top Shape With Huskies

LONG BEACH (UPI) — Washington's Huskies, cheered by the return of triple threat quarterback Bob Schloredt, take the afternoon off today before settling down to twice daily drills for their Rose Bowl game with Minnesota.

The Huskies traveled to nearby Disneyland where the Big Five champions also get a first hand look at their Jan. 2 opponents. Both teams will spend the afternoon at the Anaheim amusement park after a morning workout.

Schloredt suited up yesterday for the first time since Oct. 15 when the Huskies staged a surprise 1¾ hour practice session. The one-eyed quarterback, out with a fractured collarbone suffered against UCLA, directed Washington to its one-sided victory over Wisconsin in last year's Rose Bowl.

With Bob Hivner at quarterback since Schloredt's accident the Huskies have won six in a row, and with Schloredt back in uniform Washington's chances for a victory over the Golden Gophers, rated the No. 1 team in the nation, are even increased.

Among the 52 Huskies who suited up in full uniform for yesterday's session was injured tackle Ray Mansfield, who sprained his ankle playing basketball several weeks ago.

Inspired Bears Meet Northwestern Tonight

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Undefeated in four home pre-conference games, an inspired California basketball squad invades Chicago tonight for a clash against Northwestern.

For the Bears, it will be the first of six road games.

San Jose State plays at St. Louis University, Hawaii at University of San Francisco, Southern Oregon at Humboldt State, San Francisco State at University of Toledo and Colorado State at Fresno State.

Santa Clara snared the consolation prize in the City of Roses Tournament Saturday night, defeating Iona of New Rochell, N. Y., 68-47, St. Mary's edged Minnesota 54-52, USF surprised Stanford in overtime 37-31, Fresno State squeaked past College of Pacific 60-59 and Southeast Missouri State whipped San Francisco State 85-78.

Indiana smashed Nevada 80-52, Sacramento State rolled over UC of Riverside 72-40, Washington lost again at Iowa State 60-50, and Long Beach State defeated Pepperdine 86-67.

In a twin bill at Los Angeles, UCLA won its fifth straight by downing Butler 73-61 and USC walloped Notre Dame 93-63.

Santa Clara, after losing the opening round 43-41 to Portland in the City of Roses games, bounced back to place third on the shooting of Gene Shields. He paced the Bronco attack over Iona with 18 points.

Portland won the tournament with a 73-54 victory over Gonzaga of Spokane.

St. Mary's boosted its record to 6-1 on a sparkling performance by Tom Meschery, who broke loose for 25 points.

Ed Thomas and Bob Gaillard each scored 10 in USF's first overtime victory since 1954. Stanford led 19-17 at halftime in the tight defensive battle.

Two field goals by Fresno State's Mike McFerson in the final two minutes enabled the Bulldogs to squeeze by COP. Tiger Ken Stanley and McFerson tied for scoring honors with 31 each.

Paul Fagan, Former Owner Of S.F. Seals, Dies At 70

HILLSBOROUGH (UPI)—Paul I. Fagan, the man who brought class to minor league baseball in a manner never seen before or since, died yesterday at the age of 70.

Fagan was a multi-millionaire businessman and he played his part to the hilt when he decided in 1945 to go into baseball, a game to which he hadn't paid much attention previously.

He started by paying $250,000 for a one-third interest in the San Francisco Seals of the Pacific Coast League, a big money-maker in those days. Soon afterward he bought another third, and eventually he gained complete ownership.

Thus started a nine-year reign remembered as one of the most startling in baseball history.

Fagan paid Lefty O'Doul $40,000 a year to manage the club, making him by far the highest-paid manager in the minors.

To attract the carriage trade, Fagan placed a uniformed doorman at the main entrance of Seals Stadium. And, to keep the players well-groomed, he equipped the locker room with a barber.

In 1946, Fagan shipped his players off to spring training in Honolulu—an unheard-of luxury for the minors. In the two succeeding seasons, he installed his team in an even fancier spring training layout at Heavenly Hana.(Fagan's resort on the island of Maui.

But disenchantment set in during later years, and Fagan fired O'Doul after the team finished eighth in 1951.

There he helped lead the drive which in 1952 gained the PCL a temporary "open" classification, intended as a step toward creating a third major league. The plan didn't work out.

However, Fagan kept up a clamor for major league baseball in San Francisco, complaining to his own detriment, as owner of the Seals, that minor league ball "wasn't good enough for a city of this size."

In 1954, he sold the Seals to the Little Corporation.

"I still feel that San Francisco's destiny lies with major league baseball," he said. "I tried to do what I could to bring that end about but I'm afraid I didn't succeed too well."

But Fagan lived to see major league baseball in the city—in 1958, when the New York Giants of the National League came west.

Fagan's death came as he slept yesterday morning. His attorney, Herman Phleger, said Fagan had developed "minor" heart trouble about four years ago, but was not under a doctor's care.

Coach Must Go On

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—Iowa Football Coach Forest Evashevski, whose Hawkeye teams won Rose Bowl games twice in three years in the late 50's, had a date to address a doctors' meeting. He also had a cold and a temperature of 102 degrees.

He made the speech anyhow. He could have had medical attention promptly if he had needed it. But he urged the doctors to work with high school coaches in spotting athletic injuries which could be serious while appearing to be minor.

Tars Lose Bruising Tourney Semi-Final Battle To Shasta

College of Marin Tars were outmuscled by Shasta College in the Golden Valley Conference Basketball Tournament semi-finals Saturday at Redding by a score of 51-46. Shasta went on to defeat Santa Rosa for the championship.

The easy-going Tar coach said officials were quite lax in calling fouls, especially in the second half. And at one point Riemcke was slapped by a technical foul for criticizing the officiating. "Shasta went ahead for keeps with about three minutes to play when one of their players actually straight-armed one of my kids and scored a layup. I protested the roughness, so they charged me a technical foul. That put Shasta three points ahead of us and we never got back."

Prior to that it was a see-saw battle with the lead changing hands several times. The score was knotted at 25-all at halftime.

SHOW COURAGE

When asked who was most impressive for the Tars, Riemcke replied, "Playing under those rough conditions no one can look good. Every time we tried to work a pattern they (Shasta) would just bodily knock us out of it. My kids showed a lot of courage, though. It got to be a case of shoot the ball and then try to protect yourself. We gave Shasta the closest battle in the tournament."

Lynn Livie led Marin scorers with 17 while Ron Blum scored 12 and led in rebounds. John Blomquist had seven points, Mike Rawitser six and Ernie Bray five.

Marin returns to what they hope will be a less bruising brand of basketball tomorrow against San Francisco City College in San Francisco.

Wednesday night the Tars entertain Riverside College, then they vacation until Dec. 28 when they go to Oakland City College.

OREGON CLOBBERED

Pro Tactics Spark Penn State Triumph

The Penn State quarterbacks shuttled in and out of the game with strategy much the same as Brown sends in plays for his Cleveland Browns via a pair of guards.

"I don't like to call the plays," said Engle. "I like to let the boys play it. But there wasn't much time and I thought I had the plays for another score."

He did. State scored and left the field leading 21-6. The touchdown loomed even bigger when Oregon tallied the only touchdown of the third period. What could have been a 14-12 game was 21-12. State scored three times in the final period to complete a rout.

Engle credited his team's second straight Liberty Bowl victory to his superior numbers. He was able to alternate two complete units against the thinner Oregon forces.

"We tried to make them play two games," the State coach explained, referring to the use of his "22-man first team" which forced Oregon to battle two teams instead of one.

Dick Hoak, senior quarterback from Jeannette, Pa., was voted the game's most valuable player award. Hoak scored two touchdowns, passed for another and set up the first State TD with a 16-yard pass to the Oregon 1. He also intercepted two passes in the Lion's rousing fourth-quarter finish, each leading to a touchdown.

A crowd of 16,624 sat in subfreezing weather to see this second annual bowl game at the Philadelphia Stadium. Although it was an artistic succes—an interesting game despite the score—the promotors took a financial bath. They're as hardy, however, as the fans who braved the elements. They said they'll be back in 1961.

Nice Guy Nixon Fired By 'Skins

The Philadelphia Eagles, the National Football League's Eastern champions, bombed the 'Skins 38-28 yesterday on the passing of Norm Van Brocklin and Sonny Jurgensen. It was Washington's ninth defeat against one win and two ties.

Commendable as it was in defeat, the performance left the Redskins in the Eastern basement and failed to save the popular Nixon. George Preston Marshall, owner of the club, confirmed after the game previous reports that Nixon's contract would not be renewed. He said Nixon, ninth of his coaches in a 24-season span at Washington, had been informed two weeks ago.

Marvin Bass Named South Carolina Coach

South Carolina's athletic director, Warren Giese, announced Saturday that he was retiring as coach at the age of 36 and that he would be succeeded by Bass, a 41-year-old former aide and last season as assistant coach at Georgia Tech.

In five seasons as head coach, Giese's teams won 28, lost 21 and tied one. The 1960 record, 3-6-1, was his poorest.

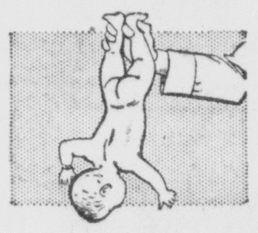
WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:
Better Health Through Knowledge
If It's A Boy
• Plant Rash
• Hospital Care


Q. What is the best age for circumcision? Is it always desirable?
A. The time-honored age for circumcision is about the end of the first week of life but it can be done earlier just as well. Give the doctor leeway by making arrangements before the baby arrives. For young babies the procedure is simple and all but painless—later it's quite painful. Aside from the important factor of personal hygiene, there are other possible advantages of circumcision. There is evidence that local cancer in the male and cervical cancer in married women is less frequent among people who routinely practice circumcision.
Q. I have recently developed a skin condition that looks like poison ivy but I have not been near ivy. I do have a recently acquired philodendron plant on my desk. Could this cause the trouble?
A. Yes. Doctors have reported cases of skin eruptions due to this plant. Remove the plant from your desk for a week or two. The rash may clear up.
Q. What is meant by "progressive" hospital care?
A. It is a method of tailoring hospital services to the needs of the patient. The very ill patient receives round-the-clock attention comparable to that provided by private duty nursing. As the patient improves he is given intermediate care as needed. The last step is assignment to a self-help unit. Here, the almost-recovered patient does nearly everything for himself. This method, now being tried in a number of hospitals, is intended to provide better overall services without additional cost to the patient.
Three o'clock in the morning is not the time to acquaint your physician with symptoms that have bothered you for days. If you develop trouble, call or visit your doctor during his office hours. Don't wait until the illness becomes acute.

Decision Pending Disclosure Of Kennedy Reaction

PARIS (AP) — Ministers of the North Atlantic alliance are going to wait for the reaction of President-elect John F. Kennedy before deciding on a conditional American offer to equip NATO with a nuclear striking force pegged to Polaris submarines.

Winding up their annual three-day review yesterday, the foreign, defense and finance ministers of the 15-nation North Atlantic Alliance deferred action on the U.S. proposal until a spring meeting scheduled for May 8-10 in Oslo, Norway.

PARLEY PENDS

President Eisenhower's top aides put forward the blueprint for a force of medium-range ballistic missiles under combined control in an apparent move to induce U.S. allies to forge independent nuclear programs.

There was little immediate sign this maneuver would succeed. France, for one, has made it plain she intends to go ahead with her own atomic striking force.

The offer hinged on several big conditions — approval by Kennedy, agreement by the allies on how to pay for the force, and changing the McMahon law that now makes it illegal for the United States to put nuclear warheads in foreign hands.

PROPOSED PLAN

This is the way the proposed plan would work:

Five U. S. nuclear submarines, each armed with 16 Polaris missiles tipped with nuclear warheads, would be placed under joint North Atlantic command providing the Allies bought an additional 100 missiles costing about one million dollars each.

These additional 100 missiles perhaps including some solid-fuel Pershings, could be based either on land or sea.

U. S. spokesmen at the NATO meeting put great emphasis on the price tag of the program. They said the United States has come on hard times and her allies must shoulder a greater share of the cost of defending Europe.

Susanville was named for Susan, daughter of Isaac Roop, who settled in the region in 1853.

Turncoats Charge U.S. Will Continue To Spy

MOSCOW (UPI) — Two American defectors, William Martin and Bernon Mitchell, former code clerks of the National Security Agency, charged today that the United States will "continue to carry out subversive activities and interference in the internal affairs of other countries."

Quoted in an interview with the official Tass news agency, the two who defected to the Soviet Union last summer said they expected the United States to continue and to enlarge its intelligence activities.

Martin disclosed that he had married a Russian girl since his defection. He called her "a wonderful Soviet girl and excellent housekeeper." He said he, his wife and Mitchell, who once resided in San Rafael, planned to devote themselves to "peaceful, scientific work."

Martin said Allen Dulles' retention as chief of the Central Intelligence Agency was an indication that American espionage activities would go on as usual.

"Of course," he said, "Dulles is the fountainhead and organizer of all these activities which have characterized U. S. aggressive foreign policy in recent years."

Then he added that "The United States has begun a new program of espionage in employing spy satellites."

Mitchell said "I don't believe that the United States intends to cease its communications intelligence activities.

It said Martin made the charge that the United States, "despite great failures," would continue with alleged subversion and interference in the affairs of other nations.

Problems Of Aged

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nation's aged are mostly worried about income, health and medical care, family life and housing, the government reported today.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare said these were the four topics most of the elderly delegates want discussed at the forthcoming White House Conference on Aging. Of the 1,600 delegates who have offered suggestions so far, more than 600 selected these topics. More than 2,7000 persons are expected to attend the Jan. 9-12 White House parley.

About 30 species of bamboo are grown in California, mostly for their ornamental features.

Junior Red Crossers Busy Spreading Christmas Cheer

Although not specifically designated as Christmas gifts, these small boxes are symbolic of the Christmas spirit, for they show care and concern of American children for other young people throughout the world, especially the less fortunate. The boxes are shipped to children in disaster areas throughout the entire world.

In addition to the gift box program, Junior Red Crossers have been busy with a widespread program of providing service to various hospitals and institutions.

Tree ornaments, favors, Christmas corsages and socks, scrapbooks, gifts, cookies and murals have been contributed by numerous service groups to Sonoma State Hospital, Imola State Hospital, Veterans Hospital at Yountville and Lucas Valley.

Among the contributing groups are Tri-D's Girls YMCA, Leslie Davis; Tree Top Blue Birds, Mrs. N. E. Gravem; Little Ladies Blue Birds, Mrs. Spencer Greaves; Singing Blue Birds, Mrs. W. B. Mathews; Kaho-Kici-Yapi Camp Fire Girls, Mrs. James Clark; Ta-Ya-Wa-Hai-No Camp Fire Girls, Mrs. M. W. Milot, Ta-Ka-Ta Camp Fire Girls, Mrs. William Eastman Jr.; Chick-O-Wa Camp Fire Girls, Mrs. H. Jill Cerwin Bride Of T. A. Mondrogon

An event of interest during the holidays in Mill Valley was the wedding Sunday, of Jill Catherine Cerwin of Mill Valley and Thomas Aurthor Mondrogon of San Rafael.

When Jill walked down the aisle on the arm of her father, Col. Steven S. Cerwin, she was wearing a floor length gown of ivory peau de soie with chapel train. The fitted bodice had a square neckline and three-quarter sleeves and insets of lace in front, as well as in the front of the bouffant skirt.

Her fingertip veil was held by a coronet of lace petals, and she carried a crescent shaped bouquet of white roses and gardenias with ivory net.

Her attendants were her sister, Joyce Cerwin of Mill Valley, Mrs. Stephen Kacharos of Novato and Mrs. James E. Scheiner of Mill Valley. All were gowned in ballerina length frocks of pink satin fashioned on lines similar to those of the bride's gown. Their headdresses were flat bows matching their dresses, and their flowers were pale green spider chrysanthemums accented with dark green foliage.

The bridegroom's mother was attired in a lavender crepe dress and black hat, and her accessories were black. Her corsage was of pink cymbidium orchids.

Serving the bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mondrogon of San Rafael, as best man was Robert Grunigen of Mill Valley, and escorting guests to their pews were David Taylor and Jack Martin of Mill Valley.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Bob's of Marin in Corte Madera. Decor followed a Christmas theme, and the three tiered wedding cake was decorated on top with wedding bells and encircled at the base with gardenias.

On their return the young couple will live in San Rafael.

Jill and Tom both were graduated from Tamalpais High School, and she is also a graduate of the Grace Ball Secretarial College. Before her marriage she was employed at a Bank of America in San Francisco.

The bridegroom is employed by the A. G. Schoonmaker Co. Inc. in Sausalito. He has a brother, Ted, and another sister, Ramona Mondrogon, both of San Rafael.

Nancy Graves Shower Honoree

A kitchen shower planned by Mrs. Thomas B. Wiper was held at the Sausalito home of Mrs. Norton Meyer on Tuesday when the original hostess was forced to give in to a virus.

The honoree was Nancy Graves, who is across the continent but who has many friends in Sausalito who wanted to remember her.

Nancy, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Graves of Kent Woodlands, will be married on Dec. 30 at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Mickford, Rhode Island. Her fiance is George L. Rieger, a Yale student now serving in the Army. Mr. and Mrs. Graves will leave Marin this week to join their daughter for Christmas and the wedding.

A 'Dime-A-Dip' Dinner Precedes Tamelpa Meeting

Highlight of the evening was Mrs. J. V. Toschi's accordion playing of many Christmas carols and old favorites together with community singing. At the conclusion of dinner packages were distributed, and secret pals were revealed. New ones will be drawn for the coming year on Dec. 27.

Through such activities as the "Dime-A-Dip" dinner, Native Daughters of the Golden West raises funds to carry on philanthropic work in connection with children's foundation, scholarships, restoration of Father Junipero Serra's missions and restoration of the many historical landmarks

A special party will be held by the surgical nurses and central supply who specialize in homemade goodies. This party will be held Wednesday, Dec. 21, between 1:30 and 3 p.m. In charge of arrangements is Mrs. Jean Dalk, R.N., assisted by Mrs. Cecile Vranjos, head nurse in central supply. With Practice You Can Wax Eloquent As A Candlemaker

By VIVIAN BROWN

With a little practice you can wax eloquent as a candlemaker. The result? Candles for giving, candles for the burning.

Prepared waxes on the market make candlemaking simple, but you can also mix your own combination of paraffin and bees wax or stereic wax.

Melt the wax in a double boiler. To achieve colors desired, add oil paints or wax crayons a little at a time. White, red and green are the popular Christmas candles, but in recent years the trend is to pastels.

Soak wick four hours in water, salt and borax, dip it in wax, and then hang up to dry. This insures longer burning qualities.

Milk cartons are popular molds for square candles. These require about 1¾ lbs. of wax, but must be supported with masking tape or other material wound around the center of the carton so that it will not give when the wax is poured.

Leave enough wick so that it can be trimmed to the proper length after the candle has hardened in the refrigerator or other cold spot.

If glasses or other containers are used, wipe them with vegetable oil before pouring the wax. This gives them an attractive sheen.

Candles may be left in glass molds, however. Lovely Yuletide effects may be achieved by putting designs on the glass. Use glitter dust, red and green sequins, beads, to make a pretty wreath on a brandy snifter or other glass. Initials, Christmas greetings or other Yuletide symbols also serve to personalize gifts. There are special glues for this purpose.

Tree shapes in candles may be obtained by using Pilsner style glasses. Trim these with tiny ornaments, the kind that come on a string, after the candle is removed from its glass mold.

Hollow out candles near their base to make room in the niche for a tiny figure of the Infant Jesus for a candle that will be cherished by the recipients.

Use pins to attach pearls, beads, sequins, cranberries, gumdrops or other tiny decorations to homemade candles. If these seem too long, make them shorter by slipping them to the desired length.

Snowy effects are pretty but wax snow is messy for amateurs. Still, if you like to try your hand at it, beat the wax after it has begun to harden. Coat it gently over the candle you wish to decorate. Popular snow candles are tinted pale pink or green for delicate effects.

A beautiful gift candle is a round one covered with silver or gold dust. Use a deep bowl to get as rounded an effect as possible. When hard, remove from bowl and cover it completely with silver sprinkles, layer over layer. It'll take about 4 lbs. of wax, but it will last through many Yuletides.

Two Stage Party For Classmates

Not all the holiday parties in Sausalito are for adults. Saturday, Kathleen Borla with Susan Applebaum of San Rafael as co-hostesses had the Sausalito Woman's Club for the party they gave for their Dominican classmates and their dates.

Peacock Was Piece de Resistance At Christmas In Merry England

NEW YORK (UPI) — Peacock was the piece de resistance at Christmas dinners in medieval England. The elegant bird was usually served roasted, garnished with its brilliant plumage. But sometimes it appeared in a pie, with head and tail emerging from opposite sides of the crust.

The English have long since abandoned this custom, but they continue to serve roast beef, which was also popular in the Middle Ages. Cooking the "joint" in those days was literally a dog's life. The unfortunate animal was harnessed to a turnspit where it had to run constantly to turn the beef until it was done. This sometimes took as long as three hours.

Beef itself became part of England's Christmas tradition for a practical reason, says the American Meat Institute. Few medieval farms had enough barn space or feed to care for all livestock through the winter. Consequently, the oldest oxen were slaughtered in the fall, and the meat hung to cure and age until Christmas.

Elsewhere in Europe, Christmas dinner traditions sometimes stemmed from religious beliefs. An old Ukranian custom called for Christmas Eve dinner of 12 courses, one for each apostle. Among the traditional foods were buckwheat and mushroom soup, prunes, pancakes, cabbage, fish, bread and nuts.

England's King Henry VIII is remembered best for his many wives and inelegant table manners. But he is also credited with establishing the tradition of boar's head for Christmas dinner.

This custom is believed to have started in pre-Christian days, when Druids killed boars to sacrifice their heads to the goddess Freya at the winter solstice.

The modern variation of this custom calls for suckling pig, roasted whole, served with an apple in its mouth. Norwegian tradition includes this dish, along with porridge, lutfisk (lye-soaked codfish), cakes and cookies. Suckling pig was also customary for Christmas dinner in Denmark, Sweden, Germany, Rumania, Yugoslavia, and pre-Communist Russia.

A hearty appetite was necessary in Russia. Well-heeled families preceded their 10-course meal with a buffet of as many as 30 hors d'oeuvres. At dinner, the suckling pig was accompanied by mushrooms, kasha (buckwheat grain), horseradish and a fruited pudding.

In the United States and France, a favorite Christmas dinner entree is turkey with stuffing. Regional stuffing favorites here include oyster, corn meal, sausage, giblet and mushroom. In France, chestnut and truffle dressings are preferred.

The Christmas bird in Denmark, Bulgaria and Germany is often a goose—served with prune and apple stuffing and red cabbage in the former, on a bed of sauerkraut in the latter two.

Baked carp wins the vote in Czechoslovakia and Austria. But the record for an all-encompassing Christmas dinner was set in medieval England with a pie reportedly baked for a Sir Henry Grey.

It was nine feet in circumference, weighed 165 pounds and was served from a specially built cart.

The ingredients included 2 bushels of flour, 20 pounds of butter, 4 each of geese, wild ducks and partridges, 2 each of rabbits, woodcocks, neat's tongues (cattle tongues), and curlews, 6 pigeons and 7 blackbirds.

Greenbrae P-TA Program Presented By The Students

Attending the Greenbrae PT-A annual Children's Christmas program and tea on Wednesday, Dec. 14 was like opening Christmas gifts on Christmas Day with each gift being a bigger and better surprise.

The program was under the direction of Anthony Bacich, who is administrative assistant for instruction, for the Kentfield School District. The children under his supervision who are in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades added originality and information to the program by reading original poems and presenting essays on the customs and celebrations of other nationalities and countries throughout the world. This new presentation was well received by the audience which numbered over 200.

"Out of the mouths of babes come some wonderful songs and noises." This old saying was supported by the program the first grade offered under the direction of Miss Elva Dughi, first grade teacher. The little girls were angels, each wearing a silver halo while the boys were kings bearing gifts with great pomp and ceremony. Even "Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer" made his appearance in the persons of Ricky Norton and Karen O'Donnell.

The background decorations on the stage were the contributions of the kindergarten classes of Mrs. Elna Farr. The children had made happy ginger bread men, large candy canes, and Christmas trees. The Christmas tree was in the multi-purpose rooms and was beautifully decorated by all the children in the school. The original and colorful ornaments made the traditional Christmas tree sparkle.

Mrs. Frances Brodie, music consultant, directed the fourth, fifth and sixth grades in choral renditions of Christmas favorites. Even the children helped Santa in the Santa Cha Cha Cha. The choral groups were dressed in green smocks and white collars and red bows. Everyone enjoyed the singing by the groups because of their happy and smiling faces which transmitted the joys of the forthcoming holiday.

The presentation of the colors was led by the Intermediate Girl Scout Troop No. 183. Mrs. William Ecker and Mrs. Warren Wisecarver are the leaders. The girls wore their green uniforms with wide red sashes to conform to the day's program. Carol Ecker, Rene Wisecarver, Kit Hermann, Dianne Schmidt, Joyce Matthews, and Jean Christopher took part in the ceremony.

The tea hostess, Mrs. Lionel Harwin was assisted by Mrs. Herbert Bergren. The table was bedecked with holly and ornaments and colorful cookies.

Holiday Decor Has Changed Since Grandmother's Day

In keeping with the trend of recent years, the three is as likely to be gold, silver, white or baby blue.

The shape of baubles for the tree runs even further afield. Among the more bizarre new ones are Walt Disney characters, seahorses, harlequins, miniature oil lamps, drummer boys, Indians and mermaids with pearly tails. There are gilded spiders, too, spinning silvery webs. And for the sophisticate, there are pink elephants.

Traditional ball-type ornaments are still around, but many have grown to balloon size. Still others look like jumbo fresh water pearls. Star-shaped ornaments and twinklers, spin in the heat of the tree lights.

The lights of the tree, too, have undergone changes. Many look like strings of red roses or white reindeer, each rose or deer centered with a light. Others look like snowballs. White, but translucent, the snowballs have different-colored bulbs inside and take on the rainbow hues of icicles in the sunlight.

Santa-shaped tree ornaments wear orange, green or brown caps instead of the familiar furbanded scarlet one. And icicles of silver foil have given way to saran one in blue, green and gold as well as silver.

Decorations for the hearth, table, windows and door have remained more traditional. They include huge felt stockings in white, red, green and powder blue; gamboling reindeer, decked with sprigs of holly, wreaths of roses and gilded halters; and angels made of loops of white satin ribbon with gold paper wings.

Turtle Neck

St. Paul's Group Elects New Officers

Mrs. Harry Rothrock was elected president of the Episcopal Church Women of St. Paul's parish, San Rafael, at an annual meeting of the group Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. John D. Riley, wife of the rector.

Other new officers named to serve for a two-year term were Mrs. Harry Pepoon, first vice president; Mrs. Norman Bourke, recording secretary, and Mrs. John Stetson, treasurer.

Outgoing president is Mrs. Paul Nielsen Jr. Officers who will continue for another year are Mrs. Byron Leydecker, second vice president, and Mrs. William Packard, corresponding secretary.

In the absence of Mrs. Nielsen, the meeting was conducted by Mrs. Leydecker, who introduced the rector, Rev. John T. Riley. Rev. Riley read the story, "The Gift of the Magi," by O. Henry. Carols were also sung by the group with Mrs. James Tramel at the organ.

Annual reports were given by Mrs. Carl Schmitt, outgoing secretary, and Mrs. Robert G. Alderman, retiring treasurer. Mrs. Alderman's report was read by Mrs. Edward Walraven.

After the business meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Riley assisted by Mrs. Trevor Hoy, Virginia Rothrock and Nora Baird.

Give Them A Laugh

The nation's shelves this year are stocked with smiles. For example,—

Blockheads. The faces on these ceramic noggins depict gloom or glory. Can be used on closet shelves as hat holders. Hollowed area could conceal family jewels. Priced for less than $3.

Brush for Fald-headed Man. Downy soft, it caresses stray hairs on a destitute pate and smooths fringe around the ears gently into place. Prices vary.

Ice Cream Tooth Brush. Brush handles have aromas like vanilla, chocolate, orange, strawberry, lemon or lime designed to lure kiddies to the brushing routine.

Mermaids. King Neptune's daughter bats her long lashes from the floor where she is a bathroom rug. Same witty carpet manufacturer produces a cowardly lion, choo-choo train (each rug a car) and face cards. Priced up to $10.

From linen shops to notions counters you will find plenty of revelry on tea towels, aprons, throw pillows, cocktail napkins, drinking glasses, bar accessories.

But choose your witty gift carefully, buyers advise. What may be one person's joke could very well be somebody else's insult.

Shouldn't Gag Officials By Threats Or Anything

The proponents of the Harbor Point Towers apartment plans raised an important question when they demanded that the County Planning Director refrain from discussion the proposition publicly in advance of a decision by the Board of Supervisors.

When the proponents threatened Mary Summers with an effort to get her fired, they raised the question of the propriety of county department heads discussing issues pending before county boards or commissions.

The question is a fair one (although we can't say the same for the manner in which it was raised).

And the answer seems to us plain and simple:

County officials should not be gagged; they should be permitted, even encouraged, to place the full facts before the public.

One of the main considerations in deciding issues before our Board of Supervisors is, quite properly, 'How do people generally feel about the question.'

If public opinion is firm — one way or the other, the Board of Supervisors ought first to know what public opinion is, and second to be guided within reasonable limits by public desires.

If public opinion is to be enlightened, we must have full public discussion of public issues. The adoption of any policy by a public agency which would forbid or even discourage presentation of facts and opinion by informed public officials should not be seriously considered for one moment.

Over a period of several years KTIM's weekly Sounding Board program has presented pro and con discussion of public questions. The result has unquestionably been for public benefit.

In the instance at hand, we were rather favorably inclined toward the proposal for tower apartments at Strawberry Point. The idea seemed to capture our fancy.

We couldn't understand Mrs. Summers' objections. Because she was intimidated, we were prevented from hearing her give them on the Sounding Board, where proponents would have had an opportunity to refute them.

Now we are in the dark.

We wonder what it was that the proponents were afraid to have her say in public.

If the Board of Supervisors asked us for advice, we would give it as follows:

1—Turn down the request of the present applicants on the grounds that they proceeded improperly.

2—Adopt a policy pronouncement proclaiming the duty and responsibility of county department heads to engage in public discussion of public questions.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

WORRY IS NOT THE ANSWER

"It is not work that kills but worry," is an old proverb worth more than passing reflection.

Too many persons allow themselves to be plagued by needless anxiety. They forget that worry never baked a cake, built a bridge, won a battle or solved a problem.

In fact mere fretting does little more than make a bad situation that much worse. As someone said with rare insight, "Worry is the interest we pay on trouble before it is due."

Rather than be tormented by futile fear that creates little more than ulcers, do what you can by prayer, word and deed to face up to challenges at home, work, school or in meeting the towering issues of our day.

God will give you all the strength you need to cope with every situation if you are motivated by faith, hope and charity.

If you do your best and leave the rest to Him, there will be little danger that you will be bogged down by the type of anxiety that frustrates but does not act.

"Seek first the kingdom of God and His justice, and all these things shall be given you besides."

(Matthew 6:33)

In You, O Lord Jesus, I place my trust for time and eternity.

Col. Warren E. Carey, director of the California Aeronautics Commission, warned that Marin County must have an airport or be "left out in the cold" in future aviation affairs. Members of the North Coast Council, California State Chamber of Commerce, proposed that the Golden Gate Bridge be taken over and operated by the federal government because of its importance as a major link in a national defense highway.

Not Enough News On Books Battle

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

As the father of a student in the Tamalpais Union High School District, I am a little surprised that the San Francisco Chronicle gives more coverage to the attempted book banning in this district than the Independent-Journal.

How great is this intellect that now wishes to judge literature? What evil have Salinger and Steinbeck reported that does not exist in life?

Should students not learn the truth? Without knowledge they obviously cannot choose between good and evil. Ignorance cannot be called virtue. Shakespeare must be the next to go, for it was he who said "The devil can cite Scripture for his purposes."

Censorship Is Dangerous To All

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I hope that I am only one of many voices raised in protest to Rev. Barkowska's suggestion that Salinger's The Catcher in the Rye and Steinbeck's Of Mice and Men be banned from Redwood High School.

It is by no means new that censorship is attempted because it offends the censor's own moral sensibilities. He, of course, then generalizes that what is good for him is good for the rest of us.

It is curious, though, that in this instance the minister has read only excerpts from the books in question because, according to the report in the I-J of Dec. 9, "The Catcher In The Rye was sickening, I couldn't read it all because of the words it uses." It is an affrontry to the intellect to condemn books on such evidence. He would, by inference, let our high school students read only material that is bland, completely inoffensive to all, mediocre, but most importantly not contrary to the minister's concept of what is moral and good for the rest of us.

He ignores the fact that these two pieces of literature have been highly regarded for their form, content and message by the general body of literary critics and thinking people for many years. They are significant pieces of literature, not to be denied to our soon-to-be-adults, but rather to be read by them, discussed and dissected with the help of their teachers, letting the individual student then decide whether or not he personally agrees or disagrees with the work.

It is such lack of self-respect for the individual's reason, morality and intellect that has led to the bland mediocrity we see about us.

Jefferson and Madison understood the dangers of such censorship, and thus the Bill of Rights included, thank God, the First Amendment. Significantly it is the first and it is one of the true bulwarks of American freedom and individual liberties. It has, of course, been tested legally by would-be censors since its inception.

The prototype of so-called obscenity legal decisions (Roth vs. U.S., 354 US 476) points out, in effect, that because a piece of literature contains some words or concepts which are abhorrent to some is no reason to deny that work the protection of the First Amendment.

The point to be recognized here is that censorship to high school students is as dangerous as it is to college students, as it is to the general population in a free society.

Church Keep Out Of Public Schools

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Your recent publication concerning the Baptist Church's censorship of "Catcher In the Rye" and "Of Mice and Men" from the reading list at Redwood High School, has made me wish to write this letter.

Has the church forgotten that religion can not enter into the field of Public Education? The church has a right to censure its own parishioners, but it has not the right to dictate what should be taught in a school where all religions are brought together.

Since these books are easily available to all people in book stores and libraries, to children and young adults, I feel that an expert teacher should help them to interpret them with the cultural customs of different areas of our country as the reason for their use.

Further, I doubt that the banning of pornographic language or the banning of its use ever made a true Christian out of anyone.

Church Lauded For Program

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

The First Presbyterian Church of San Anselmo favored Marin County on Sunday (Dec. 11) with a Baroque concert of high excellence. The Chancel Choir of the church, directed from the piano by Wilbur Russell and assisted by the organ with violins of the Marin Symphony Orchestra, sang the motet "Open to Me the Gates of Justice" and the cantata "Rejoice Beloved Christians" by Dietrich Buxtehude . . .

The Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo is very much to be commended for presenting these little known works . . .

Preservation of the values in Western Civilization is a major concern of the American people, particularly in the light of the challenge to those values which is posed by Soviet communism. We ought to try to understand the nature and sources of the heritage that we propose to defend, and Sunday's concert gave a significant view of the foundations of our way of life.

This writer, for one, hopes the church will continue such exploration into the varieties of human experience — perhaps with more publicity.

A famous pollster recently sent telegrams to a hundred of the country's leading industrialists requesting a 300-word summary on what business was likely to do in the next eight months. In transit one of the wires was garbled, and asked to give his summary in THREE words.

He complied manfully, though his effort caused some consternation in the pollster's office before he figured out what had taken place. The three-word wire read: "Go to hell."

A lady author recently moved into what is probably the tiniest house in Greenwich Village. She has to put her elbow out the window to get a dress on properly. Her publisher has given her the perfect name for this beautiful mansion: "Writer's Cramp."

It's Season For Jolly Children, Santas, Shopkeepers And Birds

It's the season to be jolly, also the season for children, men of commerce and birds.

The shopkeeper is accused of having good spirit because it means more money. Yet, people crowd his shops buying, enjoying displays and tasting his puddings.

Looking for the Christmas spirit the other day in Mill Valley, we first looked for old Claus. Past the Bank of America, all decorated, we checked at Rutherford's, all decorated. Then at Strawbridge's — full of Christmas cards.

"He just left, headed that way," we were told. "He said 'Oh-Ho-Ho'!"

FINDING THE SAINT seated out of the rain in Mosher's Shoe Shop, we joined him. His beard was wet. "Painful to comb out," he winked.

We asked him why he always said "Oh-Ho-Ho." "I don't know," he answered, "Santa Claus always says 'Oh-Ho-Ho'."

A crew-cut boy with a baseball patch sewn to his jacket approached Santa cautiously. Soon on his lap, he was asked what he wanted for Christmas.

"I don't know," he said, evidently in awestruck by his nearness to the man. Eyeing his white beard, he asked, "Can I ask you something?"

"Yes," said Claus.

"Does it feel comfortable at night to sleep—with your beard?"

"It's very warm," said Santa.

At this, Rob Everts, 4, leaped down.

DWARVES WERE sewing on buttons and repairing zippers in the snowy window of the Mill Valley Cleaners. Shopkeeper Irene Hukoveh of Novato said she had fun with preparing the window. "It sort of fell together," she said.

Christmas carols were being played in the Wells Fargo Bank American Trust Co.; Christmas stollen on sale at Meier's Bakery; the "Red Balloon" being shown for youngsters at Brown's Hall by the Homestead Valley Improvement Club.

At Santa's Toys, owner Henry Wolf said, "Perspiration is in the air." Scientific things are popular this year, he added. "Space things for boys and more microscopes being sold for girls this year than ever before."

CHILDREN HAVE always been known to be full of Christmas spirit—or spirits—since they are not so inhibited to have but a one-track mind.

In Sausalito, Marsh Boates has put up his Christmas tree again, hanging on a wire about 12 feet overhead between his father's garage and the Sausalito taxi service.

Marsh has been doing this "ever since he was that high," says taxi man Tom Rylant. "Of course, he was too small at first and so his father helped him."

SOPHISTICATES SAY Christmas is for the birds.

It's true, said Harriet Wilton of Mill Valley, who sells 900 pounds of bird seed a month and more in December. She also sells bird scratch, feeders and seed in bell shapes as Christmas gifts.

"Seems to be more birds around Christmas," she said.

Well, we confide that wherever the Christmas spirit is, you can't put your finger on it on any particular street or with any particular bird.

Kennedy Being Unjustly Criticized For Being Slow With His Cabinet

It is true that Kennedy forecast that he would complete his Cabinet by Thanksgiving. He hasn't done so.

The fact is that Kennedy is showing himself alert and prudent in taking a second look and a new approach to selecting his Cabinet in light of the unexpected closeness of the vote which has now dropped to 113,000 out of 68,333,000.

IT SEEMS TO ME that Kennedy should be praised, not criticized, for taking more time to adjust his Cabinet thinking to the unforeseeable circumstance of a country divided right down the middle over the Presidency.

It is good for Kennedy and it is good for the nation that the President-elect is in the process of shaping an administration to fit the shape of the election; that is, an administration of national consolidation.

The first appointees all reflect this objective.

As Secretary of Commerce, Luther Hodges, governor of North Carolina, is a Southern Democrat of moderate liberalism. He has been a successful business man who has met a payroll and made a profit. He knows our own economy and understands the European economy through serving as chief of the Marshall Plan in West Germany.

AS SECRETARY of Health, Education, and Welfare, Gov. Abe Ribicoff of Connecticut, though a strong partisan of Kennedy's, has been a strong bi-partisan in his public service, appealing almost equally to Republicans and Democrats.

As Secretary of the Interior, Rep. Stewart L. Udall of Arizona is a dedicated conservationist in the Theodore Roosevelt tradition and a practical liberal He wants to see more government in the development of our power resources but does not wish to freeze private power out.

As Secretary of Defense, 44-year-old Robert S. McNamara, president of the Ford Motor Company, a registered Republican and a political independent, will bring great drive and outstanding executive talent to the Pentagon.

As Secretary of State, Dean Rusk, president of the Rockefeller Foundation and former Assistant Secretary of State, is young, vigorous, and experienced in diplomacy. He has a good objective mind. He knows what Soviet and Chinese Communism are up to in the world. He is aware that what the free world does in its own behalf will be far more decisive than what it tries to do against Communism.

THE NON-APPOINTMENT of either Adlai Stevenson or Chester Bowles as Secretary of State reveals as much about the kind of Administration which Kennedy is shaping as does the appointment of Rusk. The naming of either would have plunged Kennedy into unwise controversy at the very start.

They will both hold high and useful positions as U.N. Ambassador and as Under Secretary of State. But they will be positions from which they can make major recommendations, not make major decisions.

Kennedy is creating a Cabinet designed to unite a divided electorate in order to win support for what he believes most needs to be done.

Teen-Agers Are Temperamental, But So Were We At Their Age

Teen-agers are temperamental. Have you noticed?

Here's Mary, 15. This morning she was in the clouds. Her boy friend phoned her before breakfast. She danced around the house. She sang. Her food tasted wonderful She kissed the whole family goodbye and went happily to school.

This afternoon? She's in the dumps. She got a bad grade on a test. Her favorite teacher bawled her out. Her boy friend was too busy playing tennis to walk her home. The world is awful. Nobody loves her. Everyone expects too much.

Mary goes to her room and cries and cries.

Is Mary abnormal? No.

Most girls are that way, at 15. So are boys. Maybe at 3 p.m. they're quite grown up. They seem industrious, sensible, honest, careful of other folks' feelings.

Then at 4 p.m. they seem to be babies. Or they're lazy, foolish, deceitful, careless.

One minute they obey, respectfully. The next minute they rebel, resentfully. You never know what to expect.

Why the changes? Probably it's because civilization is hard on them. They feel grown up. Every internal drive is for independence. They want all the freedom of adulthood. But they still are children.

They can't marry. They can't get jobs and establish their own homes. They must go to school. They must take orders. They're thwarted a thousand times a week.

So they react by being temperamental and neurotic. We were the same at their age. Remember?

(Q) "I saw my daughter necking with her boy friend in his car. They were too busy to hear me approaching. I was shocked. She said all the girls necked nowadays. Do they?"

P.R.S.

(A) No. However, a larger percentage of them neck than did when we were in high school. It is one of the bad trends in teen-age life. Try to show her that necking is risky and wrong.

RESEARCHER SAYS:

Babies Costly, But Girls Are Cheaper

By BETTY BAUER

ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI)—Everyone knows that babies are costly, but here's something that may come as a surprise. Girl babies are cheaper than boy babies.

Many young couples who are having their first child usually guide themselves by the old household rule that a boy baby costs less because he requires less fancy frills, cute decorations and extra clothing than a little girl.

But not so, says Louise Archbold, who did quite a bit of research on the problem working on her master's degree at the State College of Home Economics at Cornell University.

Miss Archbold surveyed the arrival of 50 "first bundles of heaven" here and found they cost a total of $33,934. That, she said, broke down to an average of $678 per baby, including gifts, medical and hospital insurance, what the expectant mother buys—or makes.

Thus, for example, an even seven-pounder (babies usually weigh in at first in fractions) would be worth almost $97 a pound.

Miss Archbold turned to current mail order catalogue prices to figure the dollar value of infant goods and furnishings, plus mama's maternity outfits. She also counted up the usual gifts, borrowed cribs and things the expectant parents—frequently, a mother-to-be who knits—make at home.

The average dollar outlay per boy, she found, broke down to: $79 purchased; $133 gifts; $31 borrowed; $12 home-produced.

On that basis, a girl costs a little less, or about $235. Miss Archbold said she can't explain why.

Miss Archbold also reported finding:

Younger and less well educated families have larger baby-care inventories.

Younger parents received more gifts.

Student families bought less but made more baby things.

Toys led the special gifts received by babies, she said, but there were exceptions.

In her research, Miss Archbold found one infant — or new mother—who enjoyed a gift of the services of a practical nurse for two weeks.

There also was a baby who received a heifer from his grandparents.

"My father's hobby is farming," he baby's mother told Miss Archbold. "Every time he learns of an addition to the family-to-be he selects one of his choice calves and fattens same."

The mother said that the parents can either leave the animal on the farm for the child or have it sent to market.

"We chose the market and the baby received a check for the amount it brought," she said. "However, all is not lost when the money is spent. When the baby is 5 years old he, personally, will receive a heifer from grandpa."

Birds Can't Smell Well? Untrue, Says Biologist

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI) — Scientist Betsy Garrett Bang has been having some very close looks into the noses of birds and she can't understand why science keeps on insisting birds have little if any sense of smell.

A whole host of amateur birds students who are not scientific but have eyes in their heads will go along with that. Farmers have always insisted crows smell out newly seeded corn fields. Gardeners often figure the nose attracts jays to freshly seeded lawns in such large numbers.

It's true most birds have no exterior noses, certainly none to speak of. Miss Garrett went into the interior noses of turkey vultures, oil birds and black-footed albatrosses with dissecting knives and under the dissecting microscope and was astonished by what she found.

This was because she didn't have the bird sense of smell in mind at first. She is a biologist at John Hopkins University, Baltimore, engaged in disease defense research and was looking for chemical defenses in bird nasal tissues against lung disease.

But she kept thinking of what she had read in the scientific literature that birds were poor smellers. These were very fine noses, indeed, rich in sensitive tissue, and well equipped with nerve ends which presumably were capable of conveying the meanings of chemical reactions — which are the basis of the sense of smell — from noses to bird brains.

She looked up what well-trained observers have observed about these three kinds of birds, and discovered they were agreed that all three not only could smell but could smell so well they lived by their noses.

Turkey vultures had been observed many times in the brightening dawn soaring high on air currents. As the warming earth sent heat waves upward, the smell of prey (which for vultures is carrion) reached their nostrils. Or at least it seemed that way because the birds dove in a bee-line for the prey as though guided by their noses.

The oil bird is a nocturnal bird of Trinidad. Like the bat, it depends upon its sense of hearing to get about in the dark. But its observers have been convinced its sense of smell is indispensable, particularly to lead it to the ripening fruits upon which it lives.

One observer experimented with albatrosses from the fantail of a ship. He dumped paint scum overboard and not one of the circling birds showed any interest. He dumped hot bacon fat overboard and down swooped the birds. This observer certainly thought they had smelled the bacon.

Science at best is contradictory, she said. Anatomical scientists have pointed out before that some species have good noses so far as equipment goes. But psychologists in seeking to prove experimentally either that birds can smell or can't smell, ignored the anatomists.

They used birds whom the anatomists know were "feebly equipped" in noses, such as pigeons, she said. And this has kept the canard alive in text books that birds generally aren't nose-wise.

Scores Wanted In Music Contest

Musical scores are now being accepted by the San Francisco Conservatory of Music in the second annual ASCAP Award for Composition contest.

The composition is conducted in memory of the late composer-conductor Ernest Bloch, father of Mrs. Lucienne Bloch Dimitroff, Mill Valley artist and business woman.

Applicants must be 25 years of age or younger and must reside in one of the 13 western states. Deadline for the submission for scores for judging is May 1.

The scholarship at stake, made possible by the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, entitles the winner to a year of composition study at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music.

N. Bay Span Notes 10 Millionth Toll

More than 10 million passenger vehicles have crossed the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge since its opening four years ago, reports bridge engineer Howard C. Wood.

There were 10,805,707 passenger vehicles, 1,579,102 trucks and 11,106 buses that used the span since Sept. 1, 1956, Wood said.

Weather Man Tells Trials Of His Trade

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Figuring California's weather often is like trying to identify the murderer in a who-done-it with the last 100 pages missing.

William Denney, a U. S. Weather Bureau district forecaster here, said the single most important factor in anticipating winter deluges, spring frosts and summer fire conditions is the Pacific high.

The high pressure system usually is located about 1,000 miles off the West Coast. Because of its strength and intensity, the pressure system's movements can determine whether sports shirts or rain coats or overcoats will be the dress of the day.

But information on the system comes to the forecasters indirectly and incompletely.

Reports on offshore conditions come from Navy radar picket ships, Air Force jets, moving vessels and shore radar. Forecasters take the sometimes conflicting, often inadequate information and combine it with one part experience, one part instinct and one part guesswork to make their predictions.

Forecasters need fairly detailed information on Pacific storms to predict how fast they will move and whether they will lose their punch against the coastal mountains or continue inland.

"Much of this information is critical at certain times of year," Denney said. "We have a special section here dealing with fire weather during the summer and fall. Besides watching over-all fire conditions like humidity and the temperature, we look for thunderstorms in the Sierra which account for a large number of forest fires reported in the state."

Other special sections watch the movement of the Pacific weather conditions to warn farmers of spring and fall frosts or to alert disaster agencies when floods threaten.

Denney indicated that sometimes when cloudbursts hit on the days when fair skies have been forecast, it is due to a lack of knowledge within the science of meteorology itself.

But he adds that the sometimes wandering, sometimes mysterious Pacific high is the real cause of many forecasting misfires and rained out picnics.

Musical Revue Canceled For Yule

Because of the Christmas holidays, there will be no performances of the musical revue, "Whoops!", at the Gate Playhouse in Sausalito this weekend.

The final performance of the children's play, "Pinocchio," is scheduled for Saturday at 2:30 p.m., however.

Performances of "Whoops!" will resume Dec. 30, and there will be a New Year's Eve performance. Sunday evening presentations have been discontinued, however, and the revue will be seen on Friday and Saturday nights only starting at 8:30.

The next children's theater attraction at the Gate, "Hansel and Gretel," will open Jan. 7 at 2:30 p.m.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

Wives Seeking $1 Million For Lost AF Husbands

The wives of two Marin airmen who disappeared on a secret polar flight last year are suing the Stanford Research Institute and the Mystrom Aviation Co. for one million dollars.

The suit was filed by Mrs. Burass Smith of 834 Meadowsweet Drive, Corte Madera, and Mrs. Philip Gray of 990 Redwood Highway, Mill Valley.

They state that their husbands communicated with the home offices regularly about trouble with their plane and were denied permission to have the engine changed before continuing.

Waste Treament Plant To Be Shut

The waste treatment plant which serves the Crest Marin area in Mill Valley will be closed for repairs this week, the Marin County Health Department announced today.

William L. Desmond, director of sanitation, said that homeowners will not be affected at all. While the pumps are being repaired, raw waste will be flowing out of the outfall line into Richardson Bay.

MARIN BUSINESS And INDUSTRY

(A Thrice-Weekly Column)

By HARRY CRAFT

Harvard Student Investigating Bay Job Possibilities For Classmates

John Sevier, son of Randolph Sevier, president of Matson Navigation Co., returned home from Harvard for the holiday season, but in making the trip he was also the special emissary of 36 members of the 1961 graduating class of the Harvard School of Business to investigate employment opportunities in the Bay Area.

Sevier will contact civic organizations, clubs, banks and businessmen and distribute resumes of the 35 men and one woman looking for jobs. Most members of the group then plan to visit here during April and June to be interviewed by companies that have indicated possible interest.

The procedure is part of the small business program started two years ago by Harvard students wishing to work in specific areas for companies not large enough to do their own recruiting in Boston.

Sevier was graduated from Stanford University in 1956 and received his master of science degree in petroleum engineering the following year. He will complete his business administration work at Harvard in June.

PERHAPS SOME of these young people will eventually settle in Marin County. The market for Marin homes is a wide one and includes many employees and businessmen transferred to the Bay Area—but they often like to line up a place to live before they move.

Marin realty dealer Don Geddes, with offices throughout the county, realized this about 18 months ago and took out a franchise with the Arms Institute of St. Louis for personalized brochures on many of his choice listings which are distributed to other Arms agents throughout the country. The organization works in close contact with North American Van Lines in a joint "house hunting" program.

Geddes, who has an exclusive franchise for the service here, admits that the service is a costly one to his office but has turned up results which justify the expense.

AND SPEAKING OF MOVING, one more link in an increasing trend toward unifying common interests between Marin and Sonoma Counties seems to have appeared in the formation of a new association among moving firms of the two areas.

Tentatively known as the North Bay Movers Assn., it held an organizational dinner at Bermuda Palms last week attended by more than a score of moving men from the two counties, eight transportation officers from Hamilton Air Force Base and president W. F. Goines Jr. of the California Moving and Storage Assn.

Under new directives confining moving services for Hamilton Field personnel to carriers with authorized agents in Marin and Sonoma, local movers have been receiving a greater share of this business since Dec. 1.

Next meeting of the association is scheduled for Jan. 13 at Cloud 5 in Novato, at which time officers will be nominated. Some thought is being given to an affiliation with the California Moving and Storage Assn.

A DINNER at San Francisco's Palace Hotel last Wednesday night sponsored by the Bay Cities Savings and Loan League for its Bay Area members and other saving and loan executives between the Tehachipis and the Oregon border was well attended by representatives from Marin.

Sen. Clair Engle, guest speaker, spoke on the responsibility of lending institutions during the 1960s. He said the savings and loan industry packs the largest single wallop in mortgage financing in the country and should provide leadership in bringing more research and development to the housing field.

SCOUTS GET OWN CALENDARS

Cub Scouts Lennie Freeman and Jim Underhill unpack Boy Scout calendars, while Boy Scout Jim Underhill tacks one on wall of Scout Hall. The calendars are sponsored by Northwestern Savings and Loan Assn., which has sponsored them in Marin each year for 22 years. There's one for every scout.

Attending from Marin County were Judge and Mrs. Jordan L. Martinelli, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Enemark, John Ryan, Mrs. Lila Haberman, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Dearth, Dr. and Mrs. Earle M. Young, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene A. Ostaggi and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Craemer.

At Fresno College

Bianchis Feturn From Mexico Tour

Mr. and Mrs. Al Bianchi of Pt. Reyes were among 170 California Farm Bureau members and their wives who returned last week from a two-weeks goodwill tour through Mexico followed by a week at the American Farm Bureau convention in Denver.

The goodwill visit, which was made by special train, centered around the areas of Monterrey, Saltillo, Mexico City and Torreon and marked the fifth and largest such exchange between Mexico's agricultural people and members of the California federation.

The Californians took with them fourteen seedling Monterey pine trees which were ceremoniously planted at each stop to commemorate friendship between California and Mexican agricultural people.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Losing On Market Sell Now, Cut Levy

By PETER J. WIKEL, CPA

Do you have stock market losses? If so, then consider selling the stocks now and using the loss to reduce your tax.

Warning! Do not purchase like or similar stock within 30 days before or 30 days after the sale. If you do, the loss is not allowable.

Peter J. Wikel

Here is how to figure capital gains and losses. If you have held the asset for more than six months the gain or loss is "long term" and if you have held the asset six months or less the gain or loss is "short term."

Short term gains are taxed as ordinary income but only 50 per cent of long term gains are taxed. Also, if your taxable income is more than $18,000 for a single person or $36,000 for a married couple you should use the alternative tax computation for capital gains and pay only 25 per cent of the total amount of your long term capital gains as tax.

You add all your long term gains and deduct all your long term losses.

Then add all your short term gains and deduct all your short term losses.

If you have a long term gain and a short term gain you compute the tax on each separately.

If you have long term gains and short term losses you deduct the short term losses from the long term gains and compute the tax on the remainder as long term gains.

If you have long term losses and short term gains, you deduct the long term losses from the short term gains and include the remainder as ordinary income.

If you have more losses than gains, or only losses, then you can use the loss to offset ordinary income up to $1,000.

Capital losses, either long or short term, are deductible in full from capital gains. They are deductible up to $1,000 from ordinary income in any one year. If your loss amounts to more than $1,000 it can be carried over and treated as a short term capital loss in succeeding years. You can deduct $1,000 each year for the next five years. If your loss amounts to that much.

Your loss can be deducted in full from capital gains in any year that you have capital gains.
